San Francisco, Cal., May 10—Deadlocked for the time being, at least, on the Monroe Doctrine and American control of the Pacific islands wrested from the Japanese, the international conference to abolish war inched ahead today toward the creation of a new league of nations.

The big four—the United States, Great Britain, China, and Russia—accepted a British amendment broadening the power of the peace league's security council to settle international disputes.

Under this amendment the security council would be empowered actually to recommend the terms of settlement. This represents an advance over the Dumbarton Oaks plan which would have limited the recommendation to "procedures or methods of adjustment."

Mixup in Signals

In connection with the announcement of the acceptance of this amendment there was a mixup in international signals which caused great confusion in the Big Four back field.

British Foreign Secretary Eden at a conference with nearly 1,000 newspaper men said the amendment would operate to relax the power of any one of the Big Five [the Big Four plus France] to veto recommendations of settlement.

The British correspondents rushed off to file stories of this great British accomplishment while the others trooped over to a press conference at which Comdr. Stassen, member of the American delegation, said the veto power under the Yalta formula was not affected. Informed that his interpretation was at variance with Eden's, Stassen exhibited alarm, said he would have to study Eden's remarks and emphasized that he was not to be quoted as contradicting the British foreign minister.

Eden Is Corrected

A few hours later the British press relations office, sustaining Stassen, corrected Eden, saying that any "great power which is not a party to a dispute may, if it so desires, prevent the security council from taking any action under this section, including the making of recommendations."

Eden, who leaves for London in a day or two, said the Polish question "lies heavily on my mind." The Russian arrest of 16 Polish leaders has stopped work at this conference on the Polish issue, he remarked, and the next steps must be taken thru the government at London.

"Most of those arrested were just the type we thought should be consulted about the new national government and were truly representative of the Polish political life in accord with the Crimean decisions," he added.

The Pacific islands the United States wants to control as naval bases are involved in the deadlock between the Americans and the British over the league trusteeships in which it is proposed to place territories taken from the enemy. The Americans want strategic areas placed under the security council. The British would make no distinc-

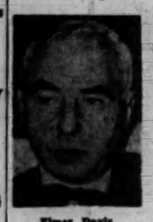
Allies to Ban U.S. Papers from Reich

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., May 10—Members of congress tonight denounced an announced program of allied military command and the office of war information to ban all American newspapers, magazines, books, films and business enterprises from Germany while the OWI takes over the job there of printing newspapers supplied only with its own news and propaganda.



Elmer Davis

Elmer Davis, head of the OWI, told reporters Germans might get "too much of an impression of divided policies" if they had access to uncensored news from the United States. He said no one could say how long the OWI and its kindred British organization will ban uncensored information from Germany, but added that "undoubtedly this situation will be relaxed some time."

Davis told reporters the decision to deny Germany access to uncensored information doesn't mean "that we are opposed to a free press."

"Sick Man," Davis Says

"Germany is a sick man," he said. "Right now he can have only what the doctors prescribe. Later on he will have a more ample diet."

The "doctors" in addition to OWI are the psychological warfare command at SHAEF, the office of strategic services, the British foreign office, and the state department. Davis said he understood the Russians have made a "similar decision" to restrict Germany's news sources, and eventually a central staff composed of American, Russian, British, and French representatives will supervise the various news and propaganda staffs in Germany.

OWI to Operate Papers

Davis said the allied nations will not permit the Germans to operate any medium of information. This prohibition covers newspapers, magazines, motion pictures, radio, and all publishing houses.

OWI will publish seven newspapers at first, he said, and eventually will add 13 more. This venture will cost 4 or 5 million dollars a year, he said, and employ about 1,000 Americans on a combined military-OWI staff. About three-fourths of the staff will be military, he said.

Davis said American occupation troops, however, will be permitted to subscribe to their home town American papers and American magazines.

The reaction to the program in congress was quick and critical.

Called Nazi Technique.

"Why this is the very thing we have been fighting to destroy," said Rep. Short [R., Mo.]. "This is applying Hitler's own methods to Germany. Hitler built his power on one man rule and government propaganda and now we propose to give the Germans more propaganda. The Germans would learn more about democracy if they were allowed to have a free and untrammeled press. This OWI-army scheme drags us down to the Nazi level."

Sen. Taft [R., O.] thought the entire plan sounded "silly, unnecessary and foolish."

"I'm in favor of taking such controls as this off, now that the war is over," he said. "It certainly doesn't contribute to a free press."

Sees Benefit in Freedom

Rep. Shafer [R., Mich.] asserted that Hitler rose to power by propagandizing the German people and controling the press and said it was wrong to give the Germans only one side of the news.

"Probably the administration doesn't want the Germans to learn some of the feeling in this country toward Russia," he said. "Perhaps this idea originated with the Russians. We expect Germany eventually to coöperate with other nations, and her people will learn to coöperate much more quickly if they are given free access to information from democratic countries instead of government propaganda."

DIRGE OF DEUTSCHLAND

Stand in line... Stand in line...
All our lives we stand in line!
When we were younger but no wiser
We stood in line to Hoch der Kaiser;
And when the Fuehrer came along,
"Stand in line" was still our song.
We've stood in line for sawdust bread,
And for our turn to go to bed;
We've stood in line, file after file,
To chant "Horst Wessel" and "Sieg Heil!"
We've stood in line to hear bad news
And buy our paper pants and shoes:
We've stood in line to die or dine
Or sing about Die Wacht am Rhein.
And now before our foes (barbarians)
Still we stand, Totalit-Aryans,
Ragged, hungry, and foot-tender,
Patient, waiting—in surrender!

Says He Beat Friend to Get Car for Prom

Prompted by his parents, who wept as they begged him to tell the truth, William O'Brien, 16, Mount Carmel High school honor student and athlete, last night unemotionally told police how he had beaten one of his father's friends with a monkey wrench in an attempt to steal the friend's automobile.

O'Brien was arrested in a Y. M. C. A. in St. Louis, Mo., yesterday by Chief of Police Joseph B. Dineen of Flossmoor, and brought back to Flossmoor to face charges of assault signed by Horace P. Ramey, 60, a sanitary district engineer. When O'Brien's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James W. O'Brien, Clyde av. and Dundee rd., Homewood, asked him why he had beaten Ramey, the boy replied that he needed the automobile to take some friends to his school prom on May 19.

Another Victim Chosen First

He also told them that several weeks ago he planned to attack M. J. Schiavoni, Bruce av., Flossmoor, another friend, but gave up the idea because he decided the Schiavoni automobile would not be large enough to accommodate the party he planned to take to the prom.

The attack on Ramey was committed May 1 in Ramey's home at 2149 Evans rd., Flossmoor. O'Brien called there about 10:30 p. m. and asked if some one would drive him home. The Rameys and his family had been friends more than a year, and Mrs. Ramey agreed.

While they were walking to the garage, young O'Brien told Mrs. Ramey he wanted to return to the house for a moment to show a trick to her husband. Back in the house O'Brien got Ramey to accompany him to the basement to see the trick.

Four Blows on Head

The trick, he explained, required him to blindfold Ramey. After Ramey's eyes were covered, O'Brien slugged him four times on the head with a monkey wrench. Ramey warded off the next blow and it fell on his arm and hand and cut his right index finger.

Staggering, Ramey tore off the blindfold and asked O'Brien why he was striking him. The boy said: "I don't know what I'm doing. I don't want to hurt you."

Later O'Brien rode with Ramey and his wife to a physician's office then vanished.

O'Brien said last night he did not intend to "hurt" Ramey, but wanted only to "knock him out so I could steal the car." He denied that he planned to harm Mrs. Ramey.

Young O'Brien said he planned to leave home and live in the Y. M. C. A. hotel in Chicago after getting possession of Ramey's car.

After leaving the Rameys at the physician's office, O'Brien hid the wrench and a seven inch bayonet in shrubbery near the Illinois Central station in Homewood. He denied that he had contemplated using the dagger.

Chief Dineen said O'Brien would be given over to custody of juvenile home officials and would be submitted to a psychiatric examination.

REPORT FRENCH WILL DEMAND EQUALITY IN GERMAN REPARATIONS

PARIS, May 10 (AP)—Authoritative informants said today the French government would insist on priority rights equal to those of any other nation in the allocation of German reparations.

They noted an assertion by a Russian writer that the soviet union, being the "most damaged country in Europe," must receive reparations before all others. While not contesting the damage statement, the informants said that the French would demand equal priority if their own program conflicts with soviet requirements.

The government has demanded a million German prisoners to assist in reconstruction. France wants control of the Saar coal mines, and a foreign affairs commission recently recommended that the government ask for German labor to work them.

In addition, the French favor international control of the Ruhr.

Guns Useless, Flyer Rams a Jap 3 Times

OKINAWA, May 10 (AP)—U. S. Marine Lt. Robert R. Klingman, of Binger, Okla., deliberately rammed his Corsair fighting plane into the rear of a Japanese fighter three times today to send it spinning to destruction.

The daring action, at 45,000 feet altitude, was acclaimed by Brig. Gen. William Wallace, commander of the Okinawa based fighter command, as "one of the most remarkable achievements of the war."

Klingman then glided back most of the way to Okinawa. He had dumped his reserve gasoline in order to reach the Japanese plane at the great altitude. His guns had jammed.

Pilot Sees Collision

Another Corsair pilot, Capt. Kenneth L. Reusser, 25, of Portland, Ore., flew alongside the Japanese plane, his ammunition exhausted, and watched the kill.

Reusser said: "Our formation of Corsairs was at 10,000 feet when we saw vapor trails where a Jap reconnaissance plane was leisurely photographing Okinawa, probably in preparation for another raid tonight. It was a 'nick' — their newest and swiftest two engine fighter.

"We were making over 400 miles an hour at an altitude of about 45,000. We chased him 125 or 150 miles.

"I fired all my wing ammunition into space in order to gain speed and finally closed. I set his engine afire and shot up his wing with the rest of my ammunition.

"Then Klingman, whose guns had frozen, closed and told me over the radio he didn't think he had gas enough to get back to Okinawa, anyway. He said: 'We can't let that Jap get away after that long chase. I'm going to hit him with my plane.'

Knocks off Jap's Tail

"When Klingman made his first pass," Reusser said, "I held close in, almost against the Nick's wingtip—not more than 25 feet away. The rear gunner gesticulated wildly and hammered his guns with his fists.

"Klingman knocked a couple of feet off the Nick's tail.

"Bob made another pass, knocking the Jap rudder off. That rear gunner was having a fit.

"On the third pass, Bob chewed the rest of the tail off, chopping the horizontal stabilizer and elevator away completely. He chopped his propeller clear into the Jap cockpit.

"The Nick spun downward about 15,000 feet; then went straight down."

Klingman said there was considerable jar each time he rammed the Japanese plane. And each time, he added, he had to run the gantlet of flying parts from both his and the enemy fighter.

YANKS WITH 85 POINTS ELIGIBLE FOR DISCHARGE

Army Gives Rating Plan for GIs

BY JOSEPH HEARST
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., May 10—Soldiers who have fought thru the campaigns of North Africa, Europe, and the Pacific are first in line for discharge from the army under a demobilization program announced today. The system sets up a schedule of point credits for length of service, overseas duty, battles, decorations, and parenthood, and is so arranged that army officials say men with 85 points now are eligible for immediate discharge. Navy personnel are not affected.

The method of computing eligibility for discharge, which is expected to govern the release of about 2 million men in the next 12 months, and the number of points given each factor are:

1—For each month of army service since Sept. 16, 1940 [any 15 days or more to count as a month], 1 point.

12 Points for Each Child

2—For each month overseas since Sept. 16, 1940 [overseas being defined as service in any area outside the continental limits of the United States], 1 point.

3—For each army award for combat, such as the distinguished service cross, Purple Heart, battle participation stars, similar awards by the navy or foreign countries, 5 points.

4—For each child under 18, up to limit of three children, 12 points.

Service Men's Idea

The war department, in announcing the program, said heaviest emphasis is placed on long overseas service, combat action, and parenthood. It said under the plan 98 out of every 100 men discharged will be overseas veterans. The other 2 per cent will be fathers who have been in the army a long time, but have not been overseas.

The army says the point system is based on the service men's own ideas as expressed by 90 per cent of the thousands of men polled on the question.

"Troops in all parts of the world were interviewed, and, by overwhelming vote, expressed the belief that men with extended and arduous service overseas and fathers should receive preferential consideration," War Secretary Stimson said. "Their feeling that the men who have served longest have fought hardest and who have children are the ones who should leave the army is the touchstone of our program."

Must Await Shipping

Under the plan, soldiers can figure out just what their ratings will be. However, they still must wait until shipping is provided for their return to the United States from Europe or the Pacific. Discharge ratings will not necessarily determine shipping priority.

The theater commanders will decide which men will come back to the United States first, Maj. Gen. William F. Tompkins, director of the special planning division of the war department special staff, told reporters at a press conference when the plan was disclosed.

He said the commanders had been asked to send home first the men with the longest and most arduous service, but he emphasized that those returning first would not necessarily be those with the highest rating scores. Also some men with the required points may be retained because the army needs their special skills and no replacement is immediately available.

Officers' Points Secondary

In the case of enlisted men who are retained because they are deemed necessary it was emphasized that "military necessity" does not mean "military convenience." The decision of a company or unit commander to retain a man will be subject to higher review. However, in the case of officers, the rating score will be secondary to needs of the army and even those officers de-

Service Force Moved from Soviet Theater

Washington, D. C., May 10 (AP)—A big shift of American service troops and transport to China was disclosed today 24 hours after the army revealed it expects to unload supplies on the China coast.

The latest development was a war department report that service troops, in a huge truck convoy, already have been moved to China from the Persian gulf area where they helped supply the soviet army.

Gen. Somervell injected a reference to China into news conference discussion yesterday of problems confronting the service forces which he commands, in getting equipment into the Pacific theater.

Facilities Limited

Unlike the European theater when there were excellent docks and sufficient man power in Britain to handle the supplies, he said facilities and qualified men are extremely limited in the orient.

"Altho some help is available in the Philippines and can be expected along the coast of China, soldiers will have to be used to handle the large proportion of the thousands of tons of cargo unloaded daily," he said.

Significantly, Somervell also observed that more bases must be obtained to carry the air war to Japan. They must be large enough, he emphasized, so that "our numerical strength can be deployed."

Two Schools of Thought

Taken jointly, the two Chinese developments served to point up divergencies of thought on general strategy against Japan, rather than to indicate what particular strategy the army has chosen.

One school holds that the bulk of Japan's 4,000,000 man army is in China and Manchuria, and constitutes the primary target. That theory calls for invasion of China from the sea, and its supporters argue that bases in China would help speed the eventual invasion of the enemy homeland.

The other school favors a direct thrust into the Japanese islands, contending the destruction of Japanese industry and occupation of the islands would mean the end of Japan. Its supporters argue that a reënforced Chinese army could clear the Japanese off the mainland.

Shift in Record Time

The shift of service troops and trucks could fit either idea, since forces working from the interior might seize a coastal area for sea landings.

The convoy, commanded by Col. Paul R. Guthrie of Denver, Colo., made the 6,000 mile journey from the Persian desert to Kunming, China, in what was called "record time."

The convoy traveled by sea, rail, and highway. The first leg of the journey from the Persian desert to Calcutta, India, was made aboard ship. From Calcutta the convoy was carried on railroad cars to the Ledo terminus of the Stilwell highway. From there it rolled under its own power over the highway to Kunming. Every vehicle arrived intact.

The movement, it was revealed, was planned long in advance—even before the Japs were driven from north Burma and before the Stilwell road was opened.

The dates for the journey and the time it required were not given. The force already is at work transferring munitions and supplies to Chinese forces.

COPENHAGEN HAS PLENTY OF FOOD, STEAKS AND ALL

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, May 10 (AP)—This liberated capital of Denmark has steaks and poultry, eggs and ice cream, strawberries, and mouth-watering pastries. It has fashionable clothes aplenty, cosmetics, and transportation. It has everything in fact, except tea, coffee, cigarets, and a black market.

No black market in food ever has existed because food reductions in this country were considerably lighter than in other occupied countries. Authorities say this was because Germany expected to make Denmark a final bastion of resistance and stored food here instead of removing it.

Rationing similar to the American system prevents hoarding, but does not seriously reduce the food allotment.

3 RED ARMIES LAUNCH CZECH CLEANUP DRIVE

Nazi Leader Defies Surrender Terms

LONDON, May 11 [Friday]—(AP)—Three Russian army groups launched offensives in Czechoslovakia yesterday after fanatical Nazi troops refused to accept Germany's unconditional surrender. The Russians slashed out 57 mile gains and threatened to trap thousands of enemy soldiers in a giant pocket.

More than 48 hours after the official end of all hostilities in Europe, the soviet high command announced that the 1st, 2d, and 4th Ukrainian armies had "gone over to the attack" after German forces under Field Marshal Ferdinand Schoerner and Col. Gen. Woehler disregarded the surrender terms and fought on.

Czechoslovak President Eduard Benes had returned to the freed capital of Prague and the total liberation of all Czechoslovakia, early victims of Hitler's conquests, appeared near.

Nazi U-Boats Surrendering

Elsewhere in Europe, the Germans were giving up to the British and Americans. The remnants of Germany's surface and underwater fleets were surrendering. Dunkerque—scene of the war's greatest allied defeat—was freed.

In most former battle areas of the eastern front, the Germans appeared to be surrendering to the Red army. Moscow announced the capture of 209,060 German officers and men, including 26 generals, in preliminary checkups.

In Czechoslovakia, one German group threatened with encirclement by the 1st Ukrainian army had begun to surrender. Another force was fleeing southwest thru a 42 mile escape gap—presumably in hope of surrendering to the American 3d army. But the Russians rapidly were closing this gap between Prague and Caslav, 42 miles to the east.

Keep a Corridor Open

Many thousand enemy troops faced entrapment in a 4,056 square mile pocket north, northeast, and east of Prague. South of the city the Germans kept open a corridor to American lines.

Schoerner, wanted by the Russians as a war criminal, appeared to be personally responsible for the continued resistance. The three Russian armies were pressing into Bohemia from the northwest, east, and southeast.

In Austria, 3d Ukrainian army mop-up squads linked up with British 8th army troops west of Graz.

In the Danzig area, the 2d and 3d White Russian armies took 55,200 Nazi troops prisoner, including the commander of the 2d German army. The Hel peninsula and the Putziger Nehrung sandspit northwest of Danzig also were occupied.

Land on Danish Island

Some 1,500 Russian soldiers landed on the Danish island of Bornholm, off the southern tip of Sweden and east of the dividing line between the British and Russian zones of German occupation. It was announced that the Red troops would coöperate with Danish authorities. Approximately 20,000 Germans on Bornholm will be removed to Germany.

The remnants of the German surface fleet, including the 10,000 ton cruisers Prinz Eugen and Nuernberg, which had shelled the Danish capital of Copenhagen over the week-end, came under the guns of the British navy in Copenhagen harbor. There also were two large destroyers, one small destroyer, two torpedo boats, 10 minesweepers, 13 anti-aircraft ships, 19 armed trawlers, and 2 armed merchant ships.

The French press agency reported that French sailors in the large port of La Rochelle, which surrendered on Wednesday, had taken over possession of the German Atlantic fleet that had been anchored in the harbor. These ships were said to have been placed at France's disposal, but it was not announced how many vessels had been seized.

YANKS WITH 85 POINTS ELIGIBLE FOR DISCHARGES

Army Gives Rating Plan for GI Releases

cleared surplus overseas may still be kept on duty by commanders of the army ground, air, or service forces.

Some dischargees will start going home to civilian life next week, Gen. Tompkins said, but the army doesn't know how many will be released in the next month or so. Men who have come home under the rotation plan, and therefore have long overseas records, probably will be discharged immediately if they report to the separation depots at the 22 reception camps that have been established to handle returning veterans, the war department said.

Rate Will Increase

The rate of discharge will increase as troops are returned from Europe and probably will reach its peak in August or September when the men will be coming home at the rate of about 400,000 a month.

Within about six weeks, the army expects to establish a critical score for the army ground and service forces; another for the air force and a third for the WACS. These probably will be lower than the interim score, according to Gen. Tompkins.

Because the air and service forces will be kept at relatively greater strength than the ground forces for the war against Japan, the initial rate of release will be larger for ground troops than for men of the other two services. However, Tompkins said, transfer of some low-score men from the ground forces and the addition of new trainees will eventually bring about a proportionate release from all three forces.

Must Have Been Overseas

The critical scores will be adjusted downward periodically as the war against Japan progresses and the army gets in a position to release more men, he said.

Gen. Tompkins said an army survey showed that all but 2 per cent of those to be discharged will have served overseas.

"The significance of this figure becomes clearer when you consider that 68 men out of every 100 now in the army have served overseas, whereas 98 out of every 100 to be returned to civilian life will be overseas veterans," he said. "Men with combat experience make up a little over one-third of the army, but they constitute nearly two-thirds of the number to be released.

26 Per Cent Will Be Fathers

"Fathers represent 19 per cent of the army and 26 per cent of the group returning to civilian life. Since we didn't begin drafting fathers until the war was well advanced, it is apparent that our system is operating heavily in their favor."

The program will not affect the discharge of men over 42 years of age, who, upon application, will be discharged without regard to other factors. Holders of the congressional medal of honor also are eligible for discharge upon request, and married WACs will be released on their request if their husbands have been separated from the service. Enlisted men who desire to remain in service and who have a satisfactory record will be retained.

German Schools Stay Shut Until Allies Revise Texts

LONDON, May 10 [Reuters]—The allied military government declared today that all German schools will remain closed until a commission of American, English, and Russian professors has written new textbooks, radio Luxemburg said tonight. AMG officials added that the new books will be prepared as quickly as possible since extirpation of Nazi teachings and reeducation of German youth is one of the most important problems of the post-war period.

FRENCH DEMAND STOLEN TRAINS BE TURNED BACK

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

PARIS, May 10—Among post-war measures discussed by government officials today was compensation in kind for badly needed rolling stock and motor vehicles taken out of the country by the Germans.

Authorities insisted on the urgent need of easing food transport difficulties by obtaining a portion of Germany's rolling stock. It is estimated the Nazis took French railroad material and commercial autos totaling 75 billion francs [1½ billion dollars]. Included are nearly 5,000 locomotives, 15,700 passenger coaches, and 307,000 freight cars. In addition in the period between April and November, 1944, alone the Germans made away with 80,000 motor trucks and 6,000 buses.

The French demand this serious drain on transport be made good with German equipment until the time when the reich will be able to replace it with new rolling stock and road vehicles.

YANKS IN EUROPE BEING SCREENED FOR NEXT MOVE

PARIS, May 10 (AP)—Supreme headquarters announced today that machinery had been set up to classify all American units for redeployment in Europe, to the Pacific war zone or home.

Affecting almost 4,000,000 soldiers in this theater, it provides for classification as follows:

1. Units to remain in Europe.

2. Units to be redeployed in active theaters directly from here or indirectly thru the United States. [A majority of the American combat troops sent to the Pacific will be routed thru the United States while the greater part of the supply forces will be sent "directly from this theater."]

3. Units to be broken up, partly to remain here and partly to be redeployed.

4. Units to be returned to the United States for inactivation.

Shipments Begin Soon

Adjusted service rating forms will be issued tomorrow and the next 45 days will be taken up in scoring personnel to determine who shall be released.

To some extent redeployment will be governed by a scoring system, including length of service overseas, combat awards, decorations, and parenthood.

In general, this scoring will be applied by units, with those with the lowest score going to the Pacific and those with the highest score—the longest combat record—going home for discharge or reassignment.

Screening in U. S., Too

There will be special cases where men, whose individual rating definitely differs from their unit average, will be shifted to other units.

Troops going home, in the fourth category, will have a low priority for shipping space and while waiting for rides will be employed in such tasks as packing and loading supplies for the Pacific forces.

After they arrive home, they will go thru a final screening and then will be discharged or assigned to other duties.

The shipment of soldiers home for release will begin soon, the announcement said, but "it will only be on a small scale because of limited transportation facilities available."

Sick Get First Ships

The announcement said efforts were being made to transfer such soldiers from "units now being alerted for shipment to the Pacific."

Within two months, all battle casualties whose stay in hospitals is expected to exceed 60 days will be evacuated to medical establishments in the United States, the chief surgeon's office announced.

Priority of shipping space will go first to sick and wounded, second to liberated prisoners of war, third to units to be redeployed in other active theaters, and finally to personnel to be returned for discharge, Maj. Gen. Frank S. Ross, transportation chief, said.

Service and some combat troops needed in China, Burma, India, and the southwest and central Pacific theaters will leave Europe first, Ross said. Of the 4,000,000 troops in Europe, most of the combat troops will go by way of America while most supply forces will go direct.

Plan Jungle Training

Units scheduled for action in the Pacific will be sent home in a body before the next battle. They will be trained in jungle fighting and other techniques peculiar to war against the Japanese.

However, not all units scheduled for Pacific duty will see home first. A majority of the combat troops will be routed thru the United States, but most of the supply forces will go direct from Europe.

From here the troops will pass into a training stage, next an assembly area, then a staging area and go from here either straight into the Pacific or to the Pacific by way of America and a short trip home.

Furloughs in Europe

Troops who are chosen to occupy Germany will be enrolled in education programs, the instructions say.

"Short passes will be issued for use inside Germany as soon as recreational facilities there become available," said the pamphlet. "Because of the nonfraternization policy, furloughs normally will be taken outside Germany.

"Ultimately, each man in category one probably will get a total of 30 days of furlough, plus traveling time, in the course of a year.

"Plans call for furlough facilities at famous European resorts."

Occupation troops will be sent direct to a headquarters post in Bremerhaven or Berlin, or direct to the United States military zone in southwestern Germany.

France Prepared to Fight Japanese with 30,000 Men

Washington, D. C., May 10 [Special]—France is ready to throw the weight of her power—to the extent of 30,000 men—into the fight against the Japanese, Rene Plevin, French minister of finance and national economy, disclosed here today.

He suggested that United States ships could carry raw materials and supplies to France when shipping is sent there to transport this country's vast war machine to the Pacific to oppose our common enemy.

He said France eventually would send more than the relatively small force of two divisions to the Pacific, but that her prime job now is to replace Americans so they can be sent against the Japs or come home.

Confers with Truman

Pleven, en route to Paris after attending the San Francisco conference, conferred with President Truman and assured him of France's desire to aid in the war in the Pacific. He said he hoped his offer would be "favorably considered."

Another White House caller, Sen. Thomas [D., Utah], chairman of the senate military affairs committee, said France wants to use some naval units in the Pacific fighting, but that this possibility is dependent on French Indo-China matters.

Pleven, explaining that France has two divisions ready for action and is prepared to send more to the Pacific, said in a statement:

"Our first service will be to replace as soon as possible and as many as possible of the men of your armed forces in Europe so that they may come home to you or accelerate the defeat of our enemy in the Pacific.

Thousands Volunteer

"France as well counts on making every possible contribution to that war and I can tell you now that thousands of young Frenchmen already have volunteered and are being trained to engage in the struggle against Japan.

"This is not merely to liberate France's possessions in the Pacific, but all the French people who have suffered so much from war are convinced that the security of the world is a single and indivisible cause."

He emphasized the importance of ships for transporting supplies to France in order to "put the country back to work."

Suspend Customs Duties

"This requires," he said, "that the ships which will be sent to transport your men will bring us some of the raw materials and supplies without which our will to be the authors of our own salvation would be in vain.

"In return it will take but a short time before we can ship you those goods which have made France famous thruout the world. In order to hasten the reestablishment of trade, we have suspended our customs duties."

LEFTIST REVOLT AWAITS SPARK IN NORTH ITALY

Partisans Ignore Pleas to Turn in Arms

BY P. E. BRIQUET
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

CHIASSO, Switzerland, May 10—Allied military government [AMG] authorities in northern Italy are sitting on a keg of dynamite that is ready to explode into another leftist revolt as in Greece last December. Again the question of disarming Partisan fighters is the spark that might set off the blast in this newly liberated country.

Italian Partisans refuse to disarm despite numerous appeals. Gen. Clark, American commander of the 15th army group, has asked the Milan committee of national liberation to undertake this job, but the committee has been unsuccessful. The Italian government has been trying to buy off the Partisans by offering them $1.20 for every day of service they have put in—providing they turn in their arms. The government also offered army service to all guerrilla fighters under 19 years. This is all theoretical. Actually the Partisans have kept their arms, do what they please.

Partisan Chief Shot

The Communist city officials of Tremezzo, on the west bank of Lake Como, have decreed a nonfraternization law, prohibiting the inhabitants from any contact with American and British troops.

The extremists, under the pretext of "cleansing" the country of neo-Fascists, have also shot all of their political opponents in other anti-Fascist parties.

Col. D'Alessi, Partisan chief of Valtillina province and one of the outstanding heroes of the Italian resistance movement, was shot by his political opponents in Sondrio.

300 Prisoners Executed

Communist authorities in Chiavenna, on the northeastern tip of Lake Como, had 300 neo-Fascist prisoners who were to go to the Como city prison. The Como prison building already was bulging with tenants, so the Chiavenna Reds solved the problem by shooting their 300 prisoners.

Bertolini, the self-appointed communist prefect of Como, was told to resign his post by AMG. He refused and is still holding office.

All women related to the Mussolini family have had their hair shorn, including Countess Ciano, 80 years old. The only one who escaped this ceremony was Donna Rachele, widow of Benito Mussolini, who is a prisoner of the Americans.

[Nine more provinces were handed back to the Italian government, today, Reuters reported. Approximately three-fifths of Italian territory and 24,000,000 Italians now are directly under the Italian administration. The new transfer of territory includes Grosetto, Siena, Arezzo in Tuscany; Terni, Perugia in Umbria; Ascoli, Piceno, Macerata, Ancona, and Pesaro in Marche. The port and commune of Ancona remain under allied rule.]

FROST FORECAST FOR TODAY; CITY HAS A MAY SNOW

A heavy frost for Chicago this morning with the temperature as low as 32 degrees, was predicted last night by Forecaster I. W. Brunk. The rest of the day will be good and bad, with sunshine until afternoon, and rain by late afternoon or evening. However, Forecaster Brunk said, the temperature should rise to about 57, to be followed by more agreeable normal weather over the week-end. Yesterday's high was 53.

The forecaster said Chicago has been a little cooler than surrounding areas, with more than its share of rain. During the first 10 days of May 3.64 inches of rain fell, which is more than the normal 3.50 inches for the entire month. Normal high temperature today is 66.

Early yesterday mixed rain and snow fell in Chicago, with snow in preponderance in western suburbs.

POOR RECORDS HIDE LEND-LEASE AID TO TURKEY

Experts Dig 6 Months; Still Seek Total

BY CLAY GOWRAN
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

ISTANBUL, Turkey, May 10—Two American shipping and accounting experts are completing their sixth month in Turkey on one of the most difficult inventory assignments in history. They are trying to determine how much of the $130,000,000 of lend-lease military equipment assigned to Turkey by the United States between late 1941 and early 1944 ever reached this country.

The shipments included artillery, small arms, tanks, trucks, jeeps, and ammunition — materiel granted by the global allocation authorities in Washington, D. C., during the years it was believed Turkey might be invaded and forced to fight the axis.

Discovering what has happened to the arms is the job assigned to Billy Jughma, Raleigh, N. C., and Celeste Cummings, Detroit, Mich., foreign economic administration experts.

Ships Often Diverted

Lend-lease assigned to Turkey often did not arrive. Ships were sunk. Other ships heading toward Turkey during the German steamroller drive in Africa were sidetracked when they reached Egypt and their cargoes were unloaded hurriedly for British use against the axis armies. The paper work concerned with the final disposition was sketchy.

The experts have spent six months studying the manifests of ships that arrived but have not completed their task. When they finish, they hope to be able to show what lend-lease actually arrived. Then, by checking ship manifests at Alexandria, Egypt, and other middle east ports they hope to find where the remainder went.

Poured Thru Britain

It was disclosed by observers here that from November, 1941, to the end of 1943, American lend-lease to Turkey was channeled thru Britain by order of the combined high command, which considered this primarily a British area. The United Kingdom allocation authorities included Turkish requests in the draft for the entire middle east. Each item was ear-marked for an individual country but all were presented jointly. Late in 1943 this system was abandoned and United States authorities handled Turkish requests directly thru the foreign economic administration [FEA] branch here.

"British channels were used during those years because they already existed, making speedy distribution possible," observers said. "The Americans did not want to use them but it was necessary. The change to direct aid from the United States was made when it was realized England was getting all the credit and good will in Turkey for lend-lease.

U. S. Wants Credit

"Requests and allotments were then handled directly by the United States and we posted the Turks on where the materiel was coming from. We wanted to make sure that even if we got nothing else we would at least be paid back in good will by Turkey for whatever percentage of those millions of dollars worth of equipment we lend-leased her."

Lend-lease to Turkey was discontinued in February, 1944, when the combined high command decided it no longer was necessary militarily.

8TH AIR FORCE'S BOMB TOTAL PUT AT 4,628,687

LONDON, May 10 (AP)—The United States 8th air force dropped 4,628,687 bombs on the European continent and destroyed 15,439 enemy aircraft in the air and on the ground in the air war against Germany, a final tabulation showed today.

The final blow by the 8th air force was struck on April 25 in a raid on the Skoda munitions works at Pilsen, Czechoslovakia.

'Victory' Rioters Stone Nova Scotia Police Chief

NEW WATERFORD, N. S., May 10 (AP)—Acting Chief of Police William Poirier was taken to a hospital late tonight after he was stoned by a mob of rioters estimated at 400 or 500 who resumed "victory demonstrations" and smashed windows in this mining town of 10,000. Poirier's condition was not believed serious.

ASK AUTONOMY FOR TRIESTE IN YUGOSLAV STATE

TRIESTE, Italy, May 10 [Reuters]—Gen. Dushan Kveder, commandant of Trieste and leader of the Slovene army which claims to have captured a large part of the city, told 5,000 persons celebrating the allied victory today that Yugoslavia proposes to give Trieste complete autonomy within the Yugoslav state.

Italian and Slovene would be equal official languages and local officials and governing bodies would be freely elected by the people of Trieste itself, he said.

Later Gen. Kveder told correspondents his version of the capture of Trieste. He said the Yugoslav 4th army by-passed Fiume, cutting off two divisions of Germans trying to escape northward, and succeeded in surrounding Trieste by surprise.

Took 12,000 Prisoners

The Yugoslavs entered the city and mopped up a large area, taking 12,000 prisoners and killing several thousand Germans.

New Zealand troops arrived, Kveder asserted, when two centers of resistance still remained and finished the mopping up, which might have taken the Yugoslavs several days longer.

Tho no concrete agreement has yet been reached between British-American forces and the Yugoslavs on the use of Trieste and its communications to Austria, British and Americans are working on plans for reopening the port and repairing the roads and railway.

Authorities here said the British have accepted the surrender at Gorizia of 15,000 Yugoslav Chetniks [Gen. Mihailovitch's forces], but that Mihailovitch was not among them. They were disarmed and sent back to Italy.

'Not a Yugoslav City'

LONDON, May 10 [Reuters] — Field Marshal Alexander has gone to Belgrade to discuss with Marshal Tito issues that have arisen following the occupation of Trieste by New Zealand and Yugoslav troops.

The British point of view has remained unchanged. It is that Trieste must be treated as a former enemy occupied territory and not as a liberated Yugoslav city.

Rome radio reported tonight that the Archbishops of Gorizia and Lubljana had been arrested by Marshal Tito's forces and that the bishop of Trieste, had been put under house arrest. No reason was given.

CHANNEL ISLES LIBERATED AMID LAUGHTER, TEARS

Not a Dog or Cat Left—They've Been Eaten

LONDON, May 10 (AP)—Cheering, laughing, crying people greeted the British force which liberated the Channel Islands today — islands where "there isn't a single dog or cat" because they have been eaten.

Douglas Willis, representing the combined press and radio, told of the landing at Port St. Peter on the Isle of Guernsey:

"People standing speechless with tears running down their cheeks, surrounding our little force, tearing at our clothes, embracing us, pumping our hands. They couldn't say much: 'We've waited so long for this. We're so glad you've come.'

One Parcel a Month

"Until the Red Cross began to land supplies—one parcel per head per month—a quarter of the population was starving. Many of them are little short of that now. Often there was no bread. There were no potatoes."

Charles Bernard, another correspondent, said 24 grinning British soldiers were the first liberating force to set foot on Guernsey today.

STUBBORN TO END

BY CHARLES E. BERNARD.
[Representing the combined American Press]

OFF THE CHANNEL ISLANDS, May 9 [Delayed]—(AP)—A skinny Nazi with his pants seat wet from the sea put in a last fling of German bullheadedness and delayed the surrender of the Channel Islands until 7:14 a. m. today.

Yesterday British forces, led by Brig. A. E. Snow, steamed from Plymouth to call on the Germans and take their unconditional surrender. They knew the official end of hostilities was not until 12:01 a. m. today.

Warned British Away

Aboard the destroyer Bulldog at a rendezvous spot we waited for Navy Lt. Arnim Zimmerman, the envoy sent by the German commander. He came out in a dingy, dirty minesweeper.

The British added to his undignified appearance by sending over a rubber boat to fetch him across 100 yards of sea to the destroyer.

He was perched on the edge of the two by four rubber dinghy and his seat dragged in the water.

The Nazi insisted the time agreed upon by the German high command was still hours off, and warned that the British ships must move away from the isles.

Zimmerman was told to go back to the islands after another rendezvous was arranged. The British steamed out of sight of the islanders who had seen the Nazis strut for five years. At midnight we steamed back and a German major general came aboard. He readily said: "Ja" to the surrender terms.

'Hell of a Job for an Iowa Farmer,' Says Gen. MacNider

BY DONALD STARR
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

ON THE SOUTHERN LUZON FRONT, May 10—Brig. Gen. Hanford MacNider's 158th regimental combat team is chasing remnants of the Japanese garrison in Bicol province up the steep volcanic slopes of mile high Mount Isarog in what the commander calls "a hell of a job for an Iowa farmer."

A former private, MacNider, who finished the last war as a major and served thru the '20s as a national commander of the American Legion, assistant secretary of war, and minister to Canada, is so vigorous at 55 that his statement that he is going home after Japan is defeated and sit on his front porch and "let the guys who got us in this war figure out how to keep us out of the next one," is not convincing.

MacNider was wounded by five fragments of a Japanese grenade which exploded near him while he was leading his men in New Guinea in November, 1940.

Proud of His Record

Gen. MacNider, who was mentioned as a Republican Presidential candidate in 1940 when he was a member of the America First executive committee, regards his internationalist critics of pre-war days as "the guys who got us in this war." He gets a good deal of satisfaction out of the knowledge that he is fighting the war in the field while most of them are eating their way into the lecture and banquet campaign. After 41 months of service in the Pacific, he is proud of his reputation as a GI general who gets out ahead of his advance scouts, to the dismay of his junior officers.

Efforts to turn the after supper conversation to politics and the post-war world meet with little success in the face of the general's desire to talk about his home in Mason City, Ia., his wife, Margaret, and three sons, Jack, a marine private, whose landing on Iwo Island gave his father "butterflies in his stomach"; Tom, an air cadet, and Angus, who is looking forward to joining the military forces on his approaching 17th birthday.

The general wonders how Jack lost the one stripe he had as a private first class, and is looking forward to "straightening the boy out" as an aftermath to his son's invitation to "come up here and let us show you how to fight a war."

Calls Up Chicagoans

On our tours of the front, the general's call to middle westerners to "come up and get your name in the paper" brought Chicagolanders, many of them also veterans of 40 months overseas, to our side. Among them were:

Pvt. John Wittner, 949 Newport av.; his cousin, Pvt. Harvey Wittner, 4170 Drexel blvd.; Pvt. Stanley Pepak, 858 N. Paulina st.; Pvt. Frederick Wilk, 2735 N. Kostner av.; Lt. Edward Valbracht, 2645 N. Francisco av.; Pvt. Joseph Zawislak, 2207 Rice st.; August Krautter, 2820 Arlington pl., and Staff Sgt. Joseph Augustine, 6317 S. Hermitage av., all of Chicago.

From Illinois were Pvt. Rudolph Almaguer, 807 W. 6th av., Monmouth; Pvt. James Powell, Mount Vernon; Pvt. Virgil Quigg, Irvington; Pvt. Roy Buckholz, 109 S. Bruner av., Hinsdale; Capt. Jack Metzdorf, 132 Harvey av., Oak Park; Pvt. John Scanio, 1009 N. 25th av., Melrose Park, and Sgt. Louis Rauch, 2545 Grove st., Blue Island.

Others from Chicagoland were Staff Sgt. Robert Gwin, Lafayette, Ind., and Sgt. Michael Sarnacki, Wyandotte, Mich.

NORSE BESIEGE 4 QUISLING AIDS IN OSLO SUBURB

OSLO, Norway, May 10 (AP)—Four top members of Vidkun Quisling's Norwegian Nazi party held out in a bunker redoubt in a suburb tonight while their jailed ex-leader tore up the furnishings of his Oslo cell in paroxysms of rage.

The forlorn figures holding out against patriots on the grounds of a mansion at Stabekk were the puppet minister of police, Jonas Lie; Sverre Rissnaese, Nazi minister of justice; K. Kannerurd, justice of Quisling's high court, and the former chief of the Quisling state police, Henrik Rogstad.

No Hope of Escape

Lie and the others were without hope of escape thru a cordon of Freedom fighters surrounding the redoubt and their capture was expected momentarily. The patriots, however, were just letting them starve. As one patriot put it: "We are not going to waste a single patriot's life on those rats."

Quisling himself was awaiting arraignment on treason charges, probably tomorrow. He was reported alternately weeping and tearing up his meager cell furnishings.

[Allied troops comprising about 2,000 Norwegians, British, and Americans have arrived at Sola air field at Stavanger, Norway, the Norwegian telegraph service reported.]

Report Terboven Suicide

Meanwhile reports in informed quarters said that German Commissioner Josef Terboven had shot and killed himself in the residence of Crown Prince Olaf at Skaugum, 12 miles from Oslo.

The siege of Lie and his fellow Quislings began Tuesday when they barricaded themselves on the grounds of the suburban estate with a guard of 200 hired men armed with rifles and machine guns.

Hired Guards Disappear.

By last night all but 10 of the guards had faded away while the patriots calmy took up strategic positions around the fortress watching movements thru binoculars.

The patriots have telephone communication with the bunker and from time to time they call up to ask whether the four are ready to surrender. Early today Lie replied they would give up only on "honorable terms," a phrase at which the patriots scoffed.

Late Wednesday the patriots spotted several cows on the ground in need of milking. A call was placed to the besieged men and a truce was arranged while the cows were milked.

MORE SHOES AND GAS FOR BRITISH; DRAFT TO STAY

BY E. R. NODERER
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

LONDON, May 10—Compulsory military conscription will continue in Britain during the interim period between the European "cease fire" and the defeat of Japan and may be prolonged for years in view of the need for occupation of Germany, Prime Minister Churchill told the house of commons today. He said this process was necessary to bring relief to the men who had been serving many years and to enable some of them to return home.

Churchill confirmed the fact that the Northern Ireland government once sought to introduce conscription there but that the British cabinet refused permission. He declined to clarify the conscription position of Canada where the draft ended May 7.

Minister of Labor Bevin informed the house he planned to release all available man power from war industry consistent with the maintenance of munitions production for the war on Japan. Sixty thousand building workers now in the military services will be allowed to return to their jobs soon, he indicated.

More Gasoline for Cars

V-E day plus 2 brought good news for motorists and further details of Britain's own "liberation." Churchill announced relaxation of gasoline rationing and said that bus services and retail deliveries would be improved.

"A modest basic ration, the same as in the United States," Churchill said, will be introduced 30 days hence for privately owned cars and motorcycles.

The board of trade said today that 20,000 workers returning to the civilian clothing trade would concentrate on children's clothing and shoes.

There will be week night greyhound racing soon and more horse racing. Greyhound racing had been limited to Saturdays. The restriction on attendance at football games has been lifted.

Deadlock Over Poland

Churchill's personal intervention to break the Big Three deadlock over Russia's arrest of 16 Polish emissaries so far has proved unsuccessful, diplomatic circles said tonight.

Churchill has been in touch with Marshal Stalin several times, and has maintained close contact with President Truman, it was indicated.

Churchill's staff said today that "owing to his many engagements," he had postponed his scheduled broadcast tonight. He will speak Sunday at 9 p. m. [2 p. m. Chicago time].

HUMAN BOMBS FAIL TO HOLD UP OKINAWA DRIVE

Yanks Cross River on Damaged Bridge

GUAM, May 11 [Friday]—(AP)—Troops of the 6th marine division bridged the mouth of the Asa river near Okinawa's capital city, Naha, yesterday and forced a crossing despite attempts of two Japanese human bombs to thwart them.

Bitter hand to hand fighting was reported all along the southern Okinawa front and United States warships for the fifth straight day were called upon for support. They broke up enemy troop concentrations in rear areas.

Jap Casualties 38,857

The Asa flows into the sea on western Okinawa between Machinato airfield, captured last week, and Naha. The two Japanese who tied heavy explosive charges to themselves, then plunged onto the span in attempts to blow it up, succeeded only in damaging it and delaying the crossing.

Japanese casualties in the Okinawa fighting total 38,857 thru Wednesday, Adm. Nimitz's bulletin reported today.

This increased enemy casualties by 2,322 in two days. American 10th army casualties thru Monday were 16,425, including 2,684 dead.

Damage Two Ships

The Japanese made several attacks on American shipping off Okinawa Wednesday evening, damaging two fleet auxiliaries. They also bombed Yontan air field, but "without success," Nimitz said.

Lt. Gen. Simon Bolivar Buckner Jr., said today "we will take our time and kill the Japanese gradually."

Buckner estimated the original Okinawa garrison numbered more than the original estimate of 60,000 to 80,000 and that 45,000 to 50,000 are still fighting. He said the Japanese strength had been reduced, however, "far beyond" the number officially reported killed.

CHICAGO YANKS BEAT OFF NIGHT ATTACK BY JAPS

BY WALTER SIMMONS
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

KIBANE, Mindanao, May 6 [Delayed]—A dozen Chicagoland fighters are members of the 31st division battalion which collided headon with an advancing Jap battalion in a night movement on Sayre highway. The resulting battle was the longest sustained engagement of the central Mindanao campaign.

Both units were surprised when contact was suddenly made near midnight. The Yanks, however, dug in astride the highway and let the Japs attack. When a 75 mm. gun opened up they knocked it out with mortars. The Japs apparently dragged off many of their dead and wounded, but in the morning the bodies of the major in command and 26 men were found. The battalion fled in such confusion it has since offered no organized resistance.

The Yanks included Privates Bolesiaus Herous, 161 W. 37th pl.; Joseph Melone, 3139 Congress st.; William Meyer, 1446 Rosemont av., and Truman Hayden, 2159 Sedgwick st., all of Chicago; Lt. G I Joe in the Pacific
By ARTHUR VEYSEY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

WITH THE MILITARY POLICE, May 7 [Delayed]—It was just like the old days at Stanton av. station when Matthew Murphy, captain in the military police over here, and the only Chicago cop to get promoted to captain while on military leave from the force at home, picked up the phone in his Brisbane [Australia] office and heard an excited voice say, "Somebody shot himself."

Matt jumped in a squad car and in exactly eight minutes was at the scene—a washroom at the customs house. The injured man already had been hauled away.

"Where's the gun?" Matt demanded. The crowd said there was none.

"Then how could he have shot himself?" Matt demanded in a bit of Chicagoistic deduction that astounded the crowd.

An aid rushed in to announce that the victim had died en route to the hospital without saying a word.

Matt Sifts Clews

Matt had a mystery. Within a couple of hours, he learned the dead man was Lt. William Middleton, before the war a teacher at Paris, France, and Moscow, Pa. He had arrived overseas only three weeks earlier. An Australian soldier had seen him enter the washroom, followed by a big man dressed in a gray suit. Almost instantly there was a shot. Two customs house guards saw the man in gray leave by another door, walking very fast. An Aussie sailor followed him, but when the man brandished a gun, the sailor gave up and watched his quarry vanish into a street car on Queen st., Brisbane's main thoroughfare.

So the man in gray was the murderer. But who was he, and why did he kill. Robbery? Middleton's purse, with $100 in it, was untouched. Jealous husband? The victim had had only two dates with an American Red Cross girl who succeeded him as a teacher at Moscow when he joined the army. He apparently didn't even know any Brisbane girl.

After 10 days, Matt just about gave up. He and the Australian police had checked all the hotels and rooming houses for the man in gray. They tracked down some 1,500 tips. All were blanks.

Solved on the 13th Day

The solution came suddenly on the 13th day. An American naval officer was shot by a man delivering bread. He lived an hour and a half. By that time the breadman was under arrest. He was wearing a gray suit. It was his one and only.

"The man in gray!" Matt shouted. "You killed the officer in the washroom, too."

"Bloody right," the man in gray said.

"If you never saw either of the two men before, why did you kill them?" Matt asked.

"Because they were going to poison me. All Americans are trying to poison me."

"You're crazy!" Matt said. And that's what the court decided too, putting the man in gray into an asylum. So Matt boarded a plane for Manila, his record of 22 months of no unsolved crimes by or against American soldiers in New Guinea and Australia unblemished.

BRITISH ADVANCE 20 MILES A DAY IN BURMA DRIVE

CALCUTTA, India, May 10 (AP)—British columns pushing down the Irrawaddy river from captured Prome in Burma continued their 20 mile a day pace and reached a point 75 miles north of Rangoon, where a pocket of cut-off Japanese was attempting to make a stand, southeast Asia headquarters announced today.

Further progress in the Burma "house cleaning" was reported with a linkup between the British 15th corps pushing east from Arakan on the west coast and scouts operating with the Irrawaddy column.

Ground Crews on Air Tour See Europe's Bomb Ruins

LONDON, May 10 (AP)—Ground crews of the United States 8th air force who stayed behind in British bases while their comrades flew bombers over the continent finally are getting a look at the devastation created by the planes they serviced. More than 7,000 men made a tour of the continent today, riding in more than 700 bombers.

M'ARTHUR OPENS CRUCIAL BATTLE FOR MINDANAO

MANILA, May 11 [Friday]—(AP)—Maj. Gen. Roscoe Woodruff's 24th infantry division was definitely at grips today with Japan's garrison on Mindanao Island. A battle of fair proportions was mounting just northwest of captured Davao city, between the Talomo and Davao rivers.

Doughboys who established a bridgehead across the Talomo on Tuesday settled down to the tough job of rooting the Japanese out of their typical elaborate cave defenses. They were making steady gains against stiff resistance. Eighty-five marine divebombers closely supported the ground operation.

Shipping Disappears

American and allied flyers blockading all of Japan's shipping lanes to the south have sunk or damaged 1,892,082 tons of ships in the first four months of this year, Gen. MacArthur announced.

He said the enemy's "organized commerce in these lanes has practically disappeared and only scattered and sporadic traffic is now attempted."

On Tarakan Island, off Borneo, Australian troops penetrated the southern edge of the big Djoeata oil field. Other elements, with air support, were applying pressure from the south and west on the enemy defenses in the center of the island.

Few U. S. Casualties

On Luzon Island the 43d infantry division east of Manila was rapidly closing in on Ipo dam from the north and south. The dam is the source of at least one-third of Manila's water.

MacArthur reported remarkably few American casualties were being suffered in the battle which, he said, "had seriously depleted the enemy's irreplaceable stocks of ammunition, food, and medical supplies and cost him heavy losses in personnel."

Smash Drive on Base

CHUNGKING, China, May 11 (AP)—Chinese troops with powerful American air support smashed a major Japanese drive on the American air base at Chihkiang Wednesday and drove on for a 9½ mile gain, killing more than 1,000 invaders, the Chinese high command announced today.

The victory, possibly the turning point in the campaign to oust the enemy from the Chinese interior, led to the encirclement of enemy units at Tungkow, on a main highway 70 miles east of Chihkiang, and at Shammen, 75 miles east of the air base, which is 250 miles southeast of the capital.

The Chinese said they had captured points 20 and 25 miles northwest of Poaching, which is the main base for the enemy's now seemingly abortive drive on Chihkiang.

2 FLEETS OF B-29s RIP TARGETS ON JAP HOME ISLES

GUAM, May 11 [Friday] (AP)—A force of 100 to 150 Super Fortresses today bombed the Kawanishi aircraft plant at Fukae on the main Japanese island of Honshu while a smaller B-29 fleet hit two air fields on Kyushu, southernmost in the mainland chain.

The Kawanishi plant, one of the principal seaplane factories in Japan, is between Kobe and Osaka on south-central Honshu. Bombing was visual. Results were not yet made known.

Yesterday more than 400 B-29s struck at fuel and oil storage centers of the Japanese homeland against negligible defenses, returning flyers said today. All planes returned.

HALSEY ASKS FINISH FIGHT; SEES PEACE BID

SOMEWHERE IN THE PACIFIC, May 10 (AP)—Predicting that the Japanese will put out a strong peace feeler in the near future, Adm. Halsey today said: "It would be criminal not to fight this war thru to a successful conclusion."

In a speech before army, navy, and marine chaplains of the Pacific ocean area, the admiral said: "There will be pressure brought to bear to accept this peace from parents at home, who want to save the lives of their sons and other loved ones, but we must think also of our grandchildren as well as of our children.

"It would be criminal not to fight this war thru to a successful conclusion that will leave the Japanese nation too weak to wage another war."

KONRAD HENLEIN KILLS HIMSELF IN PRISON CAMP

Fomenter of Czech Strife Slashes His Wrists

BY JOHN THOMPSON
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

WITH THE 1ST DIVISION IN CZECHOSLOVAKIA, May 10—Konrad Henlein, fomenter of discord in Czechoslovakia's Sudetenland and chief Nazi official of Prague, is dead.

Konrad Henlein

Less than 12 hours after his surrender yesterday Henlein committed suicide this morning by slashing his wrists in a prisoner of war cage near Pilsen. Efforts were made to save him, but he died an hour after being admitted to a German field hospital.

Henlein, who wore the uniform of a general, surrendered yesterday to elements of the 9th armored division, which is attached to the 1st infantry division.

Body Is Identified

He was sent back to corps quarters from a prison cage at Cheb with other prisoners in an empty gasoline truck. Altho the corps was advised of his coming, this mode of transportation of a general escaped their attention and Henlein went into a regular prisoner compound unheralded.

At 4:15 a. m. Pvt. Edwin S. Brown from Pennsylvania, on guard at the gate, was approached by a German medic who asked permission to take a dying man to the hospital. Henlein was taken to the hospital and given heart injections, but died. His body was identified later today.

FIND FOUR HITLERS

BY JOSEPH W. GRIGG JR.
(Representing the Combined American Press.)

BERLIN, May 10 (AP)—At least four bodies, any one of which may be Adolf Hitler's, have been found by the Russians in Berlin. None of them has been identified as being definitely that of the nazi fuehrer.

The bodies of Propaganda Minister Goebbels and his family; of Martin Bormann, successor to Rudolf Hess as Hitler's deputy, and a number of other top Nazis have been found and identified with fair certainty.

For a week the Russians have searched thru the ruins of the underground fortress where Hitler and his gang of last ditch nazi fanatics held out until the destruction of Berlin was complete. Four bodies, blackened and charred, that seem to answer to Hitler's general appearance have been dragged out of the ruins. They have been measured and photographed for examination by experts. But the Russians are beginning to believe that no body that can be identified without any shadow of doubt as that of Hitler ever will be found now.

Deals Denying Bases to U. S. Will Be Beaten, Say Senators

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., May 10—Members of the senate will not approve any international deals which do not give the United States exclusive use of Pacific islands captured from the Japanese and which are needed for this nation's defense, four senators who returned from the San Francisco world security conference this week declared today.

Three of the senators—Byrd [D., Va.], Tobey [R., N. H.], and Eastland [D., Miss.]—are members of a subcommittee of the senate naval committee, appointed by Chairman Walsh [D., Mass.] of the naval committee to bring to members of the American delegation at San Francisco the views of the army and navy on Pacific bases. The fourth senator, Capehart [R., Ind.] went to the conference at the invitation of Byrd.

"We forcibly presented our case," Byrd said in an interview. "We told our delegates that any agreements for disposal of islands formerly owned by or mandated to Japan which have been captured by our forces must provide for their exclusive use by the United States."

Without Supervision

Byrd said the United States is the only nation in a position to keep peace in the Pacific and that consequently we should have the bases without supervision by any other nation or group of nations. "We ought not to have to deal for this—it's little enough for us to ask," the Virginian said.

"We stood our ground and really made progress," Capehart said when interviewed. "We don't want an inch of ground now owned by our allies. But we do need those islands we've taken from the Japs in the Pacific and we don't need the permission of any other nation to keep them. The senate will oppose any plan that prevents our exclusive use of strategic Pacific bases won with the blood of American boys."

"The time to act is now," Tobey said. "We have already run up against the problem of trusteeship to which President Roosevelt committed us at Yalta. The problem of Japanese Islands might be worked out in the peace treaties, but we'd better decide it right away.

"At San Francisco we expressed our disapproval of giving any organization of nations the power to keep us from those islands."

Altho none of the four senators would comment on the tactics of the American delegation at San Francisco, it was learned that they feared this nation may be forced into international trading in order to obtain exclusive American control of the Pacific islands.

Urges Atlantic Bases, Too

"We'll get the bases, but at a hell of a price if the present program is followed," was the view of one senator. He indicated that other countries may want to trade us out of rights in other areas. Expediency, rather than the forthright demands of the Russians, seemed to be the policy being followed by the United States delegates, another senator observed.

Sen. Butler [R., Neb.] in a senate speech said the United States should insist on a ring of bases in the Atlantic as well as in the Pacific after the war.

'Absolute Control'

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

San Francisco, Cal., May 10—Proclaiming himself a "hell tootin' American from the west," silvery haired Sen. McCarran [D., Nev.] demanded today that the United States have absolute control of strategic bases in the Pacific and Caribbean. McCarran is attending the international conference as a representative of the senate judiciary committee, of which he is chairman, and appropriations committee, of which he heads a subcommittee. "We should have absolute control of the islands we need for defense in the Caribbean and the Pacific," he said. "We have given so much we can afford to get a little once in a while. Twice in a generation we have had to save civilization. The other great powers would have been lost if we hadn't come in. The senate feels strongly that the islands we have taken should be retained."

TITO BRANDED WAR CRIMINAL BY GARY PASTOR

Marshal Tito, the Partisan-Communist leader of Yugoslavia, and Dr. Ante Pavelich, chief of Nazi established Croatia, yesterday were classified as war criminals by the Rev. V. M. Ardas, spiritual director of the Croatian Catholic union in Gary, who called on allied officials to order the two men to stand trial.

Father Ardas, pastor of the St. Joseph Croatian Catholic church, Gary, and a prominent member of the Croatian National movement in America, asserted that Marshal Tito had been responsible for the death of seven Catholic nuns during the war in Europe, while Pavelich's people's court has condemned and executed 200 Roman Catholic priests.

Reports of mass slayings have been authenticated, the Rev. Mr. Ardas said, by the Franciscan directory at Rome.

Croats in Yugoslavia have an intense hatred for Tito, Ardas said, "because he has employed a system of commissars similar to Russia, because he has eliminated a free press, and because he is liquidating the spiritual and intellectual leadership of Croats and Serbs."

MODEST GOERING ADMITS HE'S THE ONLY GREAT NAZI

KITZBUHEL, Austria, May 10 (AP)—Reichsmarshal Hermann Goering today told Maj. Gen. John E. Dahlquist, commanding the United States 35th division, that Adolf Hitler was narrow and ignorant, that former Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop was a scoundrel and that Rudolf Hess was eccentric.

After these assertions, Goering fell with gusto upon a luncheon plate of chicken, potatoes and peas, Dahlquist said.

Hitler No Traveler

Goering said that Hitler had never been outside of greater Germany except for trips to Italy and therefore did not know people of other countries the way Goering knew them.

"Ribbentrop was a scoundrel," he asserted. "Four months before the war started I told him that Winston Churchill said to some one in our government in London, 'Why do you always send Ribbentrop to deal with me? Why don't you send a good fellow like Goering?' Rudolf Hess was eccentric but was undoubtedly a man of tremendous energy." He said nothing of Heinrich Himmler, chief of the Gestapo.

Dahlquist asked Goering if he had ever read the British Nevile Henderson's book on his Berlin mission.

"I only read what he said about me," Goering replied.

During his luncheon Goering kept dwelling on the tremendous American capacity for production.

In all of Goering's talking Dahlquist said he noted a fear of the Russians.

Frets Over Treatment

Goering was reported fretting at the casual treatment he received at headquarters. He thought he should have been sent to meet Gen. Eisenhower. His wife and child still are under guard in Zeller Zee castle.

Outside of the Grand hotel the object of curiosity was Goering's armored car, a 16 cylinder Maibach with steel plate two inches thick and safety glass four inches thick.

Marshal Ritter von Grein, Goering's successor as commander of the German air force, languished a prisoner in Kitzbuhel. He was found wounded in a hospital last night. He had been hit in the foot by flak. As he identified himself he said, "I am head of the luftwaffe, but have no luftwaffe."

Hints Goering Trial Is First

LONDON, May 10 (AP)—Hermann Goering, whose air force once terrorized Europe, may be the first big Nazi to face the international bar of justice, a responsible source close to the war crimes commission said today. Goering surrendered May 8.

Among top flight members of the nazi gang still sought are Heinrich Himmler, head of the gestapo, and Foreign Minister von Ribbentrop. Others include Dr. Robert Ley, labor front leader; Julius Streicher, antisemite; Dr. Walther Funk, once Hitler's economic expert, and Otto Abetz, secret agent and ambassador to Vichy.

FRISCO MEETING DEADLOCKED BY ISSUE OF BASES

The Monroe Doctrine issue has split the conference, ranging internationalists against nationalists in a knock down and drag out fight.

Baffled, Says Eden

Many conference leaders believe that the outcome of this battle will make or break the proposed postwar league to enforce peace.

Eden said that the conference is baffled by the problem up to date. "This is a most difficult question," said Eden. "I don't see any solution but I think one can be found. Regional pacts are extremely valuable in strengthening a world organization but they cannot replace it. I see no reason, however, why we cannot relate the regional pacts to the world organization."

It has become virtually a foregone conclusion that unless the United States and other American republics retain the unfettered right to enforce the Monroe Doctrine against an aggression upon any nation in this hemisphere, the United States senate either will reject the peace league charter or attach to the resolution of ratification a reservation of such freedom of action.

Fight Desperately

The internationalists, including some members of the United States delegation, are fighting desperately to preserve the provision of the Dumbarton Oaks peace league plan under which it would be necessary for the United States to obtain permission from the league to act under the Monroe Doctrine against an aggression.

The Latin-American countries have joined hands with the United States nationalists. In fact, inasmuch as there are fewer than a corporal's guard of United States nationalists on the scene, the Latin Americans are leading the fight for preservation of the Monroe Doctrine.

The Latin Americans, who for decades resentfully viewed the United States as playing a big brother role under the Monroe Doctrine, stole a march on State Secretary Stettinius at the recent Mexico City conference by adopting the doctrine and making it their own as well as ours. Stettinius and his fellow internationalists, who were intent on scrapping the Monroe Doctrine under the Dumbarton Oaks formula, were taken aback but could only gulp and cough and say how glad they were to have the Latin Americans aboard.

Pan-American System

Then the Latin Americans proceeded to write the act of Chapultepec generalizing the Monroe Doctrine into a Pan-American system for repelling any aggression upon any of the American republics.

In a last desperate move the United States internationalists at Mexico City got a proviso attached whereby the act of Chapultepec "and the pertinent activities and procedures, shall be consistent with the purposes and principles of the general international organization when established."

It is this effort to harmonize the act of Chapultepec with Dumbarton Oaks that precipitated the current battle in the conference. The nationalists contend that the United States and the other American republics cannot risk sacrificing national defense under the Monroe Doctrine to a system of world defense that may prove a failure like the first league of nations.

Permission of Europe

They point out that under the Dumbarton Oaks plan the United States would be required to get the permission of Europe to defend itself against aggressions in this hemisphere by the very European nations whose designs upon American republics the Monroe Doctrine was devised to circumvent.

The Latin-Americans are particularly apprehensive that Russia will attempt to extend the soviet system to this hemisphere, infiltrating American republics as it has the countries of eastern Europe in which Moscow is setting up communist regimes. Yet, under Dumbarton Oaks, Russia could veto permission to the American republics to repel such aggression.

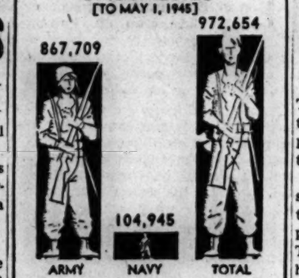
The internationalists contend that if regions are allowed to do their own defending and policing under such arrangements as the Monroe Doctrine and the act of Chapultepec there would be nothing much for the peace league to police and it will peter out.

The Latin Americans are so earnest in this nationalistic movement and so fighting mad that many of them make no bones of an intention to walk out of the conference if the Monroe Doctrine is sold down the river.

"The Dumbarton Oaks formula is not a Bible," said Mexican Foreign Minister Padilla. "It can and must be reformed on this point. If not, we should not have come to San Francisco to build this peace organization."

Ricardo J. Alfaro, former Panamanian ambassador to the United States, said "We know we can prevent an American war but we have no assurance whatever that war can be prevented in Europe. We should follow the act of Chapultepec, tho it may mean the failure of the San Francisco conference."

War Casualties



How United States war casualties on the western front and in the entire war against Germany are divided.

Washington, D. C., May 10 (AP).—American army casualties in the war against Germany total about 800,000, including about 150,000 dead, War Secretary Stimson estimated today.

The over-all figures for all services and all theaters since Pearl Harbor meanwhile approached the million mark with a total of 972,654 reported thru April 30. That number, announced today, was up 22,182 in the last week. Army casualties have reached 867,709 and those of the navy 104,945.

Stimson, in a breakdown of the figures, said fighting in Germany during April cost American ground forces 34,598 casualties, including 5,324 killed.

A breakdown on navy casualty figures reported this week and similar figures for the preceding week showed an increase of more than 1,000 in that service's dead.

The figures: Killed, 41,458 and 40,271; wounded, 48,858 and 47,739; missing, 10,382 and 10,123; prisoners, 4,247 and 4,250.

45 TIRES STOLEN IN INDIANA

Washington, Ind., May 10 [Special]—Forty-five new passenger tires were taken by burglars from Catt's tire station on highway 57 some time Wednesday night.

U. S. ASKS PARTY TRIALS IN HUNT FOR WAR GUILTY

San Francisco, Cal., May 10 (AP)—The United States has proposed that organizations such as the Nazi party, as well as individuals, be tried for atrocities and war crimes.

In an official announcement, the state department disclosed today that Judge Samuel I. Rosenman, personal representative of President Truman, has completed conferences here with representatives of Great Britain, Russia, and France on the prosecution of war criminals.

Organize Machinery

The department said it was the purpose of proposals laid before the group by Rosenman "to organize machinery and set up a procedure which will assure a just and expeditious trial to the major individuals and to the organizations accused of atrocities and war crimes in Europe—but one which will permit no evasion, undue delay, or dilatory tactics."

Mass Prosecution

In connection with this, it was explained by a state department official that if an enemy political organization is placed on trial and convicted of war crimes, all members of the organization would be subject to punishment.

This would make possible the mass prosecution of individuals who otherwise might escape being charged because they did not rank as major war criminals.

UNRRA WILL NOT FEED GERMANY, LEHMAN INSISTS

Lacks Authorization to Do So, He Says

New York, May 10 (AP)—Herbert H. Lehman, director general of the united nations relief and rehabilitation administration, says UNRRA is not authorized to assist Germans and is not planning to supply food to Germany.

Lehman sent a telegram from Washington clarifying UNRRA's position in operations in enemy or former enemy areas as a result of publication of an Associated Press dispatch from Paris May 5 which he felt implied that it was planned to supply food to Germany. This is not the case.

"If and when the UNRRA feeds Germany it will do so only upon the decision of the majority of the members of its council, each of which has one unit of voting power," he said.

UNRRA has approved no measures which would provide relief to other than allied nationals, stateless persons, or victims of political or racial persecution in Germany, Lehman said.

Caloric Totals Set

A dispatch from Paris to the Associated Press states also that UNRRA is supplying no food to Germany and there are no known intentions to do so.

The story of May 5 had said that "the ratio planned by UNRRA is 1,150 calories for Germans and 2,000 for liberated countries."

Actually, allied military government officials have charge of the rationing. The Germans must supply their own food, out of stocks on hand or from crops to be gathered.

In Paris a spokesman for the military government said the 1,150 calories per person per day diet for the Germans was only a maximum. Germany is being required to feed from 5 million to 8 million displaced persons plus hundreds of thousands of allied prisoners of war. The German diet is coming out of what is left after these people are fed.

Food from America

For liberated countries, food from America already was started arriving, tho not in large quantities. There is neither a specific commitment nor definite assurance of the extent to which all the allies together will be able to fill the gap between what Europe produces and her minimum needs.

In any event, UNRRA provides only the medium thru which the supply of food can be arranged. It does not actually provide the food, nor is there any guarantee to what extent the food can be provided. And it is no part of the allied plan to feed Germany; she must feed herself.

$775 THEFT FROM MUSIC STORE

Police were searching yesterday for thieves who Wednesday night smashed a window of the Wurlitzer Music store, 111 S. Wabash av., and stole a $450 violin, a $60 case, a $125 bow, and a saxophone valued at $140.

DAY by DAY on the FARM by GAIL COMPTON

May 10, 1945

HAY, as every one knows, is one of the important factors in the diet of cattle, sheep, and horses. Not enough people, however, realize the importance of hay in the diet of hogs.

Good, green, leafy alfalfa hay should be a part of a hog's daily ration. If possible the hay should be fed in the form of alfalfa leaf meal, the concentrated form. University of Wisconsin animal specialists have asserted that No. 1 leafy alfalfa hay may be worth as much as $800 a ton as a "medicinal preventive" for young pigs. The hay furnishes nutriment and vitamins missing in other types of feed.

Hogs Are Guinea Pigs

An interesting and unusual experiment conducted at the college of agriculture of the University of Illinois thoroly proved the worth of alfalfa meal in the feeding of swine.

One lot of sows was fed a ration of corn, wheat middlings, tankage, soybean meal, and a mineral mixture, and the diet was enriched with vitamins A and D. This is a balanced ration that any farmer would find excellent.

Despite the ration, when the sows farrowed not quite one of every 10 of the pigs reached weaning age. Experts say these sows should have farrowed strong, healthy pigs.

Alfalfa Value Shown

Another group of sows was fed exactly the same ration, but received alfalfa meal in addition. These sows raised eight out of 10 pigs to weaning time. Thus, the sows without alfalfa weaned less than 10 per cent of their pigs and the sows who got the alfalfa weaned 80 per cent of their pigs.

The experiment was carried into a second year and this time the sows without alfalfa weaned 13 per cent of their pigs. The sows fed alfalfa weaned 83 per cent of their pigs. Thus, by paying attention to the feeding of vitamin B-2 thru alfalfa meal, farmers should be able to save at least seven more pigs for every 10 farrowed. This would make a tremendous difference in the farmer's profit and loss account at the end of the year.

The new hay dryer now being constructed in the barn at the Wheaton farm should make it possible to mow bright No. 1 hay with a maximum percentage of leaves. These contain most of the feeding value. Such hay will come close to the type valued by Wisconsin officials for its medicinal and nutritive value to young stock.

The FARM by Ben Markland

DIRECT seeding of tomatoes is an efficient method of producing a late crop of canning fruits, especially for gardeners who have large plots and want to avoid the expense of buying plants in flats or individual pots.

Tomato seed may be planted in northern Illinois gardens as soon as the weather is steadily warm, which should be in the next 10 days. The seedbed should be thoroly pulverized, because the small seeds will not germinate thru a hard soil crust. It usually is best to plant four to six seeds to a hill; after germination, all but the strongest should be cut off at ground level. The planting distance between hills should be 30 inches if the vines are to be staked, 40 inches if they will be left on the ground.

Gardeners who have tried this method of tomato production state that seeded plants withstand summer drouths better than transplants, probably because they retain their main taproot.

UNION CONGRESS DENIED ROLE AS PARLEY ADVISER

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

San Francisco, Cal., May 10—The Russian-sponsored world trade union congress was refused admission to the international security conference in an advisory capacity today by a majority vote of the conference steering committee. State Secretary Stettinius, committee chairman, said he did not think he had the authority to announce details of the vote.

Executives of the world labor organization met last week in Oakland, Cal., to prepare a charter under the direction of Philip Murray, president of the Congress of Industrial Organizations, and Sidney Hillman, chairman of the CIO political action committee. The American Federation of Labor has refused invitations to join the trade union congress on the ground that it does not represent free labor.

A conference committee voted last night, 12 to 3, on the motion of a Russian delegate, A. A. Arutinian, to recommend the admission of the labor organization.

Stettinius said, after the steering committee meeting today, that it had reversed the recommendatiop to recognize the WTUC. The steering committee agreed by a majority vote, he said, to adhere to an earlier policy of excluding all observers at closed sessions of the conference except representatives of the league of nations, the world court, the international labor office, united nations relief and rehabilitation administration, and the united nations food and agriculture commission.

Illinois G. A. R.'s Annual Meeting in Peoria June 12

William P. Lockwood, 98, national commander of the Grand Army of the Republic, announced yesterday that the Illinois department of the G. A. R. will hold its annual meeting in Peoria June 12-14. Five allied organizations will meet but, because of travel restrictions, will hold only small councils.

ASKS U. S. HELP ARABIANS 'UP FROM THE DUST'

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

San Francisco, Cal., May 10—The subject peoples of the Mohammedan and Hindu worlds are looking to America to help them up from the dust of generations of French and British imperialism, according to Sidi Mohamed Ali Barada, 50, who says he is a Moroccan prince who left the royal household to become an American citizen and business man.

"What I mean by help," he said, "is not to try to free them completely from the domination of any government, but only help them establish their recognition as nations, and give them a chance to develop their resources."

Barada, a writer for Moslem journals, before the war was in the importing business in Hollywood. He said he has come to San Francisco in a patriotic but unofficial capacity. Saudi Arabian delegates to the conference, he charged, do not represent Arabian people, but a government "that rules by the sword."

This government, he said, was not recognized by Great Britain until oil was discovered in Saudi Arabia.

TWO REPORTERS OUSTED BY ARMY FOR BERLIN TRIP

SHAEF Puts Nine on Suspension List

SUPREME HDQ. ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, Paris, May 10 (AP)—Two American correspondents charged with making unauthorized trips to Berlin were disaccredited and ordered returned to the United States as the number of war reporters on SHAEF's suspension list grew to nine today.

Most of the nine still are under investigation for alleged violations of army regulations.

Those whose credentials were revoked were Virginia Irwin, St. Louis Post Dispatch, and Andrew Tully, Boston Traveller. They wrote eyewitness accounts of their entrance into Berlin soon after the Russians captured the capital.

SHAEF said no correspondent accredited to Gen. Eisenhower's command was authorized to go to Berlin until May 8, and then only a select group was taken to the fallen capital on a supervised tour.

Passed by Censors

The stories written by Tully and Miss Irwin and correspondents now under investigation were passed by censors, however.

SHAEF still had not announced any results of its investigation of the Associated Press men, Edward Kennedy, Morton Gudebrod, and Robert Bunnelle, in connection with Kennedy's story of the surrender at Reims, sent 24 hours before the official announcement.

Bunnelle, managing executive for the United Kingdom for the Associated Press, was suspended after the investigation was under way because it was ascertained that the story in question was relayed to the United States thru the London bureau, which he heads, it was learned.

Others Suspended

Other correspondents suspended for what SHAEF called deliberate violation of instructions not to go to Berlin included Seymour Freidin, New York Herald Tribune; John Groth, American Legion magazine, and Tom Downs, London Evening News.

Sam White of the Australian Consolidated Press has been placed under two months suspension for writing a story in 7th army territory while accredited only to the 3d.

In addition, Tech. Sgt. Ernest Leiser of Stars and Stripes and Sgt. Mack Morriss of Yank magazine are under investigation for trips to Berlin, but any action in their cases will be purely military, since they are in the army.

Kennedy's Story Unchanged

LONDON, May 10 (AP)—The Associated Press London bureau relayed Edward Kennedy's story of the German surrender Monday without alterations and with no prior knowledge that it was coming thru here or how it was coming.

The news was received by telephone and handled thru the censors just as any other copy. The censors raised no question on the relay transmission of copy originating outside the United Kingdom.

Robert Bunnelle, managing executive, was absent from the office when the story began coming in.

AP Head Expresses Regret

Philadelphia, Pa., May 10 (AP)—Robert MacLean, president of the Associated Press, issued the following statement today:

"The Associated Press profoundly regrets the distribution on Monday of the report of the total surrender in Europe which investigation now clearly discloses was distributed in advance of authorization by supreme allied headquarters.

"The whole, long, honorable record of the Associated Press is based on its high sense of responsibility as to the integrity and authenticity of the news and the observance of obligations voluntarily assumed, as appropriately reaffirmed by Executive Director Cooper in his statement of yesterday."

Kent Cooper's statement follows:

"The observance of all obligations voluntarily assumed is, always has been, and will continue to be a cardinal principle of the Associated Press and its employes. But there will be no prejudgment of Edward Kennedy by me. I have not as yet had the advantage of a personal meeting with him or the military authorities to obtain the detailed information that I should like to have. Any implication that any prejudice whatever is indicated by this statement would be entirely unfair."

BRITAIN TO BE ASKED TO FREE POLITICAL PRISONERS IN INDIA

LONDON, May 10 [Reuters]—A manifesto demanding immediate and unconditional release of Indian political prisoners as a recognition of the part played in the European victory by Indian troops will be issued immediately by the Committee of India congressmen in Britain, P. B. Seal, chairman of the committee, said tonight. The manifesto is to be circulated to members of the united nations, all political organizations in England and the leading political personalities in England.

It will point out that resumption of normal political activity in India would accelerate final victory against Japan by bringing together in a coöperative spirit the peoples of England and India.

Field Marshal Wavell, viceroy of India, is now in the seventh week of his visit to London to discuss politics and the war situation with the British government, but there still is no indication that the talks are about to conclude.

SHAEF CENSORS WILL RESTRICT POST-WAR NEWS

PARIS, May 10 (AP)—Post-war censorship under direction of supreme headquarters has begun in the European theater. Indications are it will continue as long as supreme headquarters [SHAEF] is here—perhaps as long as there are forces of occupation in Europe.

Some insight into the character of the new censorship was given today. Press Censors' Guidance No. 1, a new series, headed "the level of security after V-E day," has been in the hands of censors here since May 5 and it is now the basis of censorship.

News in 3 Classes Barred

This passage gives a summary:

"In accordance with operations memorandum No. 27, supreme headquarters, AEF, in general press material falling into the following categories will not be released:

"1. Reports likely to supply military information of value to the Japanese enemy to the detriment of the allied war effort.

"2. Unauthenticated, inaccurate, or false reports, misleading statements, and rumors.

"3. Reports likely to injure the morale of the allied forces or the relations between allied nations."

The first of these points clearly and solely to military security, which, during the latter years of the war, the press and public had been given to understand was the sole basis of censorship at military headquarters.

Second Point Seldom Invoked

The second point, which, if applied to the extreme, would give censorship the right to stop anything except an official bulletin or statement, actually has been on the books all along.

Col. George Warden, chief of the SHAEF press censorship, said that in fairness it should be pointed out that in actual practice this "accuracy" censorship seldom has been applied, and when applied it was intended in the main to cover the third point dealing with injury to the morale of the allied forces or allied peoples.

The first part of the third point was, during the war, clearly linked to military security. But the last part, dealing with relationships between allied nations, comes into the twilight zone of political security.

It is hard to tell in stories about international relations just where censorship is purely political and where there is the faintest possibility of military security in its broadest sense, while the allies still are at war any place on the earth.

As an example, almost anything relating to Russia might in the broad definition be regarded as involving security, not only because she is at least a potential ally in the Pacific, but because of the divided military occupational control of Germany.

Another, more extreme, possibility is that a censor might refuse to pass any story, however accurate, disclosing, for instance, specific points of a treaty being negotiated, say, between France and the United States, and involving no military security. It might be stopped on the grounds of possibly prejudicing final accord on the treaty.

Where the line will be drawn is not yet clear.

Warden said that in the new European peace there will be three classes of censorship:

1. Censorship for correspondents accredited to SHAEF.

2. Censorship in an advisory capacity to the domestic press, that is the press of liberated nations.

3. Censorship in Germany, which will not, probably for years, be allowed a wholly free press.

ALLIES OFFICIALLY END WAR A MINUTE LATER THAN RUSSIA

Washington, D. C., May 10 (AP)—Historians probably will fix the time at which the European war ended at 1 minute after midnight, western front time, May 9, or 5:01 p. m. Chicago war time, May 8. That is the time used so far in war department records and probably will be recorded for the department's historical files. It appears to be, except for one minute, the time used by the Russians.

While records here designate the precise time as one minute after midnight, Marshal Stalin, in his recent address announcing victory, referred to the order as being effective at "2400 hours." This would be precisely midnight, European time.

FRENCH ASKING MORE OF SCARCE U. S. NEWSPRINT

Report There Is a Black Market Denied

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., May 10—The French government has asked the United States for 65,000 tons of scarce newsprint since last November despite the fact that American newspapers and magazines are publishing on sharply reduced paper quotas and it was disclosed today that newsprint shipments to France from this country already have been increasing.

Officials of the foreign economic administration and the war production board said that exports of American newsprint to France and other liberated European countries will be increased in the next few months until Baltic ports are opened to permit these nations to draw upon Scandinavian pulp and paper. They denied reports that the administration's plans call for newsprint exports so large that they would reduce the already limited supply in this country to an important extent.

Shipments to Go Up More

Arthur Bevan, chief of the FEA's lumber and paper section, said that since last November, the requests of the French economic mission for newsprint have totaled 65,000 tons. In the last three months of 1944, he said, the FEA sent 5,000 tons to France. Since the first of this year it has exported about 15,000 tons, most of it to France and the rest of Belgium, Italy, and Holland.

Bevan disclosed that in comparison with this tonage for the first six months of 1945, tentative plans have been made to ship 12,000 tons abroad during the third quarter. This is in addition to that provided by the army for liberated countries. He said the army supplied 5,000 tons a month in March and April, and expects to provide the same amount this month.

Bevan said that no further FEA increases are planned because it is hoped that with the reopening of Scandinavian sources shipments of American newsprint to Europe will stop completely. In view of this, he said, no export estimates have been made for the fourth quarter. He said that if the liberated countries are obtaining pulp and paper from Sweden and Finland before the end of the third quarter all of the 12,000 tons allocated at present will not be shipped.

The actual reopening of Baltic ports to shipping is expected to require about two months, Bevan reported.

Black Market Denied

FEA and WPB officials denied reports that the French have ample supplies of newsprint. These reports say that much of the paper is in the hands of black market operators, and the government is seeking American newsprint rather than break up the black market or pay high prices. The officials said that while France and other liberated countries have some pulpwood, lack of coal prevents processing of this raw material into paper.

A WPB spokesman also denied that the report of ample French newsprint stocks influenced the WPB when it set French allocations at tonnages far below those requested.

Despite the denials, Sen. Ferguson [R., Mich.], a member of the senate war investigating committee, said today he has asked the committee counsel to look into these reports. Ferguson asserted that the matter had come to his attention thru sources he considered reliable.

J. Hale Steinman, director of the WPB printing and publishing division, said this week that the newsprint shortage will not become worse, but that prospects for increased consumption quotas are not bright for the rest of this year, despite the end of the war in Europe.

DEMANDS ARMY END CENSORSHIP FROM EUROPE

Senator Asks Return of Free Press

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., May 10—A demand that American military authorities in Europe lift "artificial restrictions" on the free flow of news from and to European nations was made today by Sen. McFarland [D., Ariz.], in a press statement.

McFarland, who is chairman of a senate interstate commerce subcommittee studying international communications, described the army's method of releasing news of the victory over Germany as "badly mishandled" censorship.

"It seems to me," McFarland said, "that whether or not an Associated Press reporter violated an understanding with respect to the timing of the story is of relatively minor consequence in comparison with the larger aspects of censorship and freedom of the news.

Dampened V-E Jubilation

"I am inclined to agree with Mr. Kent Cooper of the Associated Press that what we must be concerned with now is the lifting of rigid censorship controls as quickly and as completely as possible. Common sense and good judgment and not artificial censorship regulations should govern."

McFarland said the best proof of mishandled censorship of the victory story was the fact that the German people heard the news long before America was permitted to know the official story.

"It must be perfectly obvious," McFarland continued, "that the jubilation of V-E day in this country was dampened by a series of confused, indirect, and belabored reports from Europe, all hinting at the end of hostilities.

Entitled to Better Treatment

"The American people—and free peoples everywhere—are entitled to better treatment than that. One of the things that we fought this war for was freedom of speech and freedom of the press.

"It is imperative to the better understanding of world affairs and the bringing about of friendly cooperation between the peoples of the world that in the days ahead there be no artificial restrictions upon any news to or from Europe.

"I hope that our military authorities will remember that the highest civilian authorities in this nation have gone on record and are even now ardently looking for a free press thruout the world."

HUSBAND POSTS BOND OF $20,000 IN DIVORCE SUIT

Joseph Augustine, 30, of 8915 S. Loomis blvd., yesterday posted a $20,000 ne exeat bond by order of Superior Judge John P. McGoorty, after Augustine's wife, Margaret, 43, had filed suit for divorce and obtained the writ to prevent her husband from leaving the court's jurisdiction.

Joseph Augustine

The $20,000 was part of $58,146 which was locked up in the county jail with Augustine Tuesday night, after his wife charged that he chased her out of their home in her pajamas. Since then, she said, she has been living with friends.

She asserted, thru her attorney, Joseph Smietanka, that the money rightfully belonged to her. It represented proceeds from the sale of a bakery at the Loomis blvd. address, and profits from the bakery, which he drew from the bank. The bakery, while bought in Augustine's name, was financed with Mrs. Augustine's money, she said.

Augustine and his wife were permitted to retain $1,000 each for living expenses pending a final outcome of the litigation. The remaining $36,000 was ordered deposited with Henry Sonnenschein, clerk of the Superior court.

CONVOY SYSTEM KEPT IN CASE OF OUTLAW U-BOATS

New York, May 10 (AP)—Despite the end of the war in Europe there has been no change in the convoy system of sending supplies abroad, navy and shipping officials said today.

Officials are working on the theory that some submarines may not have received the surrender order and that some Nazi U-boat officers might prey on allied shipping until their torpedoes are exhausted.

Cosmopolitan presents a Literary Work of lasting importance

Sinclair Lewis'

"CASS TIMBERLANE"

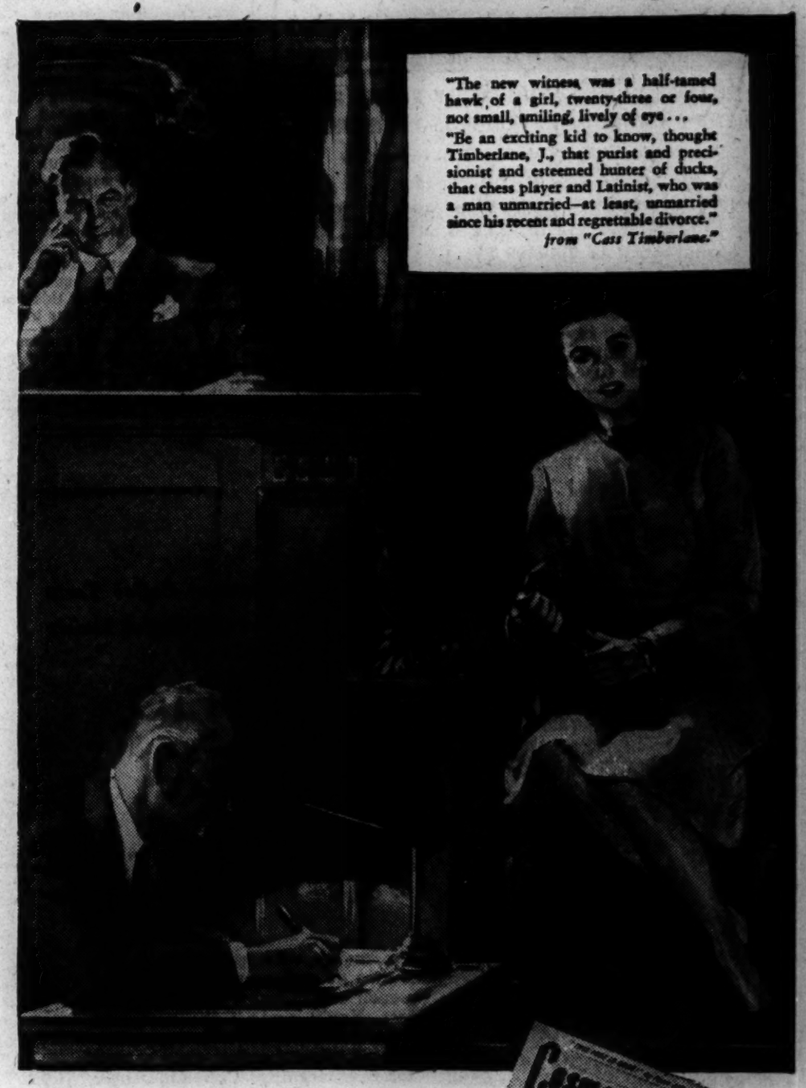
SINCLAIR LEWIS is one of the two American novelists who have won the Nobel Prize in literature.

Sinclair Lewis is one of the few American novelists to be seriously compared with Dickens as a chronicler of his times and an enricher of his native speech.

Whenever Mr. Lewis writes a novel, it's a literary event. And when he writes a novel like "Cass Timberlane"—which has its world premiere in the May Cosmopolitan—it's a literary V-Day!

For, "Cass Timberlane" is Sinclair Lewis' greatest novel since "Dodsworth." "Cass Timberlane" is a novel that will be inevitably, and, we believe, favorably compared with "Main Street" and "Babbitt"! We doubt if any story Mr. Lewis ever wrote better exhibits his uncanny insight concerning human nature; his time-exposure memory of American ways and places; his flair for telling a good story; his sudden and scintillating bursts of wit.

Start "Cass Timberlane" today! You'll just have to read it sooner or later. We're sure it will be a best-seller—the movie rights have already been sold. You'll be sorry if you don't begin it now!



"The new witness was a half-tamed hawk of a girl, twenty-three or four, not small, smiling, lively of eye...
"Be an exciting kid to know, thought Timberlane, J., that purist and precisionist and esteemed hunter of ducks, that chess player and Latinist, who was a man unmarried—at least, unmarried since his recent and regrettable divorce."
from "Cass Timberlane."

ALL THESE—AND MANY OTHERS, TOO
—IN MAY COSMOPOLITAN

How General Patton finds time to write poetry puzzles us. But he does—and very capably, too. His poem "Fear" is a brilliant analysis of the universal emotion by a man who outwardly never seems to have felt it at all.

Timely as green things growing, Sylvia Thompson's new and complete novel—"The Empty Heart"—probably would rate No. 1 in any other issue. It's a story of married couples separated by the war—of love and temptation.

WANTED DEAD OR ALIVE!

"Wanted, Dead or Alive... W. H. Donald, Enemy of Japan" by Clark Lee is probably the most incredible yet true story of the Pacific War. How the Japs searched for Chiang's adviser, while all the time they had him in prison, makes thrilling reading.

HITLER STILL IS A 'GENIUS' TO KESSELRING

Marshal Says Fuehrer Was Misunderstood

BY SEYMOUR KORMAN
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

BERCHTESGADEN, Bavaria, May 10—Some of the reasons why he believed Germany lost the war were given today by Field Marshal Kesselring after his formal surrender at noon to the 101st air borne division. The marshal, who had so long blocked the allies from the Po valley in Italy and in the last few months commanded the German army on the western front, had been interviewed briefly yesterday, but today he elaborated on the smashing of the reich's war machine.

His analysis was along the following lines:

1—The Germans fought too many major battles west of the Siegfried line and out of range of those defenses, whereas if they had withdrawn earlier to the fortifications "you Americans might still be beating your heads against them."

Calls Hitler a "Genius"

2—A number of German divisions should have been withdrawn from Italy to stiffen the defense against the Russians in the east and that added weight of resistance would have slowed, and possibly stopped, the soviet forces.

3—Hitler was a "genius in operative conception," but he was not always understood by his political and military subordinates and that misunderstanding helped turn the tide against Germany in the field.

Asked if he didn't accord just tribute to the American and other allied forces for breaking the German army instead of asigning negative reasons for the collapse, Kesselring said he was not belittling his opponents. He said their superior air power, preponderance of artillery, and great mobility as evidenced in the sweeps of armored forces and infantry sprints and flanking attacks, had helped deliver the knockout blows.

"I admire the audacity of your American divisions," he said, "which frequently left them exposing their flanks. That is all right but if we had been strong enough and had retained sufficient mobility it would have been dangerous for you."

Kesselring was asked when he realized that the German armies had been beaten. His answer to that was somewhat evasive.

Always Looked for Victory

"A leader must believe in the task and its successful execution," he said. "Otherwise he would not be able to encourage his men and exploit them to the last. I had to believe in success to the very end. If there were other ideas present in my mind I had to fight them in my solitude at night."

Kesselring, accompanied by Maj. Gen. Maxwell Taylor, commander of the 101st air borne, gave his conference in the Berchtesgadenhof, the hotel where Britain's former Prime Minister Chamberlain once stayed.

The marshal, who is 58, is just under six feet tall but gives the impression of being shorter because of his stockiness. He is ruddy cheeked and balding. His teeth are large, uneven, and yellow stained and he flashes them frequently, hence his sobriquet of "Smiling Albert."

His garb was an air force uniform—a light khaki jacket and light blue trousers with wide khaki stripes down each side.

Kesselring was very much the Nazi when he spoke of Hitler. "The fuehrer was a great historical personality," he said, and his tone was almost reverent.

"His intentions were the best and his genius was great. There is always conflict between a genius and his subordinates who misinterpret his breadth of intellect and conception. The wars against Poland, France, Norway, and the first campaign against Russia were carried out fully along the lines Hitler had laid down.

"In the frame of national socialism I could not be otherwise but a Nazi and hold a high command. I am a Nazi but I still consider myself a moderately decent man. While there are some ugly aspects of national socialism it also contains many high and social principles."

TORTURE DEATHS OF YANKS AIDED BY WOMAN NAZI

BY HAL FOUST
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

PILSEN, Czechoslovakia, May 10—A woman Nazi, comely and about 26 years old, was arrested by American military police here today in connection with the torture and murders of nine airmen, six of them Americans, two Australians, and the ninth probably an American. An autopsy established the methods of the crimes.

Arrow locates Pilsen.

The bodies were found yesterday south of here near the village of Lititz. Five of the Americans were in one shallow grave. The four other bodies were in a pile in a barn.

Czech informants led to the discovery of the bodies and to the arrest of the woman. She was described as active in nazi terrorism among the Czechs and was said to have participated with the men in the savage murders last month.

Medic Tells of Injuries

Lt. George Edwards of the medical corps, formerly of Santa Barbara, Cal., performed the autopsies and reported evidence that five of the American airmen and one Aussie had been beaten with something resembling a hose, had been kicked severely in the groin, and beaten in the face. One body had broken ribs, pelvis, thighs, legs, and back and the skull was crushed. The others had gun and knife wounds as well as crushed skulls and the marks of beatings.

One Aussie had been shot five times in the chest. One American flight officer had burns which had caused death but they might have been suffered in a plane crash. Identifications in most instances were obtained from name plates.

Yank Keeps a Diary

On one of the American victims was a brief diary beginning on April 19 with the entry: "Bailed out and captured after being hit by a jet [jet plane]." Other entries read as follows:

"April 20—Spent day in cell. Was spit at by a woman.

"April 21—Spent the day in a cell. Got cigarets for coffee. [Trading with the guards.]

"April 22—Same as usual but we had a fire which kept us warm. We packed to leave [I had nothing]. Railroad yards badly bombed. Saw my first war dead. Much suffering. Took a train for Saal where we stayed overnight. Met crew of a B-17 which had been shot down.

"April 23—Slept part of the day. Bed was comfortable. Had potatoes for lunch. Are to leave at 1700 [5 p. m.] for Pilsen.

"April 24—Traveled all night by train. Then marched 4 miles to Pilsen carrying parachute and accessories. My two friends [he named two Australians] are a great help and I should have mentioned them earlier."

That was the last entry.

REDS TOLD NAZIS' FALL A TRIUMPH OF ALLIED ARMS

See Truman and Churchill Pictures in Papers

BY EDDY GILMORE

MOSCOW, May 10 (AP)—The final capitulation of the Nazis was presented in Russian newspapers today as a triumph of all allied arms—not just one—and President Truman's and Prime Minister Churchill's sharp words directed against Japan were given front page display.

Newspapers also carried an unprecedented layout of the portraits of President Truman, Marshal Stalin, and Churchill across the tops of their front pages, together with their addresses on the German surrender.

It was the first time millions of Russian readers had seen in their newspapers a picture of the new American President.

Print Reims Surrender News

The tone of the German surrender stories followed the cue in Marshal Stalin's speech last night, in which he said Germany had been beaten by soviet armies and the allied command. News of the original surrender document at Reims, disclosed to the Russians in Stalin's speech, was printed for the first time.

Americans and Britons in Moscow who had been apprehensive that the Russian people would get the impression the soviet government did not place much emphasis on the Reims capitulation said their anxiety had been dispelled by today's press treatment of the victory.

Red Star, the army newspaper, published pictures of Gen. Eisenhower and Field Marshals Montgomery and Alexander along with principal marshals of the soviet union. Another picture showed Gen. Spaatz of the United States strategic air forces, and Air Chief Marshal Tedder, at the Berlin surrender ratification.

Republish Tehran Scene

Meanwhile, Ilya Ehrenburg, whose recent sharp views on what he thought should be done to Germany brought a sharp reply and correction from Georgi Alexandrov, chief of the propaganda section of the central communist committee, declared today:

"We don't want to enslave the Germans. We want, on the other hand, to burn the terrible ulcer to save children from the return of the brown plague."

He added that "all people will find a place under the sun" and "the German people will live after they are cleansed of their fascist filth."

VAN RIPER FREED ON ALL CHARGES IN NEW JERSEY

Newark, N. J., May 10 [Special]—Walter D. Van Riper, Republican attorney general of New Jersey, was acquitted on all seven counts of an indictment charging operations in the gasoline black market by a jury in United States District court here tonight.

Van Riper's Imperial Service Stations, Inc., of West Orange, N. J., was convicted on three counts illegally possessing ration stamps and participating in over ceiling gasoline sales. The former station manager, John Praml, who had pleaded guilty to two counts, was convicted on two more.

Van Riper, who had been appointed by Republican Gov. Walter E. Edge, had charged that his indictment was institgated by the Democratic political machine headed by "Boss" Hague of Jersey City, because of Van Riper's campaign against gambling.

WEYGAND SEIZED ON FRENCH HIGH COURT WARRANT

Held for Trial Along with Petain

BY DAVID DARRAH

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

PARIS, May 10—Gen. Maxime Weygand, 78, who took command of the French armies after the collapse of May 10, 1940, was arrested by French police on a warrant from the De Gaulle high court of justice when he arrived back in France from German internment, it was disclosed today. Weygand, whose health is poor, was taken to the Val de Grace hospital, where he is under guard.

Gen. Weygand

Jean Borotra, the "Bounding Basque" of tennis fame, who was minister of sports in the Vichy government up to 1941, also was arrested.

Germans Objected

The trial of Weygand by the high court promises to be as sensational as that of old Marshal Petain who is now locked up in Fort Montrouge and has been questioned for the last couple of days by the examining magistrates. Petain tells his examiners he cannot remember clearly all the details of what took place.

Weygand was a minister in the early days of the Petain government, until he was forced out by Laval, and then went North Africa in September, 1940, as high commissioner. In the autumn of 1941 the Germans complained of his activities and he was ousted, returning to France.

Herriot Back Soon

When Vichy broke relations with the United States in November, 1942, Petain called Weygand back to Vichy for a consultation and there, on Nov. 12, he was arrested by the Germans and interned.

It was announced that former Premier Edouard Herriot will be back in France in a few days and Edouard Daladier, war minister at the time of the French defeat, already is back.

THE TREATY POWER

The house of representatives has voted to give itself an equal voice with the senate in passing upon treaties. Under the Constitution this right is reserved to the senate, with the proviso that any treaty must be approved by a two-thirds vote of the senators present. The constitutional amendment proposed by the house would require a majority vote of the entire membership of both houses, not alone those in attendance and voting.

Senate concurrence in the house resolution is, of course, required before the amendment can be submitted to the states for approval. It is to be doubted that the senate will casually yield up its right, for the senate judiciary committee some weeks ago announced that it would not consider any constitutional amendments for the duration of the war and Japan is still in the light.

The 288 members of the house who voted for the resolution obviously were moved by a desire to approve the San Francisco world contract sight unseen. They cannot know whether it will be advantageous or disadvantageous to this country, for it has not yet been drafted, while difficulties have arisen with both Russia and Britain. House members who supported the change apparently feel that a voice in treaty making would enhance their importance, automatically converting them, as it were, into statesmen.

All the old complaints were heard in debate about treaties which the senate has seen fit to reject in the past. The league of nations was frequently invoked, and some of the more fervent members argued that, inasmuch as the British house of commons has sole jurisdiction over treaties, our senate should have its powers clipped, altho perhaps not as extensively as the house of lords has been shorn of power.

One remarkable fact emerging from the discussion was that the most zealous proponents of treaty power revision were able to cite only half a dozen treaties in which they contended the senate erred. The small number of treaties which were the subject of house complaint is itself an index to the validity of the assertion that the senate, in its exercise of treaty power, has failed the country. From 1789 to 1928 820 treaties were made by the United States. Of these, 24 were never submitted to the senate, nine were withdrawn by the President, and of the 787 submitted for approval 47 were never acted upon, 162 were amended, and only 15 were rejected. The senate, however, availed itself of its constitutional privilege to "advise" the President, as well as to "consent" by intervening in the making of 234 treaties.

Which of the treaties occasioned the objections of the house, and on what grounds? Here are some which were mentioned, together with the reasons for their rejection:

1. United States and Spain, 1860. If ratified it would have involved the recognition of slavery at a time when the states were about to go to war over that very thing.

2. Reciprocity treaty with Hawaii, 1867. Neither political opposition nor struggle with the President was responsible for its defeat. The treaty was regarded as a step toward annexation at a time when the public was reluctant to assume that responsibility. Within 20 years annexation was approved.

3. Treaty on claims with Mexico, 1882. Not only was the justice of the Mexican claims subject to doubt but it was thought that the subject was not appropriate to a treaty and could be handled by another branch of government.

4. Treaty of arbitration with Britain, 1897. Known as the Olney-Pauncefote treaty, this would have submitted all differences with Britain to arbitration by King Oscar II. of Norway and Sweden, whose ties with the old world and royalty would automatically have persuaded him toward the British thesis on any point of issue.

5. The St. Lawrence waterway treaty, 1932. The army engineers opposed this treaty because the necessary lake diversion would have imperiled the possibility of a successful all-American waterway.

6. The league of nations, which on four votes in 1919-'20 was found inacceptable, with or without reservations. The votes were 55 against adopting the covenant with reservations and 39 for; 51 against and 41 for on a motion for reconsideration; 53 against 38 for adoption without any reservations; and 49 for adoption with reservations and 35 against. Very rarely is the wisdom of the reservations ever discussed and seldom is it mentioned that President Wilson himself ordered his party to vote against the treaty when he could not have it without reservations.

Mr. Wilson may have been piqued, but the best evidence that it is well for the country to have an independent senate empowered to pass upon treaties is provided by his own words. Before he became President he had written a book called "Congressional Government," in which he said: "No one would desire to see the President possessed of an authority to overrule the decisions of the senate, to treat with foreign powers, and appoint thousands of public officers, without any other than that shadowy responsibility which he owes to the people that elected him. . . ."

Again he said: "His only power of compelling compliance on the part of the senate lies in his initiative in negotiation, which affords him a chance to get the country into such scrapes, so pledged in the view of the world to certain courses of action, that the senate hesitates to bring about the appearance of dishonor which would follow its refusal to ratify the rash promises or to support the indiscreet threats of the department of state."

Is it for such motives that some professed Americans would like to see the senate deprived of its treaty making power?

MORE LIGHT ON THE SURRENDER

The complaints of American correspondents on handling of the news of the German surrender by allied supreme headquarters [SHAEF] add new parts to a picture which, it now appears, goes back to the Yalta agreements. Stalin demanded there, and Roosevelt and Churchill apparently agreed, that the capture of Berlin be left to the Russian armies. This became clear when American forces drove to the Elbe and then marked time at that militarily insignificant barrier while the Red armies were catching up with the pace set by allied forces in the west.

It now comes out that arrangements were also made, presumably at Yalta, for receiving the German surrender in Berlin. The correspondents on the western front allege that one reason why the surrender news was botched by SHAEF was that the plans made for the Berlin surrender were adopted without change in accepting the actual German surrender in the little red schoolhouse in France.

The official program failed to take into account either the march of events or the inclination of the Nazis. Himmler tried to surrender to the Americans and British alone thru the agency of Count Bernadotte, but the western allies, faithful to their agreement, refused the offer. It was this offer, apparently, which was the basis of Sen. Connally's "premature" peace report at San Francisco. Then, instead of waiting for the Russian plan to be carried out, the Germans acceded to the requirement that they surrender to all three allies and did so near Reims.

Stalin's insistence on a Berlin surrender was obviously for the purpose of propaganda, directed not only to his own people but to all of Europe. It would have been the Russians who took the Nazi capital and the Russians who received the surrender in that capital, with British and American representatives present as little more than guests. Instead, it was a Russian who was the guest, and all that Stalin could do was to carry thru the original plan in a farcical repetition in Berlin two days later.

That was why Stalin sulked when President Truman and Prime Minister Churchill were ready to announce the surrender.

TWO TERMS ARE ENOUGH

Mayor La Guardia has told the people of New York that he has decided not to run for a fourth term as mayor, but he left the back door open by adding that, despite his own feelings, "the decision must be left to the people." In other words, he is available if there is a "draft," such as occurred with the help of considerable manipulation at the Democratic national convention of 1940.

We are glad that La Guardia has shown at least a degree of perception that unlimited tenure in office is a bad thing. The constant reelection of executives results in the creation of great political machines which are antagonistic to the republican form of government. We are not sure that that is the determining factor in La Guardia's announcement that he will withdraw, for he complains that not a single party leader wants him reelected.

As a rule, however, long tenure builds up a burocracy which is merely an extension of the predominant party and makes it doubly difficult to dislodge those in control. The sole interest of the jobholders, from the highest to the lowest, is perpetuation in office, principally because of the political rewards thus conferred upon them, but partly because of the sense of power given them. We have seen how arrogance toward the people comes to mark those long in office. They are intolerant of any ideas except their own, and any contention that good government, or better government than their own variety, can be had from another group is branded heresy, disloyalty, fascism, or worse.

We should like to see two term constitutional limitations in federal, state, and municipal governments. When the same men are reelected time after time, we approach European systems of government and depart from the distinctively American system. We imagine that few Americans will say that Germany was improved by 12 years of continuous rule by Hitler; that Italy was a better country because it was called upon to endure Mussolini for 23 years, or that Russia has known anything of freedom in compensation for six years of Lenin and 18 years of undisputed rule by Stalin. Nor would we expect very many people to say that 14 years of continuous rule by one party, the last 10 of them without a popular election, have strengthened democratic processes in England.

The slogan and demand of dictators has always been for order, hierarchy, discipline. Something of the same character is demanded in the United States when a man and a party are too long in power. The order and discipline are sought thru the suppression of dissent. The hierarchy consists of the party faithful, from the leader down, who benefit at the expense of the people and the general welfare. Congress and the legislatures, with abundant proofs of these dangers before them, should move without delay to correct the situation by voting two term limitations and restoring American processes to American government. Tradition alone will not dissuade willful men from seeking to remain endlessly in power.

President Truman recently got into the Pentagon building and out again in less than two hours, thus adding immeasurably to the growing feeling that he is no ordinary man.—Memphis Commercial Appeal.

Two-thirds of the Rosies in one war plant are ready to return to the kitchen, if they can remember not to reach in a hip pocket for the wad of waste to wipe a platter.—Detroit News.

THE IRON MENAGERIE

In this cage you may observe a curious creature from Norway whose name puzzles your lecturer. It may be either Quisling or Lemming. At any rate, we understand that it means a peculiarly obnoxious kind of Norwegian rat. The effect of this specimen upon the human race is curious. Whenever seen or mentioned, it causes people to hiss, thus: "Quiz-z-z-ling."

Over there, apparently enjoying his captivity, temporarily safe, is the largest example of wild life that ever roamed the gloomy forests of Götterdämmerung. It was brought back alive from the enchanted mountains of Berchtesgaden, where it used to frolic with the wizard of that region, who recently vanished in a chariot of fire. This enormous mass of protoplasm is said to have stunted its growth in youth by eating morphine; otherwise the cage would not be big enough. Its name is Goering, commonly pronounced to rhyme with boring.

The adjacent booth, unfortunately empty, was specially constructed for the exhibition of the Big One Who Got Away. Observe the naturalistic touches of furniture—a paperhanger's equipment, a rug to chew, a crystal ball, and a radio loud speaker. Neither hide nor hair of this unique beast remain on earth, according to report, and there is a legend that it was carried away by the devil, after a long argument over priorities.

This menagerie, folks, is being rapidly expanded, and we plan to have new specimens on display every week for an indefinite period. Come back again to expand your education. . . . The ushers will now pass among you for contributions to finance our expedition to the orient, where material for next year's show, equally astonishing, will be gathered.

THEN PEACE WILL COME

Peace will not come tomorrow
By flaming ships in air,
Or the tramp of vandals' feet
Over a land once fair;
By shells that rain on cities,
Lining the streets with dead,
While drooping children
Cry out to be fed.

Peace will not come tomorrow
While despots still expound
Their cult to blind and pinioned youth,
Then fetter a free man, bound
So that his struggling spirit
Once joyous, unrestrained,
Lies like a wasted river
Contaminated, drained.

Peace will not come tomorrow
By altars built to fame,
While creeds, rooting like bitter weeds,
Intolerance proclaim.
These are as dust and ashes.
Peace can but come again,
When, vivified, the Love of God
Possesses the hearts of men.

On the Trail of Barbarossa

I find that one version of the Frederick Barbarossa legend [April 3] places his hide-out in Hitler's favorite lurking place. See James Bryce's "Holy Roman Empire," written shortly after the Franco-Prussian war:

"To the southwest of the green plain that girdles in the rock of Salzburg, the gigantic mass of the Untersberg frowns over the road which winds up a long defile to the glen and lake of Berchtesgaden. There, far up among its limestone crags, in a spot scarcely accessible to human foot, the peasants of the valley point out to the traveler the black mouth of a cavern and tell him that within Barbarossa lies amid his knights in an enchanted sleep, waiting the hour when the ravens shall cease to hover 'round the peak, and the pear trees blossom in the valley, to descend with his crusaders and bring back to Germany the golden age of peace, and strength, and unity."

This legend appears under various forms in many countries. F. A. W.

TO AN AVIATOR BROTHER

And now I will not know you; you are of
The winds, and of the clouds, and of the skies;
And I will see the thrill of this new love
Reflected in your eager, glowing eyes;
Your soul will scan the heights unreached by mine;
Poor, earth-bound thing that also had a prayer;
Who could be lonelier than I, to find
I must remain, while you are free, up there.

I, too, had asked that I might shake the dust
From feet that wanted not to walk, but climb;
These restless feet, and heart, so filled with lust
To touch the stars, and play with space, and time;
Ah, fledgling who has found the matchless thrill
That bird-wings in an azure sky can give,
God speed you, and perhaps some day you will Come back for me, so that I, too, may live.

Friend of the Yanks

[The Friend of the Yanks answers questions of service men, veterans, and their dependents. Replies will be given by mail if stamped envelope is sent. Personal advice may be obtained from The Tribune's veterans' bureau, 1 So. Dearborn st., or by phone, Superior 0800.]

Mrs. E. B. writes: "My husband, who is about to go overseas, has written saying he has taken out a $2,000 insurance policy in addition to the $10,000 policy he had. My understanding has been that the government limits insurance to $10,000. Is this correct?"

National service life insurance is issued in multiples of $500 and may be obtained in amounts ranging from $1,000 to $10,000, but no person may have more than $10,000.

J. W. writes: "My son recently was home on furlough and when en route back to a camp in Georgia was refused the right to buy a sleeper berth. The conductor told him his furlough ticket was not good in Pullman cars. Was the conductor correct?"

Military personnel traveling on furlough ride at a reduced rate of 1¼ cents a mile. Round trip tickets must be bought from camp or station to their homes and the tickets are not good in Pullman cars nor on certain extra fare trains.

F. B. writes: "Most veterans are of the opinion that a soldiers' bonus of some sort will be paid to veterans of World War II. In the event of death of the veteran can the bonus be willed to a beneficiary or will it be payable only to the veteran if he is alive?"

Several bonus proposals have been made in congress, but no bill has been passed and inheritance will depend upon provisions of any law passed.

PURPURA—A BLOOD DEFECT

A FEW individuals have a tendency to bruise after the most trivial contact. A light bump against the corner of the table or a playful pinch will often result in a black-and-blue mark. In each instance, pressure is sufficient to rupture small blood vessels, with the escape of blood beneath the skin. Women are more likely to be affected and, in most cases, no cause can be found. Perhaps the walls of the capillaries are fragile; or the surrounding tissues may be soft and flabby, offering little protection against injury.

The condition, called "purpura," can be considered abnormal only if it appears for no apparent reason. The spots may vary from pin-point to large areas. In the beginning they are bright red in color but change rapidly to purple and fade gradually to a brownish stain. Hemorrhage is not confined to the skin. The membranes of the mouth, the gums, the stomach, or the intestines may exhibit these lesions. Occasionally swelling about a joint is observed.

In the vast majority, the difficulty is more annoying than serious. Examination usually fails to disclose any trouble with the clotting mechanism of the circulation. Apparently the tiny surface capillaries are at fault, with a proneness to "leak" at intervals.

It is generally believed that this takes place in the presence of sensitivity to some irritant. If an allergy exists, hives may develop after eating strawberries, but with these individuals hemorrhages ensue instead. Foods are not the only offenders. The use of certain drugs, as well as infections in the nose or throat may give rise to the symptom. When the causative factors are eliminated the outbreaks disappear.

Lack of vitamin C may be responsible for bleeding from the gums or into the skin and joints — scurvy. Those with extensive liver disease or anemia may present a similar picture.

Patients may be considered bleeders whose blood tests show a disturbance in coagulation. Listed in this group is hemophilia, the affliction made famous by the royal house of Spain. The defect is hereditary and is passed on to the sons thru the mother. Following a trifling accident, even a tooth extraction, oozing may continue so long that life is endangered.

Another type is so-called purpura hemorrhagica. At certain periods something happens to the blood which prevents it from clotting properly. Only one attack may be encountered. In others, recurrences are common. Hemorrhaging may be so severe that transfusions are necessary. To those who have repeated bouts, removal of the spleen frequently offers effective relief.

All persons who hemorrhage should not be classified as bleeders. In the true victim, the blood lacks the power to form a clot. Only thru a careful study of the body as a whole can the source be located. When no irregularity is detected, hygienic measures are advised including a balanced diet, additional amounts of vitamins C and K, and calcium. If enough vital fluid is lost, iron or even small transfusions may be recommended.

COLON BULGES

Mrs. H. C. writes: What is diverticulum?

REPLY

An outpocketing from the colon wall. These pouches form at a point where a blood vessel penetrates the intestinal wall, weakening it slightly. This is considered an aging process, altho constipation, straining at stool, and the persistent use of cathartics may encourage the disorder.

TEETH DARKEN

K. A. O. writes: I am 42 years old and over a period of about three months, all my teeth have become darkened. Can you offer any suggestions?

REPLY

Certain medicines and excessive nicotine are capable of doing this. If these are not at fault, I would suggest a dental appointment.

KNEES KNOCK

Mrs. B. A. writes: My 2 year old girl appears to be knock-kneed. What causes this condition?

REPLY

Rickets is the usual origin. A child with this condition should be under orthopedic management as much can be done to correct the deformity.

UNLIKELY

J. S. writes: I'm a painter and have been wondering whether my trade is causing me to grow bald.

REPLY

I don't think so, considering the number of bald people who are not in your profession.

Unfair to Suburbanites

The morning commuters' train known as the 8 o'clock from Lake Forest altho it starts at 7:56 in Lake Bluff, is probably the most conservative fast train in America and, until the war, was one of the few, if not the only, all-masculine suburban train in America. It stops only at Highland Park and hits the North Western station in Chicago at 8:40 sharp, enabling its tired business men to be at work at 9.

Its proper name, the Deerpath, comes from its leading car, a private club car called the Deerpath. This car is owned by the gentlemen who ride it, and altho all the men may not be millionaires, every one thinks they are. Their car has nice, soft seats, its own liquor and newspapers, and a colored attendant in white jacket and visored cap who carries the luggage, if any. As the train comes to the end of its morning journey, the attendant hops off and dusts the shining brass rail at the rear of the Deerpath so that the owners will not soil their fingers as they lumber out. Such luxury is for men only. Any wife who comes along has to sit in the seven coaches, the smoker, or the gambling car with the hoi-polloi. Even on these she can't sit down until after Highland Park [8:09] when all the regular customers are seated.

Every morning the same people get on in the same order and sit in the same seats. Every morning, just as the train pulls into Lake Forest, the same fat man in spectacles is seen bouncing along, a block and a half away, in an effort to make the train. Every morning some one says: "He won't make it." Every morning he does.

No one boards the train without a newspaper. When he gets on, he throws a gruff "Good morning!" to his seatmate and burrows into the news. No other words are spoken by any one. When Leo, the conductor, comes by, no one nods. [Leo, known as Count Leo, is the weather vane. In winter he wears a gray goatee and mustache. In summer he shaves them off]. The ticket [54 rides for $11.45] is thrust up from behind the news. If the customer left his wallet in his other suit, he tells Leo and is handed a slip of paper on which he writes his name, address, and telephone. The next day, without looking up, he will say to Leo: "Take two punches." Leo takes two, hands the man a stack of chits, and says, "Find yours." He does and tears it up.

Many have disposed of the news by the time the train races thru Glencoe [8:13]. A few armchair generals then revamp the strategy of the war, in whispers. Others start on the crossword puzzles. This permits an occasional question across the aisle about a six letter word meaning annoy. Out in the card or gambling car, which has tables and seats that face each other, the fiends go to work on bridge at a 10th of a cent a point. [At night the gin rummy school plays at $1 a point]. At Clybourn av. they tote up the score, then clamber into the aisles and into their overcoats. The women, who since the war comprise a subdued 10 per cent of the train's total, begin to edge toward the Deerpath private exit so they won't soil their white gloves as they get off.

Well, that is the way it goes six days a week, 52 weeks a year. Or so it went until Tuesday. That morning the men were annoyed when they got on at Lake Forest at 8 o'clock. "You'd think," they would say, "that Truman could make his speech early enough so we could hear it." But Truman had not, and the train grumbled into Highland Park [8:09]. Here all was calm and quiet, as it always is, until, suddenly, the village fire siren began to wail. The engineer held the train two minutes so all could hear it, but no one made any particular comment. All retired to the newspapers. Soon Leo tapped at the door to the smoker; Leo, a meticulous observer of the amenities, always knocks. The customers thrust their tickets up from behind the news, and Leo began to punch. Finally a bold young woman, a parvenu who began to ride the train only last July, broke the silence. "Leo," she asked, "why didn't the engineer blow his whistle on the train, too?" Leo regarded her dourly. "Can't. You got to have a reason."

JUSTICE FOR KOREA

San Francisco, Cal., May 10—As chairman of the Korean delegation to the San Francisco conference and as first president of the republic of Korea, I wish to thank you sincerely for your splendid editorial on Korea in THE TRIBUNE last Saturday and Willard Edwards' article last Monday, revealing the startling news of the Yalta agreement making Korea a victim of secret diplomacy. Korea had been sold out to Japan in 1905, but that agreement was kept secret until it was too late. Now your brave disclosure of the Yalta agreement and your courageous sponsoring of the Korean cause will help us in our 40 year struggle to establish a republican government for Korea, based on American democratic principles. All we ask now is a vote on admittance to the San Francisco conference. We know the American people want justice for Korea. SYNGMAN RHEE

THE WAY TO PEACE

Chicago, April 30—The first object of my heart is my own country. To spare my country the holocaust of another war and to save our boys from the horrible slaughter, the American people want an honorable and just peace. We want a peace treaty founded on justice for all nations, including Finland and Poland.

Give all of these nations the territory that is rightfully theirs, encourage them to adopt our American form of government, our Constitution that made us great. Every nation should be required to accord to its people full civil rights as we know them: Religious freedom, free assembly, a free press, freedom of political action, equality before the law, a free trial, etc.

Our statesmen should practice the principles set forth in George Washington's farewell address: friendly relations with all nations and no foreign entanglements. Then, and only then, we and all the world will have peace and the foreign nations will no longer go begging and exploiting. Dumbarton Oaks and Bretton Woods, foreign devised schemes, are betrayals of our American tradition. PAULA JAGEMANN

HOLDUP ON V-E NEWS

Chicago, May 7—During this day, when so many conflicting reports have come to the American people, I have found myself wondering whether we are considered children or, possibly, morons, that we cannot be told the great news which means so much to so many of us. Must we wait on as inquitous a dictator as Hitler ever was to suit his pleasure as to when news of our victorious armies can be released to us? I say shame to our news censors. C. A. JOHNSON JR.

LEND-LEASING LABOR

Chicago, May 8—We have noted much in the news recently about the proposal that reparations by Germany be made in the form of slave labor to rebuild war ravished nations.

Russia has taken the lead by estimating its needs at 10 million workers. Russia, however, has not been the only battlefield of this war. On a proportionate basis, the demands of the other nations who have suffered from German aggression will probably be as follows: Poland, 3 million German workers; France, 2 million; England, 2 million; Holland, Belgium, and Luxemburg, a total of 2 million; Greece, Yugoslavia, Austria, and Norway, another 4 million. This totals 23 million German slave laborers.

But how does this compare with the available supply? A liberal estimate of the number of able bodied workers in Germany before the war would be 28 million. However, with the depletion due to war casualties and emigration the immediate post-war number could not be more than 20 million. The demand will thus exceed the available supply by about 3 million.

With a view toward making up this deficit, we propose that the United States expand its lend-lease program to include the commodity of labor and ship to Europe the required 3 million slave workers.

This would be in consonance with our policy of rehabilitating war torn Europe and help to reach our objective of 60 million post-war jobs.

GEORGE SQUILLACOTE
PAUL REID JR.

MOTHER'S DAY GIFT

Chicago, May 6—Why all the sales promotion for Mother's day? I'll stake my last penny that there are at least one million other mothers in these United States that will back me up when I say: "Just give us back our precious boys." That's all the Mother's day gifts we will ever want. K. A. R.

NEW OWNER WANTS FLAT

Chicago, May 7—The two flat building in which we have lived for five years has been sold and [1] the new landlord, who has paid cash in full for the property, informs us that he wants to occupy our first floor apartment when the lease expires. [2] Isn't it true, that the new owner must take the flat occupied by the former landlord?

WELFARE DEPT. ASKS 12 MILLION BOOST IN BUDGET

Increase Largest Sought by Any State Body

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Springfield, Ill., May 10—The public welfare department, which operates 23 institutions, has requested the largest increases in the appropriation bills now pending before the legislature.

In the regular appropriation bill for operating expenses the department seeks $56,085,905 for the biennium starting July 1. This is $9,455,497 more than the 1943 legislature voted for the same purposes, said Thomas E. Fiske, executive secretary of the Taxpayers' Federation of Illinois, a nonpartisan, fact finding organization.

Fiske said that, barring reductions by the legislature, the public welfare department will receive nearly 90 million dollars from regular and post-war funds for the new biennium. That total doesn't provide for new buildings, he said.

3 Millions More

Excluding the cost of operating the institutions in which the state wards are sheltered, the welfare department is asking $4,512,578 for its general office and other divisional activities.

This compares with $1,133,880 for the current biennium and $869,943 for the 1941-'42 biennium, Arnold L. Lund, former state representative, reported in a recent survey.

Brig. Gen. Cassius Poust, who became welfare director yesterday, said he wouldn't comment on the appropriations until he has had time to study them.

Rodney H. Brandon, retiring director, said in an interview that the increases are justified if the department is to do its work adequately and that many of the new activities will save money in the long run.

The increase in general office appropriations—from $439,163 in 1943 to $1,363,472 requested now—included a 234 per cent boost in total pay rolls. Brandon explained the increase as being caused by his creation of seven regional offices thruout the state, all of which have been operating on borrowed employes since they were established after the 1943 legislative session adjourned.

All Seek Big Increases

The delinquency prevention division got $202,680 in 1943 and now is seeking a total of $393,527.

Other divisions handling such activities as child welfare, juvenile research, supervision of delinquents, and rehabilitation of women and girls, all showed big increases in the amount of tax funds they want. Some of these divisions are headed by social workers trained at the University of Chicago, whose school and graduates have been criticized by senators who rejected Brandon's reappointment.

A similar increase was given the division of veterans' service, much of whose activities are to be transferred to the new state veterans' commission.

Appropriation bill itemizations show big jumps also in sums asked for the welfare institutions. Brandon said the welfare department has a 100 million dollar plant and that past legislatures haven't voted enough money to maintain it properly.

PLAN TO BUILD SUPER-ROAD ON CANAL PUSHED

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Springfield, Ill., May 10—The legislature today speeded up action on the movement to construct a superhighway into Chicago on the right of way of the old Illinois and Michigan canal.

Both houses adopted a resolution asking members of the Illinois congressional delegation to work for prompt passage by congress of a bill granting to the state of Illinois all rights, title, and interest of the United States in the canal and its abutting property.

Such federal action would be a preliminary to construction of the super-highway, which would stretch across Chicago's southwest side and provide a speedy route toward the municipal airport and into downstate Illinois.

MISS SYLVIA FUHRER

A coroner's jury yesterday ordered Raymond Pease, 20, of 2150 N. Claremont av., held to the grand jury on a charge of murder after his confession to police that earlier in the day he strangled Miss Sylvia Fuhrer, 30, in the bedroom of her home at 3500 Ogden av.

Raymond Pease

Pease was found in a drunken slumber alongside the body of the woman on her bed. Later he told police he had choked her when she berated him for wrecking a truck she had purchased for him two days ago to use in his trucking business. He said he was afraid she would awaken other members of her family.

Pease did not testify at the inquest. Miss Fuhrer was employed as a federal egg inspector.

Pease is married and the father of three children.

FREE MUSICIAN, SINGER ACCUSED BY YOUNG GIRLS

John Lleneke, 20, of 6124 N. Fairfield av., who sings under the name of Johnnie Williams in a loop night club, and Seymour Salk, 21, 1548 S. Homan av., a trumpet player, were freed of charges of contributing to the delinquency of a minor yesterday by Judge J. M. Braude in Boys' court.

They were arrested on the complaint of two teen age girls who police said had run away from their homes. They are Evelyn Peterson, 17, and Kathleen Harkman, 16, both of Milwaukee. They left their homes April 4. Evelyn intended to seek voice training and a singing job.

The girls were arrested after a soldier identified Kathleen as the girl who took $4 from him in the Stevens hotel. They told Judge Braude that Salk had met them in the lobby of the night club and invited them to Lleneke's room in the Croydon hotel. Both admitted they had falsified their ages to the musicians.

FM RADIO MUSIC JUST WHAT THE DOCTOR ORDERED

Frequency modulated [FM] radio music is proving useful in relaxing and soothing patients in physicians' and dentists' offices as well as in quieting nerves and easing the minds of donors at the Red Cross blood bank, Miss Violet Kmety, program director of station WWZR, told the National Music week conferees in Kimball hall yesterday.

Miss Violet Kmety

Miss Kmety said the station has been coöperating with many surgeons and dentists for several years in providing FM music because of its therapeutic effects. She said WWZR is particularly suited to give this service because the station presents only music, uninterrupted by commercial announcements.

Miss Kmety said some dentists had told her their patients relax so thoroly to music that the use of local anesthetics for painful drilling is obviated. She also said that obstetricians have found FM music of value during childbirth.

HOUSE VOTES ITS MEMBERS $2,500 MORE EXPENSES

Boost Postage Allowance from $15 to $25

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., May 10—The house today voted each of its members a $2,500 a year expense allowance, which will be exempt from income taxes.

Then it raised from $4 to $5 a day the pay of its 50 page boys. Pay of the house journal clerk, the two reading clerks, and the tally clerk was raised from $5,000 to $7,000, and the assistant reading clerk was boosted from $3,600 to $5,000.

The congressmen also increased their postage allowance from $15 to $25 a year per member, to take care of the increased special delivery rates. It was explained that while members of congress can frank their mail, they have to pay for special delivery service.

Senate Must Concur

The expense allowance and other increases are to take effect in the next fiscal year starting July 1, provided the senate and President Truman concur. The changes were included in a 51 million dollar appropriation bill for the legislative branch.

Altho the changes do not affect the senate, the members in the upper chamber are expected to follow suit and vote themselves expense allowances.

The $2,500 expense item was attacked by a minority of both parties as a "subterfuge" for a salary increase. Opponents claimed it was ill timed, when millions of citizens have had their pay frozen under anti-inflation curbs of the administration. Rep. Rees [R., Kas.] asserted he would not take the sum, if voted.

Equal to $4,000 Raise

Members observed that the expense allowance was actually the equivalent of a pay raise of about $4,000, because it will not be taxable. Congressmen and senators now get $10,000 a year.

Rep. Brown [R., O.], a leading proponent of the increase, said every business man has a generous expense account and said constituents assume congressmen do, too. He said most members only net about $3,000 in salary, because they have to pay out $2,000 in income tax and about $5,000 a year in expenses from their pay checks.

"Back in my district," Brown continued, "they want a $10,000 congressman, not a $3,000 one." That received a big round of applause from the house. Brown also hinted it was the "rich" congressmen with independent incomes that were opposing the allowance.

"Perhaps if some fraidy-cat congressmen should be retired because of this measure, it would be beneficial," Brown added.

V-E WON'T EASE TRAVEL CURBS, ODT REPORTS

Washington, D. C., May 10 (AP)—The ending of the war in Europe will not ease the transportation problem, the office of defense transportation said today.

Describing the next 12 to 15 months as the "most critical in the history of American transportation," ODT Director Johnson said in a statement that it might become necessary to establish a system of priorities to cover the movement of civilian commodities.

Johnson said:

"We ask that the public forego all unnecessary travel this spring, next summer, next fall, and even next winter unless the Japs decide by that time that they have taken all the beating they can stand."

He specifically asked leaders of organized baseball to continue their voluntary travel curtailment agreements and other sports managers to continue or initiate similar arrangements.

The ban on auto racing and the transportation of racing cars continues in effect. Likewise, there will be no easing of restrictions on group meetings, conventions, trade shows, and similar events.

Civilian travel in the Pacific coast area "will become well nigh impossible at times during the coming months," Johnson said.

Sitdown Striking Clerks Vote to Return to Work

Twenty-four clerks who have been on a sitdown strike in the Gary plant of the Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation since Monday, last night voted to return to work—and work—this morning. The vote was taken after the management informed them they would be discharged unless they resumed their jobs and facilitated the shipment of steel needed for the war.

A RUSSIAN SAYS HE STRUCK WHILE IRON WAS SOFT

When Ignatz Chabich, 50, of 788 Milwaukee av., clouted his fellow Russian and colleague at the Advance Novelty company, 1923 North av., John Borman, 53, over the head with an iron pipe during a quarrel over the Polish boundary question, he felt he was acting with a good deal of restraint, he told Judge Gibson E. Gorman in Felony court yesterday.

"I hit him with the soft end of the pipe, Judge," he explained. The other end, he went on, was harder because of the threading or some such reason.

Judge Gorman, unfamiliar with such intricacies of metallurgy, continued Chabich's petition for probation and said he would study up on the subject in the meantime.

"And don't," he warned Chabich, "hit any more people on the head with pipes, even with the soft end."

GUERNSEY BULL BRINGS $15,000 AT DRAKE SALE

The first 67 head of Guernsey cattle sold yesterday at the dispersal of the famous Rock Creek Guernsey farm herd of L. J. Drake at Plano brought $71,000. The bull, Langwater Froward, sold for $15,000.

One of the top prices paid for a cow was $5,050 for Rock Creek Parisian, holder of a world's record for butterfat production. Drake offered 126 registered animals at auction.

Drake said he was forced to sell the herd, which took him 11 years to gather, because of shortage of farm help and increase in taxes. In recent months the farm has been struggling along with help from high school students, he said.

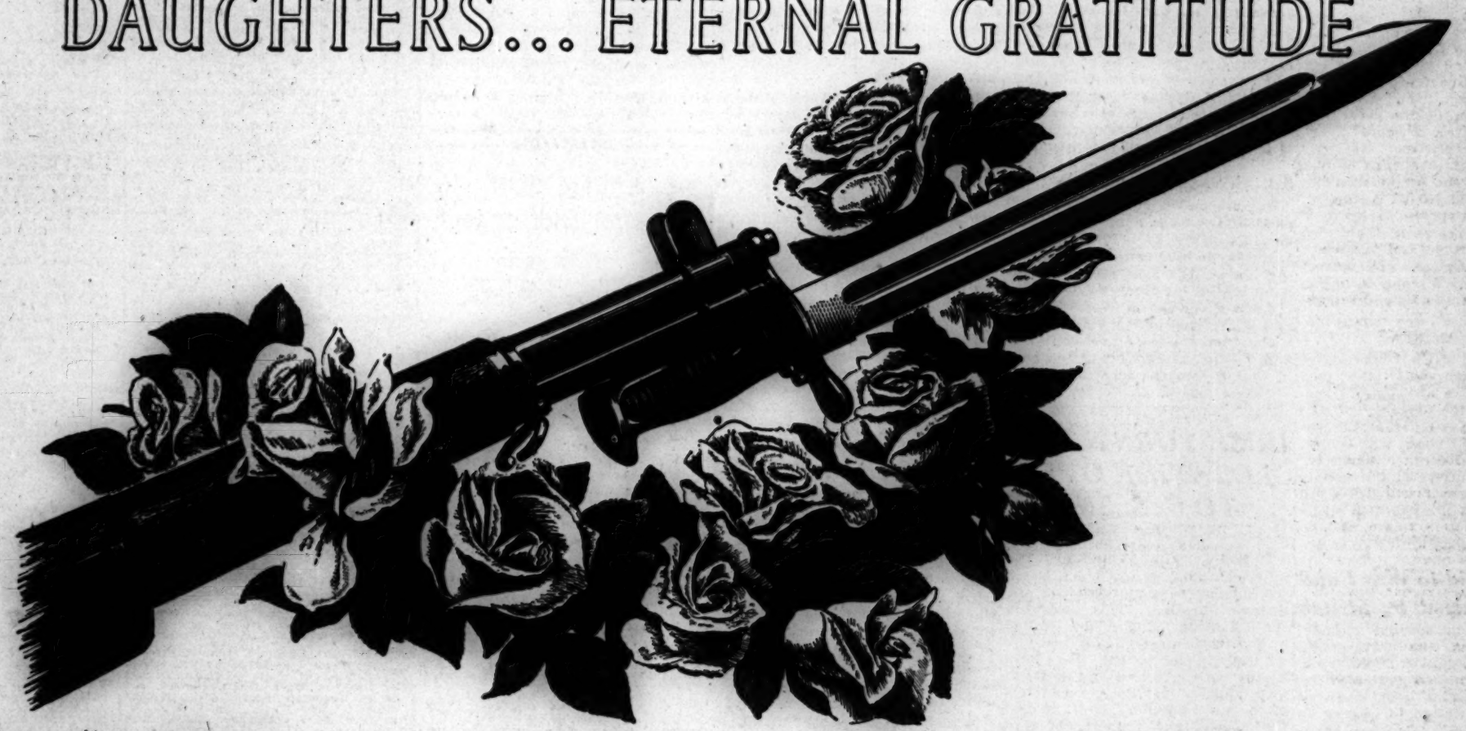
TO AMERICA'S FIGHTING SONS AND DAUGHTERS... ETERNAL GRATITUDE



With Victory in Europe comes a Challenge

GM GENERAL MOTORS

From those who have served their country on far-off fields of combat, we have now received the first priceless gift of Victory . . . and with this Victory a challenge!

For from these men who have sacrificed so much—and from the other millions who have backed their efforts by carrying on so effectively their appointed tasks at home—comes the demand that total victory and final peace, through triumph over Japan, shall bring them the opportunities for which they fought and worked—the opportunities to live, progress and prosper.

Here is a challenge to us all—a challenge to see to it that the road to realization of these natural human ambitions runs smooth and straight.

We of General Motors believe that what is good for our country and our countrymen is good for General Motors; and that there are time-tried and unfailing guides upon which Americans can depend.

They can be described in terms of certain simple "articles of faith":

Faith in America and in America's future—a future of expanding, useful productivity and ever higher standards of living.

Faith in the rightness and benefits of individual freedom and individual enterprise.

Faith in the principle that there can be no rights without responsibilities—no privileges to enjoy without duties to perform.

Faith in work, as the forerunner of reward—in incentive, as the kindling spark of productive energy—in opportunity to serve a need, as the first requirement to provide a job.

Faith in the American way of doing things, by which each person, each organization, each industry, each business must take its place—and be granted that place—according to ability and capacity—in one great, coordinated, inter-geared system of living, working and contributing to the national welfare.

Faith in America's progressive instinct and in the things which serve it—science, research, engineering, technical knowledge and skill.

Faith in the rights of great and small alike—and of the importance of each in a free, peaceful and productive nation.

Before us lies one immediate, definite task—more important than all others—to defeat Japan.

With the first big obstacle to final victory removed—it is not too soon, we think, to face the challenge of that peace which our fighting men will have won so dearly.

We believe the principles which we have stated are those with which the challenge must be met.

We believe that if we follow these principles—with stout hearts and willing hands—America's future will inevitably bring better things for more people.

Roll to Be Displayed in Loop Office

Names of those who by their purchases of war bonds for any one in the army or navy join the Dad to GI Joe club movement will be posted on an honor roll.

To extend proper recognition to fathers, mothers, or others who buy such bonds, THE TRIBUNE will display a roster of them in the windows of the Public Service bureau at Madison and Dearborn sts.

All who wish to place their names on this 7th war loan honor roll need only tell a bureau attendant they have purchased a bond for some one in the army or navy—or make the purchase right there.

Facsimiles in V-Mail Form

Facsimiles of war bonds purchased for soldiers and sailors, suitable for mailing overseas in V-mail form, will be available to all bond issuing agencies, beginning next Monday, May 14, when the drive opens.

A red, white, and blue card, suitable for pocket wallet or case, signifying that the bearer has qualified as a Dad to GI Joe club member, also is being prepared by the treasury department to be given to those meriting them, Lawrence Stern, chairman of the local war finance committee, announced.

Meanwhile, Stern met yesterday with four former chairmen of war bond drives in the headquarters of the committee at 105 W. Adams st., and all pledged themselves to form Dad to GI Joe clubs in their own financial institutions and to become members themselves. The former chairmen are Jay Whipple, Irving L. Porter, Philip R. Clarke, and Francis M. Knight.

Free Air Show

Seven planes of the troop carrier command, which will take part in the great free air show in connection with the opening of the drive, arrived yesterday at the airport, where the show will center. Bert K. Naster, president of the Superior Electrical Industries, Inc., 1255-59 S. Campbell av., is scheduled to appear before Judge Erwin J. Hasten in License court this morning on charges of violating fire prevention ordinances.

On April 12 Judge Francis Borelli in South State st. court fined Naster $100 and costs on a charge of assaulting Lt. Next Winter's Debut Parties Expected to Be More Festive

BY JUDITH CASS

NOW that victory in Europe is an accomplished fact and peace in the Pacific is a growing hope, next winter's debut season already shows signs of emerging from the quiet entertaining into which coming-out parties have lapsed in the last few years. In recent seasons parents with debutante-age daughters either presented them at informal family teas arranged at the last moment or omitted festivities because of the war.

In contrast, many of next season's buds already are planning far ahead for Christmas parties. Among them are Miss Nancy Madlener, Miss Ellen Ryerson, Miss Jennifer de Bujac Turner, Miss Elise Burch, Miss Katharine Ann Kittleman, Miss Jamee Clare Hoskins, and Miss Cynthia Wirtz.

Following the tradition of old fashioned debut parties will be a reception Dec. 21 in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert F. Madlener for their granddaughter, Nancy, whose parents, the junior Madleners, live in Lake Shore dr. The party will be followed by dinner and dancing, probably in the Woman's Athletic club. Miss Madlener, a graduate of the Westover school, is at home this year. She has a 14 year old brother, Lowden, who carries the family name of their grandfather, the late Gov. Frank O. Lowden.

Miss Ryerson, youngest of the Joseph T. Ryersons' three daughters, will be presented to society in her parents' home during the Christmas holidays, probably on Dec. 22 or 26. She is a senior at the Girls' Latin school and will go away to college in the fall.

Miss Turner's debut will be a small tea Dec. 23, during her Christmas recess from Sarah Lawrence college, in the Highland Park home of her parents, the James Allen Turners. She has two young sisters, Janann and Mary Beth.

For her debut tea in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar F. Burch Jr., Miss Burch has chosen Dec. 27, the same date on which her sister, Helen, bowed to society last year. The bud, who will be graduated June 4 from St. Mary's hall in Faribault, Minn., plans to enter Smith college in the fall.

Miss Kittleman, only child of Mr. and Mrs. H. Halford Kittleman of Dearborn pkwy., will be presented at a tea Dec. 28 in the Arts club. A senior at Girls' Latin, she hopes to enter Vassar in the fall.

Miss Hoskins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James C. Hosking, who also is a senior at Girls' Latin, will have a debut tea-dance Dec. 24 in the Racquet club. Miss Wirtz, daughter of the Arthur M. Wirtzes, also will have a Christmas party. A senior at Girls' Latin, she will go away to school in the fall.

Refrigerator Cake Is Decorative and Delicious

(Other recipes, menus, and food suggestions and news will be found on page 23)

A handsome refrigerator cake makes a fine showing on a springtime buffet table, and this three layered beauty is just as good to eat as it is to see. Sponge or angel food cake layers are put together with a fruity filling and served with a snowy coating of whipped cream. Here's how to make this dessert: [TRIBUNE Studio Photo]

Use day old sponge or angel food cake, large size. Slice into three layers and put the first layer on a large platter. Moisten with pineapple juice, spooning it over cake in small amounts. Over this spread jam or jelly, then a layer of boiled custard. Sprinkle with chopped almonds and finely chopped fresh or canned pineapple. Add another cake layer and repeat. Moisten third layer with pineapple juice only and place in refrigerator to chill for several hours [not over night]. When ready to serve, frost cake with whipped cream [well chilled cream which has stood in the refrigerator 24 to 36 hours will whip] and garnish with wedges of pineapple, whole almonds, and maraschino cherries. [Filling requires 1 cup boiled custard flavored with 1 teaspoon almond flavoring, 2 cups canned or fresh pineapple chunks, ½ cup jam or jelly, 1 cup chopped almonds, and ½ cup pineapple juice.]

Advance Plan for Entrances to Aid Cripples

New public buildings to be erected thruout the state and old structures now in use will be designed or altered to facilitate the problem of entrance for cripples, Mrs. Margaret Pope Hovey, chairman of the gound level entrance committee of the Illinois Association for Crippled, reported yesterday.

The association, whose recent proposal that ground level entrances or specially constructed ramps be installed in public buildings, has been notified by C. Herrick Hammond, state architect, that steps will be taken to adopt the proposal, Mrs. Hovey said.

"I have already given instructions to our office to see that proper provisions are made in new buildings and we will see what can be done in some of the older structures," a letter from Mr. Hammond to the association stated. "I am greatly interested in this and realize that it is a glaring fault to design public buildings without ground entrances."

Wounded veterans on crutches and others likewise hampered spend their leisure time and money in movie theaters and stores which have ground entrances, Mrs. Hovey said. Museums and cultural buildings, where admission is free, generally are terraced with long flights of steps, she asserted.

Barred, too, from these public buildings because of the exertion required to mount steps are heart disease patients, whose numbers are increasing thruout the country, she said.

A survey of Chicago public buildings disclosed that the association's proposal is being taken under consideration. Wagner Schlesinger, director of the Adler planetarium, expressed approval of the plan and said he would consider the advisability of erecting ramps at the side entrances of the planetarium.

At the Shedd aquarium crippled persons may use the back basement entrance if the staff is notified prior to intended visits, it was learned. No action has been taken as yet at the Art institute, the Chicago Natural History [Field] museum, whose entrance has 38 steps; the Museum of Science and Industry, with 20 steps; the Chicago public library at Randolph st. and Michigan av., where no hand rails mark the entrance, or the Chicago postoffice.

White Collar GIRL

BY RUTH MAC KAY

Lost, Strayed or Stolen

I wonder what could have become of my boss!
As to his whereabouts, I'm at a loss;
He went out to luncheon exactly at noon
And vowed he'd be back exceedingly soon,
And here it is almost a quarter to five—
O, never mind, now, for I see him arrive.
But days when I do not expect him at all
He's back 'ere I finish one personal call!

Word Study

In reply to the query about the phrase, "Make no bones about it": Of course, it means, "have no hesitation or doubt" about a thing.

Originally it seems to have been more limited in meaning. It formerly was expressed "to find no bones in," with obvious reference to soup, fish, or meat, in which bones might interfere with convenient swallowing. Thus, the expression originally meant ease of acceptance of an idea. A 17th century writer says, "who makes no bones of the Lord's promises, but swallow them all."

More recently the phrase has come to signify lack of hesitancy to act or speak, as well as to accept or "swallow."

WACs Protest Civilian Girls' Jobs in Paris

BY ANNE BRUYERE
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

PARIS, May 10—WACs in Paris protested today against the use of civil service girls sent from Washington, D. C., to perform secretarial and clerical jobs here with three times as much pay, permission to wear civilian clothes, and freedom from military restrictions.

"The WACs have been overseas since 1943," said Sgt. Mildred B. Karlsen of 3826 Octavia av., Chicago. "On D-day we worked at teletypes and radio code rooms while flying bombs and enemy planes crashed about us. Some of us were wounded. We helped set up headquarters on the continent and worked long hours, eating only half a box of K rations. For weeks we had to go on night shifts without a day off.

"We didn't gripe. We were proud of our uniforms and glad to be here to help our boys. But what burns us up is that now that the shooting and sniping are over, the civil service girls walk in and get all the breaks."

Another Chicagoan, Lt. Virginia G. Kincaid, 1400 Lake Shore dr., who received the bronze star medal from Gen. Eisenhower, said she felt the WACs couldn't be blamed for being dissatisfied.

"After having withstood the severest tests and hardships, now the WACs must work in offices with civilians who receive much higher salaries for doing much less work," she asserted. "In addition, civil service girls may wear cool summer dresses and straw hats with flowers while the WACs swelter in their uniforms. Furthermore, the civilian employes have two days off a week and are free from military drills and restrictions."

Col. J. D. Andrews of Kentucky, who has supervision of the civil service girls, said in reply to the WACs' complaints that the latter get food, clothing, and lodgings in addition to their pay.

"My secretary, a WAC sergeant, earns $136 a month and has no expenses," he added. "There are American civilians around who receive $10,000 a year and don't do a third of my work. Yet I can't complain. I'm in the army."

Beautiful Singing Distinguishes Spring Concert of Swedish Choral Club's 29th Season

The Swedish Choral club invaded three centuries of oratorio at Orchestra hall last night and did at least two of them honor with distinguished performance of Haydn's "Missa in Tempora Belli" and Fauré's "Requiem." What happened to our own century with Ralph Vaughan-Williams' "Benedicte" is a secret reserved for people not menaced by morning paper deadlines. However, considering Harry T. Carlson's way with his gifted chorus and visiting members of the Chicago Symphony orchestra, not to forget his carefully chosen soloists, I have an idea you were lucky if you could stay for the whole concert.

Mr. Carlson long has been an expert choral conductor. Otherwise he could not handle the torrent of voices that pour from the 200 or more willing throats at his command. But he must have been working at the fusion of voice and orchestra that means fully satisfying performance. There was a flow about the music, an articulation that spoke with uncommon eloquence even for a group that invariably does good work.

Because the Swedish club is essentially a straightforward group, its way with Haydn's "Mass in Time of War" had exceptional radiance and integrity, richly aided by a quartet of soloists including Thelma von Eisenhauer, soprano; Mona Bradford, contralto; Ralph Niehaus, tenor, and Reinhold Schmidt, bass. Mr. Schmidt did some particularly beautiful work in the Agnes Dei Haydn set with cellos in the Gloria.

Compared with the power and splendor of the great Haydn masses, Gabriel Fauré's "Requiem" is a subtle work, lyrical in design and delicate in texture. It has its weaknesses, but there are few lovelier phrases in music than the murmur of "Requiem aeternam" that brings it quietly into being. Mr. Carlson gave it simple, unaffected performance, balancing the choirs expertly, and Miss Von Eisenhauer was ideal in beautiful soprano and serene musicianship for the gentle "Pie Jesu." I was sorry not to hear her in the "Benedicte."

Victory Concert

Whenever you talk about music that might be played at news of victory, some one suggests Beethoven's "Eroica" symphony, which is both a memorial and a triumph. Not many of us here at home felt that celebration is due until the war in the Pacific is ended, and that was the general attitude of officials on the western front. But out in the Pacific Wednesday night the Manila Symphony society opened its season in the roofless ruins of Santa Cruz church, with six American military men among the 79 players, with Mrs. Douglas MacArthur and ranking American officers in the audience of 1,200, and with bulldozers rumbling an obbligato outside as they cleared away the debris of war. That concert began with the "Eroica," and what would you have given to hear it under those conditions?

There's Special Appeal to New Day Dresses

BY REA SEEGER

Summer day time dresses, extremely simple as to silhouette, look quite ordinary off the figure. But when being worn, they achieve a definite chic because of the body revealing fit and the soft details of side-swept drape and unusual necklines, and the very brief, if any, sleeves. These are foundation dresses of unbeatable swank, because they will serve as basic costumes with which to vary the still exciting game played with costume accessories.

And summer time accessories this year are something to really make fashion history. Those in pastel tints are smarter and newer than the chalk white gloves, vestees, hats, and bags usually worn with summer time dark street shades.

The first light background prints are here, prints of multi-colored flowers, with the theme of garden flower bouquets still the top favorite. Second in popularity are the simple dresses of dotted materials, white on green, red on white, navy blue on pink, and chartreuse on gray. These, too, have been fashioned with extreme simplicity, thereby making the most of the smart dotted print. Copper and deep caramel beige are two smart neutrals to wear instead of the usual blacks or navy blues.

Cottons and rayon mixtures, linens, and the trick new sheers are this summer's best buys in these dresses. The cottons will tub, and keep you cool and spotless thru the stickiest warm weather. The sheers in wide-open meshed materials are other air conditioned charmers in pastel or dark color contrasts. The smooth, silky-looking new rayons, with or without prints for detail, are particularly effective dresses for party and dress parade occasions. Check for important fashion details, the high covered neckline, the wide shoulders without benefit of sleeves, the tiny waistline, and the side drapery motifs.

TILLIE'S ESTATE

Kim gave Lt. French a quick look. He wasn't a bad guy, French. "I really am sorry, French, but I can't talk. It isn't my secret."

"Look, Kimball. I'm not at all sure this correspondence has anything to do with these crimes. But that last wire . . . coming just before Mrs. Paradine's death. . . ."

"But I didn't even get it till the next day."

"One of the girls at the Western Union says she phoned it out here. She was sure she was speaking to you."

Kim shrugged. "Sorry, but she's wrong. I didn't get it. The wires have nothing to do with these crimes. But I can't discuss them. I'll swear on any oath if you like that it's a private matter."

French took a long breath. "If this was anything but a case of murder, Kimball, I'd let it stand at that . . . but, look here, can't you tell just me? I swear I won't use it if it really has nothing to do with this affair."

Kim said, exasperatedly: "But, lieutenant, I've already committed myself by all that's holy not to tell. I can't . . . and that's all there is to it. If you've got to lock me up, give me time to get my toothbrush."

The lieutenant's chest rose and fell. His lips were drawn tight.

Finally French said in a smoothered tone:

"That's all . . . for now."

Miss Warburton sat down on the cool, shady seat on the edge of the ravine.

She began briskly. "Now, let's settle this thing permanently. I can't marry you . . . ever. Even if I wanted to. Tillie's death finishes everything. I don't know if I've been framed by some enemy or if it's simply diabolical luck."

The senator's thin mouth twisted scornfully.

"All I'm asking is that you simply become engaged to me . . . for the duration."

"But you said before you wouldn't let me renege."

"Can't a man change his mind?"

"I'm sorry. I just can't do it."

"All right. But can't you at least realize that as soon as they find the real criminal you'll be cleared of everything?"

"Yes. When!"

"They're working on it. French has brains."

"O, please. It's sweet of you to be so prejudiced. But really you don't know me at all."

"I know you as well as I know my own cantankerous self, and I love you infinitely more."

She got up.

"Wait . . . wait. Don't go. I've something very important to tell you. About Tillie."

She sat down, against her will.

He began, "Tillie was lying for some one else. Her murder proves it."

"But there's nobody for whom she'd lie but the Jennesmas. Surely you aren't suspecting either of them."

"Certainly not Sybrand. I didn't go into details before the others, but I'll admit to you that I can provide him with a perfect alibi from 2:30 till 4 in the morning. I wakened at 2:10 and couldn't go back to sleep. So I began to read a book. About 2:30 Sybrand knocked on my door. He said he saw my light. He stayed and talked till a little after 4. He went back to his room then and I heard him moving about for half an hour or more."

She was fully alert, now. "Do you think it was a deliberately manufactured alibi?"

He shook his head decisively. "No. French asked me that when I told him about it. No. I'm an attorney, as you know. I've examined witnesses by the thousands and it takes a master mind to control every nervous reflex and one's mental processes, after murder. Even if Sybrand could have killed his sister an hour earlier than the doctor thinks possible [and I believe the doctor is right] the man could not have shown no evidence of it at all. He's not the type. I would risk my reputation that he is completely innocent of any participation."

"And that brings you to Gerrit."

North nodded. "Yes. I don't know what to think about him. That taciturn, egotistic nature may cover all kinds of depths. But I can't see any reason on earth for him to kill his sister."

"Yes, and all he seems to want in life is to make a sensation with one of his inventions, and he seems about to do it with this engine. Everything seems to be going his way at last, after a long struggle.

How could Hilda's life or death make any difference?"

North said, "That's the way I've argued it out, too."

With heightened color she said, "Well, what does bother me is this: Tillie told French that the knife was used by her in our kitchen to make a sandwich just before she went to bed the night of the crime."

"Don't worry about Tillie's lies."

"O, it's not that. But that made French show me the knife and ask me if I'd ever seen it before. I admitted I had cut the stems off some roses the evening before the crime."

The senator whistled between set teeth. "Must you do these things, Olivia?"

"But I had to tell him how I recognized it, otherwise it would have been worse. I suppose now he'll be all the surer that the knife got into my dreams because I'd used it earlier. You see, I keep getting in deeper and deeper. Really, I would be relieved if I didn't have to worry about your career, too."

"Olivia! Do you worry about me?" he exclaimed. "But to get back to Tillie. Have you heard of her estate?"

"Tillie! Tillie's estate?"

"Yes. She left over $30,000."

"Thir-ty-thou . . . O, she couldn't. Why, she got only $40 a month here."

"And saved practically every cent of it. And loaned it out to her friends and relatives and got it out of them. Never lost a penny! And three days before her death, she deposited $5,000 in cash in her bank."

"I can't believe it. Thirty thousand. Who gets it?"

"She died intestate," the senator answered. "Her relatives can have a grand free-for-all. It proves the woman would do almost anything for money, and probably did. In this case, the price was $5,000."

"But," she objected, "You don't know that that money wasn't a repaid loan."

"O, yes, I do. She kept very efficient books in her own original way. That money had nothing to do with her Shylockian activities."

She sighed deeply. "I hate to have you waste your time on such trivialities."

Fertility Clinic Aids 90 Women of 100 Studied

The Illinois League of Planned Parenthood affiliated with the Margaret Sanger centers, which was concerned for years only with the "spacing" of children, this month marks the completion of the first year of its fertility clinic for childless couples.

The results have been satisfactory, Dr. Richard Frank, obstetrician and gynecologist in charge of the clinic, reported yesterday at a staff meeting of the league and the Margaret Sanger centers in the clinic office at 203 N. Wabash av.

The work has been 90 per cent successful, for only 10 per cent of 100 cases studied in the first year proved to be hopeless, Dr. Frank said.

"Of course, the women who have appealed to the clinic for aid have been married from three to 20 years without bearing children and have seen several doctors in that time," he explained. "In this way, the obviously hopeless cases have been weeded out and mostly those women who still had hope of having children have come to the clinic. They are in fact the most complicated cases and each is individualized."

Dr. Frank pointed out that the medical treatment under any circumstances requires a long period of time, but added that the results have been satisfactory.

Because the clinic still is new and plans for an expansion program depend upon war conditions, appointments for treatment must be made at least one month in advance, Mrs. Francesca Meucci, director of the Margaret Sanger centers in Chicago, explained.

"We have always been interested in parenthood and realized that the problem of the childless couple was extremely important," Mrs. Meucci said. "Childless marriages range from 10 to 20 per cent, but what the majority of these couples do not realize is that something generally can be done."

Mrs. Ben Humphreys Gray, executive secretary of the Illinois League of Planned Parenthood, explained that the clinic is the only one of its kind in Illinois except that of Chicago Lying-In hospital.

Pretty cotton play clothes for boys and girls ages 3 to 6 are plentiful and made of a variety of materials, including seersucker, percale, white and colored twills and gabardines, and butcher like linen weaves.

A demure little bloomer girl will be a sensation in the red and white striped percale outfit at the left. Self-ruching trim is around the armholes, legs, and low cut neckline. Elasticized shirring marks the waistline and is used around the legs under the ruffles. This little one piece model fastens on the left shoulder with pearl buttons.

Sturdy little boys are a perfect picture in the white cotton gabardine sun suit in the center which is trimmed with red and white braid. Straps over the shoulder fasten on to a shirred elastic waistband in back.

White cotton again is featured in the little girl's sun back dress at the right. Blue rickrack braid trims the skirt and shoulder bands. Dutch windmills are embroidered in red, green, and blue on the bib. The waistband is smooth in front and shirred in back to fit snugly.

Not illustrated are some blue and white striped seersucker sun back suits which may be worn by both boys and girls. They are an ideal solution to the laundry problem, since they wash like a handkerchief and need no ironing.

The Inquiring Camera Girl

[The Tribune will pay $5 for each interesting question submitted by a reader and used by The Tribune. Today's question was submitted by Mrs. G. Markham, 314 E. Hayden st., Prairie du Chien, Wis.]

THE QUESTION

WHERE ASKED

5 North Wabash building.

THE ANSWERS

Theodore Thomas, wholesale meats, 4256 N. Keeler av.—My most trying task is to remain honest in the face of temptation. Every day some one offers me the sky for meat. You'd be surprised to know what people will pay for a roast, a side of bacon, or a tender steak. I don't blame them but I can't help them, either.

Robert M. Hoffman, steel technician, 501 N. Central av.—I'm on the road most of the time and can't get home every night. I have to eat my meals out. My hardest job is trying to pick a place to eat where the food is good and the service is acceptable. Eating at home would be a pleasure but eating out is a job.

Ruth Ewing, stenographer, 4448 Gunnison st.—First thing in the morning the alarm rings. Mother gets up and I go back to sleep. She calls me and I still sleep. In the meantime I dream I'm getting up, dressed, and eating breakfast. At the last minute she calls me again and I jump out of bed and hurry. I hate to get up.

Paula Giacomarra, secretary, 134 Main, Batavia—Getting ready the previous night the clothes that I'm going to wear the next day is my biggest job. First I decide what dress I'm going to wear, press it, and see that there are no spots on it. Then I pick out the accessories I want to wear with it.

Mrs. Hugh Mackey, housewife, 841 Keystone av.—Every day I go from store to store looking for canned baby food. My doctor says I have to buy vegetables with beef in it. Same story every day—"We don't have any." But by shopping at every store every day in the week I manage to buy some now and then.

Frank Kelly, poultry salesman, 4256 N. Keeler av.—Keeping away from customers because I don't have any poultry is trying to me as a salesman because the situation used to be the reverse. So I won't have to answer the telephone and say "No" I go to the restaurant at least 10 times a day for a cup of coffee.

Thru the Looking Glass

If you're still trying to decide on a remembrance for mother, perhaps the idea of a perfume compact will appeal to you, and we feel sure the gift will strike mother's fancy.

Perfume in solid form has much to recommend it. It's nonspillable and nonevaporating, retaining its original fragrance until the last bit has been used. And, more than that, it's handy to carry in a purse. The woman who owns a perfume compact can whip it out whenever she feels like using a dab of the fragrance. This is no mean feature for the busy mother who has little time to devote to herself and is apt to dash off for a social engagement without having had a chance to get at her perfume bottle.

The perfume compacts we have in mind are of nice proportions, about the size of a silver dollar and not much more than a quarter of an inch deep. Made of light plastic and attractive in color and design, they take little room in and make a nice addition to a handbag.

There are two fragrances to choose from. One is a light, refreshing scent, a sweet kind of blend that lends itself nicely to all around wear. The other is a heavier, more sophisticated perfume, ideal for the woman who likes the subtle, exotic variety of scents.

A touch of the perfume at the wrists, throat, or ears effects a pretty aura of fragrance about the person which doesn't fade away quickly, but rather improves as it is worn, the warmth of the body seemingly releasing the full beauty of the perfume.

These perfume compacts are moderate in price and pack a lot of glamor in a little package.

State Street Council Gives Breakfast for Army Nurse Recruits

In what Lt. Col. Martha J. Clement, chief nurse of the 6th service command, hailed as the first gesture of its kind in the country, 50 army nurse corps recruits were feted at a breakfast yesterday morning as guests of the State Street council. Tributes to the nurses in service and to the young women for the step they had taken were accorded by military and business leaders.

Col. William Aldus read a message from Maj. Gen. Russel B. Reynolds, commanding general, 6th service command, and other speakers included Col. Clement, Comdr. Mary Towse of the navy nurse corps, Mrs. Garland F. Thomas, professional chairman, nurse recruitment, and Willard W. Cole, president of the council. Each nurse received two gifts, a beauty kit from the council and a testament presented by Col. James McBride, army chaplain.

All 50 recruits were from the 6th service command area, and 20 were Chicagoans. After the breakfast, they left for their training period at Camp McCoy, Wis. Two more breakfasts for nurse recruits will be held by the council on May 17 and 24 in the Carson Pirie Scott & Co. tearoom, scene of yesterday's event.

Headed for Heartbreaks Because Of This Neglect?

It is a tragedy to see a sweet little girl gradually grow up into a self-conscious one who, by the time she is 16, is ashamed to smile because of bad teeth or ashamed to dance because of her bowed legs! But it is a tragedy that can happen to any girl, yours included, who from birth grows up on a diet inadequate in the bone-building minerals and Vitamin D, so essential to strong bones and sound teeth.

Deficiency in these minerals, especially calcium, often is a limiting factor in bodily development. That is one reason doctors talk so much about milk for growing children. Milk is our best food source of calcium. Do your children get enough milk... at least a quart every day? Many children just don't like to take that much every day! That's why Cocomalt in milk is so helpful.

Cocomalt* is so rich in calcium, it makes 3 glasses of milk equal to a whole quart in calcium value! (Also, this supplies the day's full minimum requirements for iron, phosphorus, Vitamins B_1 and D.) And remember, too, Cocomalt's delicious chocolaty flavor makes children love their milk! Start your children on Cocomalt today. Save this as a reminder.

Ideas for late evening snacks which are hearty, easy to prepare, yet a little "different" are in demand by today's busy hostesses.

The hot open face sandwich is as good an answer as any for a filling snack to accompany hot coffee or a stein of beer. Spreads for the bread or bun bases may be made in advance, stored in the refrigerator, and later made ready for the table quickly. These toppings for the open facers will appeal to the hostess who is seeking something more original than the much served broiled cheese and bacon sandwich.

Broiled Tuna-Cheese Sandwiches

[Serves six]

1 can tuna fish, flaked
¼ cup mayonnaise
12 stuffed olives, chopped
½ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
6 slices bread or 6 rusks
¾ cup grated American cheese

Combine tuna fish, olives, mayonnaise, and Worcestershire sauce; add salt to taste. Spread on toasted bread, rusks, or toasted buns; sprinkle with grated cheese. Place under moderate broiler long enough to heat the topping thru and melt the cheese. Cut bread in half diagonally to serve or serve rusks or buns whole.

Hot Filled Buns

[Serves 12]

1 can luncheon meat
4 tablespoons minced onion
1 medium green pepper, minced
2 tablespoons catsup
1 cup grated American cheese
2 tablespoons milk
2 tablespoons chopped sweet pickle
4 tablespoons melted margarine
12 large buns

Put meat and onion thru food chopper. Add remaining ingredients and place between split and buttered buns. Wrap in wax paper and place in 300 degree oven for about 15 minutes. This mixture also may be used for broiled open face sandwiches.

Note: In order that the sandwich mixtures may not be too cold when used on the bread bases, it would be well to leave them at room temperature for two hours before using.

Toasted Deviled Hamburgers

[Serves eight]

1 pound ground beef
2 tablespoons chili sauce
1½ teaspoons prepared mustard [yellow or brown]
1½ teaspoons prepared horseradish
1 teaspoon minced onion
1½ teaspoons Worcestershire sauce
1 teaspoon salt
¾ teaspoon pepper
8 slices bread, or 8 rusks or buns

Combine ingredients and spread on bread, rusks, or buns. Broil for about 8 minutes at moderate heat and serve immediately.

Here are other ideas for simple but delicious late snacks:

Broiled "Hot Dogs"—Split long buns in half lengthwise, spread with butter or margarine, and lay weiner split lengthwise on the top of each. Sprinkle with grated cheese and place under a moderate broiler until cheese is melted and weiner heated thru.

Broiled Baked Bean Sandwich—Place 1 large spoonful of baked beans on a slice of toasted bread and cover with grated American cheese. Top with slices of bacon. Place under slow broiler until bacon is crisp and cheese is melted.

City Dwellers Left in the Red on Red Points

BY ARNOLD ERICKSON

A plan launched in a farming region of North Dakota to collect "millions of red points" to be used in the civilian market to buy meat for shipment to the peoples of Europe is falling flat in the more populated regions. The reason is not hard to figure out. The civilian meat allotment is so low that it may become a threat to civilian health, according to some dietitians. In other words, most housewives in the city just cannot spare even one of those precious red points, no matter how worthy the cause.

Only farmers and persons who eat most of their meals in restaurants could contribute to such a collection without giving up meat a large part of the time. Many farmers butcher live stock and churn butter for their own use, and, according to OPA rules, they can have, point free, all they want of what they produce themselves. Fifty red points a month mean little to some farmers. But to the average city family they have become more precious than money.

According to the government's own data, the per capita consumption of meat in this country now is at the rate of about 115 pounds a year, lower than ever before. However, most housewives wonder how they can buy 115 pounds of meat with the 600 red points they now get for a 12 month period. It just doesn't figure out. The quota last year was on the basis of 640 red points annually. This year's allowance represents a cut of 6 per cent, but actually civilians are getting 25 per cent less meat than they averaged last year, and their diet shows a much greater cut than this when compared with May, 1944, because many meats were not rationed then. The number of points civilians get is not as important in determining what the family eats as the point value of meat, or the percentage of the various cuts on or off the ration list.

Remember all that meat available without points at times last year? There was little worry then about how many red points housewives had to spend. Utility beef and veal was point-free for many months, and butchers had more of it than the people wanted to buy as long as the western ranges moved cattle to market in big numbers. However, beef production now is 30 per cent below last fall.

In a surprise move on May 3, 1944, all meats except beef steaks and beef roasts were suddenly released point-free to civilians because packing plants then were jammed full, behind a bottleneck created by OPA. For a time civilians enjoyed a bonanza. They used their red points for the purchase of beef steaks and roasts and had plenty of other meat besides.

More meat cuts now require points than at any time since rationing began. In fact, only some low grade mutton is point-free, and who can find a piece of mutton without giving the butcher points. There is an outlet for any meat you can name—and with points. Some butchers have been known to demand more than the required points for some desirable meat cuts, indicating another sort of black market. There is a cash value on red points, quoted in various parts of the country at from $6 to $7.50 a thousand.

Unlimited Horizon for Food Freezing Is Seen by Expert

It will not be long until nearly every food may be successfully frozen and kept at home, Miss Verna L. Miller, home economics director of General Motors corporation's Frigidaire division, predicted here yesterday. She said experiments have been so successful as to indicate that home freezing of both cooked and raw foods is possible on an almost unlimited scale.

Freezing of breads, pies, and cake, already baked, have caught the housewife's fancy even more than fruits, vegetables, and meats, she said. Such products will keep for three months or more, compared with keeping qualities of about a year for most fruits, vegetables, and meats.

Furniture Need for Two Homes Is Told by Sally

[Sally Joy Brown department activities are sponsored by Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.]

BY SALLY JOY BROWN

A south side social worker has requested emergency aid for the L. family, which comprises parents and three children, 6, 4, and 3 years old. The family is just beginning to establish itself in a home. The father, who has a cardiac ailment, recently found light work in a war plant, and is eager to move his family into adequate quarters. Furniture for four rooms is necessary before this hope can be realized. The most essential items are kitchen table and chairs, utensils, living room furniture, dressers or chests of drawers, and lamps. Cots already have been supplied. The assisting agency will make the necessary cartage arrangements, but offers from the general vicinity can be most conveniently called for.

Mrs. K., mother of two small children, found it necessary to arrange for their care while she worked at a war plant to support them. Because they were neglected one child became seriously ill and had to be hospitalized. An agency has offered assistance which will enable her to stay home and provide a home for them. She has rented a small rear flat and hopes, thru the aid of our readers, to furnish it. Specifically requested items include an icebox, kitchen table and chairs, living room furniture, utensils and dishes, dresser, curtains, bedding, and lamps. The address is on the west side.

The bidding:

East	South	West	North
1 diamond	Pass	1 heart	Pass
2 clubs	Pass	3 diamonds	Pass
3 spades	Pass	6 diamonds	Pass
Pass	Pass

Opening lead: King of spades.

The bidding of today's hand was in accordance with modern standards and requires no particular comment, except, perhaps, East's bid of three spades, which serves a dual purpose. It permits partner to contract for game in no trump, if that appears to be the best "spot," or enables partner to proceed towards slam if his hand is suited for the purpose.

The spade opening was the only one that could provide the declarer with any serious worries. He naturally took the trick and was faced with the problem as to how to manage the trump suit. Were the queen of diamonds the only consideration, the proper procedure would be to finesse the jack on the second round, inasmuch as the odds favor the finesse rather than the drop with five cards out.

But declarer realized that even without capturing the queen there was still a chance to fulfill the sporting contract. He decided first to try to drop the queen of diamonds doubleton. If that failed there was still the chance that the clubs would break three-three so that dummy's spade could be discarded on the fourth club. And even if the clubs split four-two there was the slight additional chance that the player with the queen of trumps would have to follow to all the club leads.

When the queen of diamonds dropped on the second round, there was, of course, no further problem and the last trump was extracted, East and West being rewarded with a well earned slam. Declarer's technique was sound. On the trump play while percentages favor the finesse, that play is only slightly superior to the drop. And the loss of advantage there is more than offset by the additional chances, provided in the attempt to get a fortunate break in clubs. In a word, two chances are usually better than one and it is generally poor policy to park all your eggs in one basket. Depending solely on the diamond finesse would be doing just that.

The usual weekly quiz will appear tomorrow.

Probe Cause of the Child's Early Waking

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

[Copyright: 1945: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

"We'd love to accept the invitation," said a mother to a friend, "but we just don't go out in the evening any more. We can't, because we are always too tired.

"Billy wakes up before 6 o'clock every morning and will go back to sleep only if we take him into our room. He'll play awhile—which means no sleep for us—and sooner or later he'll climb into bed with me or his daddy and drop off for an hour or more. By that hour our day has begun in earnest and we've no time for an extra snooze. From there on, there's no rest for us."

The suggestions I am going to give today on the subject of children waking up too early in the morning cover a wide range of ages—up to 9, 10, or even 11 years.

Many children have a bed hour which is early enough, perhaps 7, 7:30, or 8:30. If they sleep thru to 7 or 7:30 in the morning this allows them an adequate night's rest. But if they wake up at 5:30, 6, or 6:30 and cannot go to sleep again, then one or two hours are clipped off their rest. This is not good if it happens frequently. Full rest is of paramount importance.

One common reason why children wake up before their regular time is because they are in discomfort from the necessity of going to the bathroom. Having once gotten up at an hour so near their regular waking, they cannot go to sleep again.

Attention at about 11 or even 12 o'clock at night will frequently do away with the too early waking. It is especially helpful for the child who always drinks freely of milk and water. Awakened at 11, made comfortable, then freshly tucked in, with the addition or subtraction of covers, many children will sleep thru their full quota, and more restfully, too. Children can be awakened for this purpose without disturbing their rest, and they will drop off to sleep again right away.

In waking them at night do so very gently. They must not be startled from sleep, and if they are in one of those profound slumbers and cannot be easily aroused, it often is better to let them sleep right thru until morning.

Another suggestion when your child awakens too early in the morning, is to be sure he eliminates. Then close his windows and put him into his bed again with some playthings to amuse him. It may take time to get him to form the habit but he'll coöperate if you go about it in the right way, and may even learn to go back to sleep again without much loss of time.

It's Same Old Barbary Coast and Same Old Plot in Movie

By Mae Tinée

The Barbary Coast has been getting quite a work-out as movie material these days, and so has the same old plot. You know, the one about the rival night club owners struggling in various ways for one fair lady?

"Frisco Sal" has a few new angles, but you could hardly call them an improvement. Susanna Foster, as the lass both Turhan Bey and Alan Curtis try to chase out of San Francisco for her own good, goes the usual heroines one better. She's not only a lady with a capital L, but one from Cambridge, Mass., which seems to make it extra special.

She goes to work in a tough jernt merely because she's looking for her brother, who had disappeared some years previously and who likes duck stuffed with oranges, her sole clew to his identity. Without rehearsal, she sings her first song with a male chorus, but she's so innocent she doesn't know how to wiggle her hips without watching a helpful chorine offstage who gives her the high sign. When Mr. Bey tempts her with alcohol and nicotine she neatly dumps the first into a vase, but the cigaret makes her cough something dreadful. What does she do with her time when she's not entertaining? She's teaching and singing in a mission for down and outers!

Miss Foster has a good singing voice, but there are times when it becomes almost a weapon. I knew she was going to get her man. When she advanced fiercely toward little Mr. Bey, shrieking a song about "Beloved, give me your lips"—any one would know he was a dead pigeon.

Andy Devine bounces around like a baby blimp as a comic stooge to the wily Mr. Bey, who is decked out in sideburns and terrific ties and spends most of his time puffing big cigars and staring with lowered lids. That indicates he's a smoothy, I guess.

There also are singing waiters and the usual girls doing the can-can, or something to that effect.

P. S. The lady finally locates her brother, but he no longer likes duck with oranges. Ironic, ain't it?

"FRISCO SAL"

Looking at Hollywood

By Hedda Hopper

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., May 10—"If You Ever Need Me," Blair Treynor's first novel, has been bought by Metro. It's the story of a young fellow's blind devotion to a childhood sweetheart who becomes a murderess. Producer Irving Starr does it. . . . Remember Richard Greene, English lad who's been fighting for his country? He returns this week-end and reports to 20th for a picture. And will we be glad to see him! . . . George Sanders doesn't give a darn how he looks in "Uncle Harry" but he huddles over the telescope he loaned them like a hen over its pet chick. . . . Carey Wilson isn't going to be caught with his V-E day priority down. He's got an Andy Hardy story half finished for the return of Mickey Rooney to civilian life.

It Makes You Wonder

Mary Pickford's publicity for "One Touch of Venus" has been gigantic. I never thought she'd make it—still don't. Things have changed mightily since Mary produced pictures. Mary says she has the film for it. If that's so, I don't understand why Harry Sherman, producer of Hopalong Cassidy, cannot get film for his pictures. Parents have written that Hopalong was like a father to their kids. With the child delinquency problems, one would think Sherman should be encouraged to make more. . . . Charlie Chaplin wants another trial. I talked with some important Washington officials in San Francisco who said his being declared the father of Joan Berry's baby constituted moral turpitude—and bigger people than Chaplin have been deported on those grounds.

The Time Is Now

Had a telephone call from New York—a cry for help from Miss Fanchon. She's putting together 60 U. S. O. overseas camp shows and needs dancers desperately. Can't find them. Shows should be on their way in 60 days. Each unit needs from 12 to 16 girls. They'll be paid $70 a week and all expenses, and sign on for six months. I should think any girl in this country would jump at a chance like this. They don't have to be expert dancers. If you'll send your pictures and qualifications to her, c/o U. S. O. Camp Shows, 8 W. 40th st., New York, you'll get a hearing. Well, here's your chance, girls. Only wish my legs were younger.

It's Blue Sky Time

Irving Berlin tells me Stuart Heisler will direct "Blue Skies." They've both gone overboard on tests of Paul Draper and Joan Caulfield. Draper makes one trip east before devoting all his time to "Blue Skies. . . . "Rhapsody in Blue" hasn't yet been seen here, but was cheered at the United Nations theater in San Francisco by conference delegates. In Germany George Gershwin's music was destroyed. . . . Joan Davis must grow up and stop having those separations from her husband. And if a well known comedian doesn't stop throwing sheep's eyes at a certain comedienne, he's going to lose many followers. . . . Irving Cummings has 18 discharged veterans taking care of his two ranches. . . . George Bohannon, ex-marine, is one of the busiest guys in town, I'm happy to say. Stands in for Bruce Cabot by day. By night does duty for John Hodiak in the "The Harvey Girls." Yep, the marines are rugged!

Done in Western Style

Roy Rogers thought if he bought a hand-me-down suit, people wouldn't recognize him when he went to New York, and so when he started his cross-country trip, folks didn't. Then he started to sing, which is just as good a way to get noticed as waving a flag. . . . Ida Lupino will huddle with Jack Warner over picture she wants to do, then push off for a hospital tour of New England, which will take her well into the summer. After that, Ida, her sister, and brother-in-law, will put together an act and take it overseas, they hope. . . . Dana Andrews is still laughing about a blonde girl who crashed their dinner party. She came in with Lynn Bari and Sid Lufts. They thought she was a friend of their hosts. She was the hit of the party. When she left, they discovered nobody knew her. . . . Harry Joe Brown and his ex, Sally Eilers, seem to have much to talk about these nights at Ciro's. . . . Seymour Nebenzal will do the remake of "Mayerling"—with Hedy Lamarr and Gregory Peck, he hopes. Peck's going to have to divide himself into quintuplets. If he does, I'll bet David Selznick will come out with the face. . . . Betty Hutton becomes a mother for a day. She'll entertain six orphan girls Sunday.

Shift to Post-War Programs Is Topic for Welfare Group

Ways to move thousands of volunteers from war work to post-war programs of rehabilitation and community welfare will be discussed here today and tomorrow by directors of volunteer bureaus and advisers from nine middle western cities. The meeting, convening at 10 a. m., will be held in the Council of Social Agencies headquarters, 343 S. Dearborn st.

Miss Mary E. Judy of New York, field consultant for Volunteer Bureaus of Community Chests and Councils, Inc., will help direct the discussions, as will Mrs. Paul L. Grambs, director of the civilian defense volunteer office of Pittsburgh, Pa.

Representing Chicago groups at the conference will be Mrs. Evelyn S. Bryon, director of the OCD volunteer office, and Mrs. Marcus A. Hirschl, advisory committee chairman.

SLUM PROGRAM'S DANGER IS CITED BY CIVIC GROUP

Federation Says Billion Dollars Is Needed

A bulletin of the Civic federation issued yesterday asserted that a broader tax base is necessary "for Chicago's survival" and that a contemplated all-over program of slum clearance and rebuilding would be destructive if it left the properties off the tax rolls.

The federation said that proponents of slum clearance had set a goal—public housing for 23 per cent of the city's population and that it would require the spending of a billion dollars, about a third of the present assessed valuation of all real estate in the city.

Other points in connection with the public projects subjected to criticism were: [1] Chicago property assessments declined 50 per cent in the period between 1930 and 1934; [2] at the same time, tax rates increased more than 50 per cent; [3] population growth in the suburbs was more than 10 times that in the city.

Public Projects Hike Rents

Stressed was the fact that public housing already in existence was billed for $764,000 taxes for 1943 and that the projects offered to pay only a "service charge" of $55,000. It was also reported in the bulletin that public housing projects had increased rents in the last three years, while private owners' rents were frozen thru the period.

The bulletin asserted that while the object of public ownership was to help low income groups, the housing authorities have been admitting families with incomes up to $3,000.

The federation experts figured that to carry out the announced object of the clearance sponsors 8,500 acres of city land would have to be acquired, or 25 per cent of all city areas devoted to residential purposes. The present subsidized housing occupies 345 acres.

Alternate Scheme Suggested

A suggestion was made that the Chicago housing authority might get away from its schemes of new building, and instead rehabilitate rundown buildings, thus keeping them on the assessment rolls.

This, it was asserted, would contribute to neighborhood preservation and should reduce the cost per person housed. Attention was called to the net loss of 6,913 taxpaying dwellings in Chicago in 10 years—described as "a story of stagnation."

2 COCKTAIL BARS, 9 CAFES SUED ON PRICE CHARGES

Two cocktail lounges and nine restaurants, including four in the Ambassador hotels, were named yesterday in suits filed in federal District court by the Chicago area office of price administration and charged with over-ceiling sales. The suits seek unestimated treble damages and permanent injunctions to prevent future OPA price violations.

Named as the most flagrant violator was the Yar Russian restaurant, 181 Lake Shore dr. where, the OPA charged, a roast pheasant for two, with a ceiling price of $6.50, sold for $10. The main dining room, Pump room, Buttery, and Wedgewood room in the Ambassador hotels also were sued.

Others named in individual suits were the cocktail lounges in the House of Eng, 106 E. Walton st., and the Allerton hotel, 701 N. Michigan av., for excessive prices on mixed drinks, while food prices were found over ceiling at the Atlantic hotel, 316 S. Clark st.; Klein's restaurant, 302 S. Wells st.; Wood's restaurant, 930 N. Michigan av., and Brigg's restaurant, 186 W. Adams st.

PETRILLO ASKS FEE; CHILDREN'S HOUR OFF AIR

Washington, D. C., May 10 [Special]—James Caesar Petrillo, czar of unionized musicians, was accused before a house committee today of "arbitrary ruthlessness" in forcing an educational radio program for children off the air at Pittsburgh in a controversy over his demand for a $36 transcription fee.

His accuser today was Mrs. Fletcher Hodges Jr., member of the Junior League of Pittsburgh. She told the house interstate commerce committee that the league's weekly radio show, "Children's Bookshelf," had gone off the air at station KDKA when Petrillo, president of the American Federation of Musicians, demanded a fee for recording it.

The program, in which children's books were dramatized, was sponsored by the league with the coöperation of Pittsburgh public schools, the Carnegie library, and the radio station. Altho actors were paid union wages, most of the facilities and the radio time were donated.

A transcription of the program was made each Wednesday night and was broadcast each Saturday morning for the last three winters.

The house is now considering action such as that taken by the senate last February when it passed a bill to outlaw any interference, or conspiracy to interfere, with broadcasts of noncommercial educational or cultural programs by educational institutions.

The defendant was accused of breaking the restaurant window five times when Annes stopped buying his vegetables from Arrigo.

GOLF SCHOOL OPENS TONIGHT ON 4 COURSES

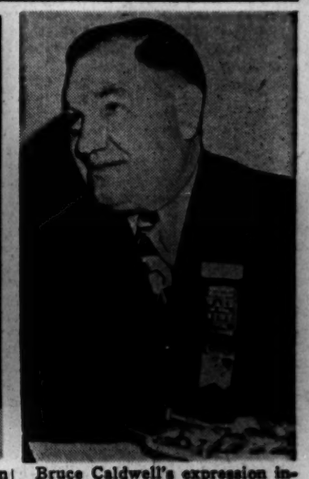
THEY UPHOLD REPUTATION OF NATION'S NO. 1 SPORTS COLUMN

There's a reason for smile with which Hilda Butler Farr surveys gathering at last night's Wake of the News banquet: she planned it!

Don't let that innocent smile on face of B. L. Bruce, one of the Wake's most popular poets, fool you into thinking he has been reciting poetry to Morrison Doc's Wife (Mrs. R. H. Lester of Morrison, Ill.). They were among 500 guests at fete in the Morrison hotel.

Lynn Waldorf, head football coach at Northwestern university and chief speaker on banquet program, has given his autograph many times, but never more willingly than here, at request of Virgie, the Receptionist (Virginia Burfeind), his neighbor at speakers' table.

Two of pioneers among Wake contributors exchange views on present day trends in columns and agree good old days were no better than the present. They are Theresa of Old St. Joe (Ella M. Bartlett, St. Joseph, Mich.), and Duke of Paducah (Guy Walker of Chicago).



Bruce Caldwell's expression indicates he'd rather see one of his contributions land in wastebasket than be in speaker's shoes!

MICHIGAN PLANS COMPETITION IN 19 SPORT FIELDS

Gold Star Flag of Michigan

FOLLOWING are names and military ranks of the eight University of Michigan athletes whose deaths have been reported; also the sport in which they engaged and their final season:

Lt. Norman C. Call, football, 1940.
Lt. Lynn C. Reinz Jr., golf, 1940.
Lt. Alan Smith, track, 1940.
Capt. Paul J. Gorman, track, 1938.
Lt. Herbert Leake, track, 1941.
Lt. Charles Kennedy, football.
Lt. William Combs, wrestling, 1941.
Capt. Robert Smith, football, 1940.

[Last of a series concerning war time athletic activities of Western conference schools, problems faced and conquered, and their post-war plans.]

The University of Michigan wants to compete in 19 sports, and perhaps more in case they have overlooked any, when calm days settle on Western conference campuses. This program, which would triple the number of competitors, has been outlined by the Wolverines' athletic director, H. O. [Fritz] Crisler, who has discussed it with sports officials of other schools.

The normal schedule of nine sports would be implemented by boxing, fencing, gymnastics, lacrosse, rugby, soccer, squash, cross country, softball, and handball. Crisler likewise would like to see 150 pound football and junior varsity elevens.

Contemplates Big Week-Ends

In his thoughts of the future, the Michigan executive pictures a sports weekend, a carnival of competition in many sports. In this survey, other conference athletic directors have talked of broadened athletic programs. The new commissioner, Kenneth L. [Tug] Wilson, is a strong advocate of expansion.

Michigan has no plans to regiment returning service men. Each will be placed on an even basis with the responsibility of finding a level or group into which he best fits. Such a plan, says Crisler, would go a long way toward providing athletics for all. At the same time it would give each student a competitive goal to strive for. His own initiative and willingness would be major factors in earning a place on his particular squad.

Home Attendance Drops

In pre-war years Michigan paced the conference in home football attendance, with Ohio State a close second. A total of 839,570 watched the Wolverines play at Ann Arbor in 1939-40-41 and in the same period Ohio State attracted 839,547 for a virtual photo finish.

But in the turnstile grouping for the last three seasons Michigan has dropped to third with a total of 583,100. This represents the most drastic drop of any conference member in the sport. Ohio State is the new leader with 794,391 during this period and Minnesota is second with 595,399. Tho Michigan attracted only 159,628 at its home games last year, it played to a total of 338,292 compared to 276,128 the preceding season. Best showing in the last six years was 1941 when 299,283 saw the Wolverines on their home gridiron.

561 "M" Men in Service

The count on "M" winners in military service is 561, of which 277 went into the army, and 247 the navy. Latest records show that eight of them have been killed, three are missing in action, and six decorated.

Wake Family of 500 Holds 4th Quipfest

BY EDWARD PRELL

The friends on whom The Wake Depends, Help! Help! came out in record force last night, sharp of wit, as usual, and downright scornful of the wastebasket scourge which on 364 other days of the year has nightmare proportions. These were their hours and 500 of the folk who like to turn a phrase or rhyme a word made the most of it in the Mural room of the Morrison hotel.

It was the fourth annual homecoming of the In the Wake of the News contributors and the 500 would have been 800 but for the times. That's all who could be accommodated and Hilda Butler Farr, originator of the homecoming, expressed regret that these 300 or more had been shut out.

Hey! Doesn't He Know This Is When Contributors Do Talking?

There were some whispered suspicions that the conductor of the column, Arch Ward, must have done a slick infiltrating job because in other years he had been emphatically told that he had no part in running the show—that he was being merely tolerated as a guest. But last night he somehow sidled back of the microphone and before most of the contributors realized it, had monopolized all of 15 minutes. This

Before he finally yielded the mike to Waldorf, the conductor had spun an interesting story of the Wake's rich background and of the gigantic scope it has attained in contributors.

Ward paid a tribute to the late Harvey Woodruff, whom he succeeded in 1937 as conductor of the nation's oldest continuous sports column. Woodruff, he said, set the present pattern and trend of the column, encouraging contributions and Ward pointed out that he has followed the same policy. When he took over the column, he said, it was getting 100 contributions a week. This was a mild bombardment compared to the 400 and 500 now received daily.

"A few years from now," Ward

38 NAMED FOR FIRST FEATURE AT SPORTSMAN'S

BY MAURICE SHEVLIN

A two division stake race, the $2,500 Inaugural handicap, has been provided as the piece de resistance for what is expected to be another opening day bulge of spectators as Sportsman's Park gets the belated 1945 Chicago racing season under way tomorrow. The handicap has drawn an entry list of 38 of the best thorobreds on the Cicero half mile plant's grounds.

Last year a crowd of 22,463 jammed the park's facilities on opening day and saw the Hilltop Stock farm's Topnard score in the first section of the feature and McIlvain and Creech's Bright Willie win the second. Bright Willie again is entered along with such speedy performers as James Sands' Latent, the Happy Hour farm's Happy Pilot, A. S. Higgins' Quizzle, C. H. Dursch's Twixt, Henry Tikulski's Bolus, Mrs. Robert McGarvey's Night Shadow and John M. Hutchins' Valdina Malden.

They're Ready to Go

Night Shadow, a mare now 5 years old, took down the $9,550 Hawthorne Autumn handicap last year, finished second to Quizzle in the $5,000 Francis S. Peabody Memorial handicap, and was second to Gold Princess in the $15,000 Modesty handicap at Washington Park. Night Shadow and Latent have been working excellently, the former breezing a mile in 1:54 1-5 in her most recent workout while Latent turned three-quarters handily in 1:19 3-5.

The Inaugural, an event for 3 year olds and upward at seven furlongs, will carry $2,500 for each division.

Purses Total $100,000

John L. Keeshin, president of Sportsman's Park, announced the distribution of more than $100,000 for the nine day meeting which will close Tuesday, May 22. The minimum purse will be $1,200 and eight races will be run each day. Admission prices remain $1 for grandstand and $2 for clubhouse.

The Sportsman's Park meeting and the Lincoln Fields session at Hawthorne which follows have attracted many good stables. Among them are C. F. Martin's from California, which has Bring Me Home and Believe here in care of Trainer Tom Marshall; the Happy Hour farm's string of 15, which includes Rosy Brand, Happy Pilot, Martian, and Starcress; O. L. Hopper's Liberty Pan and Devil's Crag; Brolite farm's Challenge Me and Roman Sox; McGarvey and Tikulski's Bolus, Holdall, Night Shadow, and Icangetit, a nominee for the Kentucky Derby; and H. J. Jacoby's Good Bid and Cracks.

Leading Jockeys Return

Among the jockeys ready to go to work are Bruno Pucci, leading rider at last fall's Sportsman's Park meeting; Marcus Pena, standout of the 1944 spring session; J. W. Martin and Tony Skoronski, two of the best on the Chicago tracks in 1944; Jess Higley, Willie Lang, Sylvester Haynes, George Ryan, Joe Cavens, Andy LoTurco, Willie Gillespie, and Eddie Franklin.

The first race tomorrow will start at 2 o'clock. On week days thereafter the first race is slated for 2:15.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

BY ARCH WARD

OHIO STATE'S football coach, Carroll Widdoes, last week complained that his former boss, Lt. Paul Brown of Great Lakes Naval Training center, was trying to sign three players for the Cleveland club of the All-America conference who have eligibility remaining with the Buckeyes. . . . Lt. Brown denies the accusation. . . . Without regard for the merits of the charges or denials, it is apparent that we will be reading about similar cases with greater frequency as we approach the end of the war. . . . The National Football league has steadfastly adhered to a hands off policy toward undergraduate talent. . . . It has been a wise program. . . . The All-America conference, which plans to begin operation in 1946, also has pledged whatever protection it can accord to college football. . . . Both leagues agree not to sign a campus athlete until his class has graduated. . . . There were no complications in the National league's enforcement of the rule until war interrupted the continuity of a young man's education. . . . Technically, the professionals are observing the regulation when they engage a boy whose class has graduated, altho he may have used only a year or two of his eligibility. . . . College coaches and some athletic directors want those young men to return to the campus and play out their remaining years of competition. . . . They don't state it quite that frankly, of course. . . . They stress the educational angle.

It seems to us that both sides overlook the all-important fact that it is up to the athlete himself to make the decision. . . . Many of them left the campus as boys. . . . They come back from the war full grown men. . . . Some have taken on added financial responsibilities. . . . If a young man of superior gridiron talents wants to pick up $5,000 or $10,000 a year and use his earnings to finance his education or to get started in business, it's up to him. . . . Only those with selfish interests will argue vigorously either way. . . . There will be plenty of material to go around, both collegiate and professional, once the Japs have surrendered. . . . It would be unfortunate if the pros went out of their way to alienate the support of college sports leaders. . . . It might be calamitous to college ball if a few unthinking representatives got into a free-for-all with the pros. . . . Both games can flourish with intelligent direction.

Prayer of Peace

O God, give us a lasting peace,
A peace that will endure;
A peace that binds all nations close
And makes our lives secure.

O God, give us a happy world
Where love and freedom reign;
A world without its battlefields
Where gallant youths are slain.

O God, please wipe away the tears

Help us to crush another war

Give us the power to understand
All nations, great and small;
Let us keep faith, O God, in peace,
Unite us—one and all.

Grimm Orders Morning Drill for Idle Cubs

BY EDWARD BURNS
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Philadelphia, Pa., May 10—Lost river, or maybe it was the Susquehanna, was swollen by rains today—rains which made it impossible for the Cubs to engage in the second game of their three game series with the tail end but hopeful Phillies. The weather man is not too promising anent tomorrow's prospects for pastiming, but if the match is possible Hank Wyse will pitch against Charley Sproull of the Phillies and Rockford, Ill.

Claude Passeau was to have pitched today, but damp weather is reported to be not good for calcified elbows. So Claude's first try for his second victory has been postponed until Sunday, when he is down in the book to pitch in one of the games of a double header in Boston. Lefty Ray Prim will pitch Saturday's opener in Boston and Bob Chipman will share double header duty with Passeau Sunday.

Grimm Calls Morning Drill

When today's game was called off Manager Charley Grimm announced that, weather permitting, the nonhitting Cub sluggers will report to Shibe park at 11 o'clock tomorrow for an especially arranged batting practice. Morning batting practice is a rarity on the road, but the Cubs have had only three playing days in the last 11, and something has to be done to get the sluggers in shape to knock the ball beyond the infield grass.

Grimm, who planned to have three teeth pulled after watching the Cubs blow to the Phillies in yesterday's opener, reduced it to one today, and then only in contemplation.

Boston Next Stop

Rain or shine tomorrow, the Cubs, according to plans laid out in today's moisture, will leave for Boston tomorrow night. The stay in Boston will be for three games—a single game Saturday and the double header Sunday. One of the few busy Mondays of the season is carded thruout the National league next week. The Cubs thus will have to struggle out of Boston Sunday evening—and the Sunday night jump from Boston to New York is the toughest in all baseball. The hope had been the Cub engagement with the Giants would be moved back.

By being rained out today the Cubs lost a chance to tie one of the most remarkable records ever set by the White Sox. Last season the Sox had eastern dates comparable to the ones the Cubs have in the east this year. And they didn't have a single postponement in the east all summer long—and none anywhere on the road after May 1.

BROWNS GET 15 HITS TO DEFEAT SENATORS, 10 TO 2

St. Louis, Mo., May 10 (AP)—The St. Louis Browns got to two Washington pitchers for 15 hits, including Vernon Stephens' fourth home run of the season, tonight to defeat the Senators, 10 to 2.

The game, the only major league contest of the day, was played in temperatures ranging around the middle 40s.

TRIBUNE, ILLINOIS P. G. A. SECTION OFFER CLASSES FOR 13TH YEAR

BY CHARLES BARTLETT

The 13th free golf school conducted by THE TRIBUNE and the Illinois section of the Professional Golfers' Association of America will open officially at 7:15 o'clock tonight on the four courses of the Chicago park district — Jackson park, Columbus park, Marquette park, and Diversey-in-Lincoln park.

If the above paragraph seems somewhat familiar to you, charge the likeness up to the fact that it also appeared in this space last Monday, the day on which the opening lesson would have been given, except for the combination of a day long downpour and the early V-E day reports.

They're Set on Holding Class

As a result of that Monday postponement, the first instruction, on the grip, will be combined with the teaching of the stance in tonight's doubled up class. The members of the Illinois P. G. A., hardy fellows who have weathered all sorts of atmospheric visitations, yesterday agreed that they will be on hand at each of the four courses at 7 o'clock tonight, come wind, rain, or snow.

The Park district facilities are such that even in the event of rough going from the skies, they will be able to complete the one hour classes. Both Marquette and Columbus parks boast fieldhouses, Jackson park has a pavilion, and the teaching group at Diversey in past unseasonable sessions has conducted its classes in a sizeable tool shed.

Indications are that the temperature will be in the 50s, with the happy prospect [cross your fingers!] that potential rainfall may hold off until after the classes have been completed.

The same lesson on the grip and stance will be given simultaneously on the four courses which have been made available thru the courtesy of the park district commissioners for the 10th consecutive year.

Here Are the Sites

The locations of the park district courses, all easily reached by rapid transit, motor coaches, and surface lines, are: Columbus park, west of Jackson blvd. and Central av.; Diversey, in Lincoln park at Lake Michigan and the foot of Diversey blvd.; Marquette park, at Kedzie av. and Marquette rd., and Jackson park, east of 63d st. and Stony Island av.

The only requirements for joining the school are one golf club and prompt attendance at the park district course nearest your home or office. The professionals who have devoted their lives to teaching the game will take charge from there on. They are interested particularly in beginners, who never have swung a club, but will welcome others who have played the game, with a view to straightening out any kinks in their swings.

Teachers Are Ready

Jerry Glynn, who this season has returned to his old home base at the Knollwood club, will be at the specially built microphone at the Diversey location. His guest tonight will be Phyllis Otto, the Northwestern university student who twice has been runner-up for the Women's Western Open title. Elmer Schacht of Ridge, who handled a similar school for a Des Moines newspaper when he was stationed in the Iowa capital several years ago, will be on hand to welcome the students at Jackson park. Tom Walsh of Westgate Valley, one of the co-founders of the school in 1933, will be in charge of the Marquette park class, and Bill Gordon of Tam o' Shanter, will return to his old stand at Columbus park. This foursome will be joined by a group of men who have made the Illinois section an outstanding member of the National P. G. A.

Lopat Faces Christopher of A's Today

BY IRVING VAUGHAN

It may have been the weather, the slim 941 cash gate at Wednesday's chilly game, or more directly the swampy condition that made Comiskey park unfit for human habitation yesterday. Whatever it was, there was no activity as scheduled between the White Sox and Athletics, the former thus being able to prolong their existence as first placers and the latter enjoying a stop on the trip that seems to be carrying 'em toward the basement.

Lopat vs. Christopher

Given a little sunshine or something, the Sox and Macks will endeavor to wind-up their series today with Ed Lopat operating against the talented Russ Christopher. Next in line will be Washington's Senators whom the Sox will try to kick around once tomorrow and twice on Sunday.

Altho first place continues in the custody of Manager James Dykes, who isn't in the habit of keeping house in such splendid surroundings, the clamor at the front door is getting very loud. Both the Tigers and Yankees are yelling about the Sox being trespassers but to this complaint the latter can prove they have a full game edge over the New Yorkers and half as much over the Detroiters.

Rivals Are Closing In

However, don't be surprised if Dykes and his boys are pitched out shortly. With two teams on their heels they can hardly dodge the eviction for long, altho they might climb back in later. More will be known about this, one way or the other, after they get thru their four game series with the Yanks starting Monday.

HOLD QUALIFYING TRACK MEETS AT 5 SITES TONIGHT

Winners Eligible for 51st State Event

Urbana, Ill., May 10 [Special]—High school district meets in Urbana, Kankakee, Ottawa, Taylorville, and West Frankfort tomorrow night will set in motion the machinery leading toward the 51st annual state track championship meet.

Tomorrow's meets will be followed by competition Saturday in 10 centers — Aurora, Belleville, Bridgeport, Charleston, Evanston, Macomb, Maywood, Peoria, Rockford, and Rock Island. In addition, the Chicago City league will name its qualifiers tomorrow.

Eligible for the state finals will be all who place first or second in a district meet, all point winners on a district championship team, and any who meet the following standards: 2:05.6 for the half mile, 4:45 for the mile, 5 feet 10 inches for the high jump, 21 feet for the broad jump 47 feet for the shot put, 135 feet for the discus throw, 11 feet 8 inches for the pole vault, and 1:34 for the half mile relay.

Particular attention will be on three teams to determine their changes for the state championship. They are New Trier, Oak Park, and Schurz. New Trier won last year's title with the unusually high total of 41¼ points.

Wehrman, Ely Return

Of the six boys on 1944's winning team, four have been graduated who made 26½ points. Two who remain are Dick Wehrman and Warren Ely. Wehrman was second in the low hurdles and third in the highs, and Ely was first in the shot and third in the discus—a total of 15 points.

Ely is expected to repeat in the shotput. He has thrown the shot 53 feet, four feet farther than any other boy in the state this year. He again will be a contender with the discus, but the field in this event is much stronger than a year ago. Warfield is a potential winner in both hurdles, more so in the highs than the lows, because Chet Holsinger of Oak Park is a strong threat over the 200 yard course.

In addition, New Trier has a strong relay team and one of the state's best sprinters in Campbell [Buzz] Collins. The latter has been timed in 9.8 seconds for the 100 yard dash with the aid of a strong wind. Previously, he was beaten in :10.2 by Jim Fuchs of Chicago's Hyde Park, upstate's favorite for the century in the state finals.

Oak Park Rated Highly

Oak Park, whose sprinter and low hurdler is Holsinger, has two good vaulters, Ed Ulvestad and Pierre Peloquin; a high hurdler, Don Brandeau; a miler, Con Williams; a half miler, Joe Angner; and a quarter miler, Herb Sauer, all of whom are good enough to score in the state. None is a standout for an individual title but their over-all strength might give Oak Park the team title without the formality of an individual first. Oak Park's best bet for a first would be its half mile relay team, which has done 1:34.9. This is the best time in the state, by a tenth of a second.

Only one Chicago team, Phillips in 1943, has won the team championship in the last 15 years. Schurz could make it two out of 16 if Bill Miller in the 440, Herb Barton in the mile, and its relay team win and if no other team runs wild. Miller and Barton have the best times in the state so far in their specialties.

Fuchs of Hyde Park has a chance to win a unique double—100 yard dash and discus. He was beaten all the best sprinters of the city and suburbs in the 100, and his discus mark, 141 feet 7 inches, is the best so far.

CHICAGO MEET TODAY

The City league's qualifying trials for the state meet will be held today in Key Branch stadium, Roosevelt rd. and Central av., starting at 3 p. m.

Tomorrow afternoon Proviso and Evanston will be among the districts holding qualifying trials. Leslie Remley, athletic director at Proviso, has 165 entries from Argo, Blue Island, La Grange, Leyden, Oak Park, Proviso, Riverside, York, and Morton. Field events will start at 1 o'clock, running events at 1:30.

In the Evanston district, 125 will compete, according to Heinie Schultz, track coach at Evanston Township high. Along with the host school there will be entries from New Trier, defending state champion; Highland Park, Lake Forest, Waukegan, Libertyville, Maine, Arlington Heights, Niles, Palatine, Antioch, and Barrington.

Wake Family of 500 Enjoys 4th Quipfest

prophesied, "we'll hark back to the 1945 banquet and say, 'wasn't that a chummy little gathering?' Why, in five or 10 years we may have to rent the Stadium!"

Lynn Could Use Some Helpers—as Monday Quarter Backs, Maybe

Waldorf showed a brand of humor which, if aimed at the Wake, might make him a formidable rival of some of the column's stars.

"If I had this many helpers," said the N. U. coach, surveying the crowd, "I think I could make a respectable showing with the Wildcat football team against Notre Dame. I'm sort of wondering what my function here tonight is. Maybe for a 'Do You Remember 'Way Back When' quip: 'Do you remember 'way back when Northwestern beat Notre Dame?' Or to illustrate 'Famous Last Words.' Well, I have some of them, like: 'Dancewicz of Notre Dame faded back—period.' 'The Illinois right end got behind the Northwestern safety—period.'"

Waldorf proved delightfully skillful in poking fun at his coaching experiences. He told of the batch of letters he received after one distressing defeat. The prize contribution of all, he said, came on a penny post card, which was mailed from a convent town in Michigan. It said, recounted the coach, "We don't have a football team, either.—Sister Mary."

Contributors Take Over; Learn What Owners of Names Look Like

Ward and Waldorf were pretty good, but the core of the homecoming is the good fellowship among the contributors. Mrs. Farr devoted much of the time to introducing contributors, to the accompaniment of quite reasonable facsimiles of Sinatra fan-squeals. There is something incompatible about such a demonstration at an affair like this, but the squeals were there—or else the loud speaker was playing weird tricks.

As each individual stood up—and the gals outnumbered the men—others in the room craned their necks and watched until the spotlight located the introducee. Applause was especially thunderous for Augie, the Miller, Gunny of Wisconsin, the Strawberry Blonde, Sarbee from Gawgia, Virgie the Receptionist, and others. Jazbo of Old Dubuque wasn't there, but mention of his name by Ward evoked enthusiastic applause.

They Remember the Sage, Who Broke Up Last Year's Party

"I know some of you folks are disappointed you don't make the Wake more often," he conceded, "but would you know it—even Jazbo sometimes thinks he's getting pushed around!"

The ties that bind the Wake contributors are of such sturdy stuff that Mrs. Farr, the chairman, called for an encore session of autographing. They are thoughtful, too. They crammed the Wake scorecard with their names for an absent favorite, Dr. Michael H. Dally, who is ill. Masquerading as the Sage of Saugnash, a disgruntled contributor, it was Dr. Dally who last year stole the show.

N. U. NINE PLAYS ILLINOIS TODAY ON DYCHE FIELD

The Northwestern university baseball team, which was unable to play a scheduled game with Great Lakes yesterday because of wet grounds, will resume its Western conference program at 4 p. m. today when it meets Illinois on Dyche field in the first of a two game series, the second of which will be played tomorrow.

Howard Judson will be on the mound for the fourth place Illini while Dick Bokelman, a freshman, will pitch for the Wildcats. Bokelman defeated Wisconsin, 6 to 5, last Saturday in the only conference victory of the season for N. U.

Northwestern's tennis team will seek its first victory of the season when it faces Notre Dame and Wisconsin in a triangular meet in Evanston today. The Wildcat net squad also will be in action again tomorrow in another three team match with Minnesota and Purdue.

IRISH AT MICHIGAN

Ann Arbor, Mich., May 10 [Special]—The University of Michigan baseball team will open a two game series with Notre Dame here tomorrow afternoon. The second game is scheduled for Saturday. Ann Arbor had a snowstorm this morning but clearing conditions later in the day indicated the games may be played as scheduled.

The Irish will be seeking revenge on the Wolverines, who defeated them twice at Notre Dame earlier in the season. Should tomorrow's game be postponed, efforts will be made to play a double header Saturday. Coach Ray Fisher will use his two top pitchers against the Irish, with Ray [Red] Louthen starting tomorrow and Bliss [Bo] Bowman due to work Saturday. Both of them were credited with victories in the earlier series in South Bend.

PURDUE AT WISCONSIN

Madison, Wis., May 10 (AP)—Wisconsin's Badgers, twice beaten but still not out of the running for the Western conference baseball title, will meet last place Purdue in a pair of games in Madison tomorrow and Saturday.

Bradley Plans Retirement; Sells Holdings

Palm Beach, Fla., May 10 (AP)—Col. E. R. Bradley, famous Kentucky horse breeder, has decided to retire and already has begun to liquidate some of his holdings, it was disclosed today.

Barry Shannon, publisher of the Palm Beach Post Times published at West Palm Beach and Bradley's representative here, said the 86 year old turfman stated before he left Palm Beach 10 days ago that he intended to retire from business.

Shannon said Bradley's famed Beach Club Casino in Palm Beach, built by the Kentucky sportsman in 1898 would be torn down and the property donated to the city of Palm Beach for use as a public park.

Wreckers will begin dismantling the rambling old structure in the fall.

It was also disclosed that the Bradley owned Embassy club in Palm Beach has been sold to Dan Shalek, night club operator, for delivery on Sept. 15.

Col. Bradley is now residing at his Idle Hour farm in Lexington, Ky.

Main conclusions to be drawn from this survey are:

1. Western conference will lose no time reinstating the freshman rule and other pre-war eligibility safeguards.

2. All schools, anticipating record male enrollments, will expand their athletic programs, with the emphasis on competition for all in various brackets of skill.

3. Many sports will be added to the intercollegiate card, with boxing and ice hockey looming as the most colorful of the new ones.

4. The Western conference has done a bang-up job keeping athletics going in the face of difficulties, and can be proud of the thousands of its former athletes, most of them officers, who contributed to Germany's fall, and who will help land the knockout punch on the Japs.

MICHIGAN MEET TOMORROW TOPS TRACK SCHEDULE

BY WILFRID SMITH

The quadrangular meet tomorrow afternoon in Ann Arbor where the Wolverines are hosts to Great Lakes, Ohio State, and Illinois, brings together more top flight performers than any other set of games for this day despite state meets which will be held in Michigan and Indiana and a quadrangular meet at Madison involving Wisconsin, Minnesota, Northwestern, and Chicago.

The Wolverines, who do not compete in the Michigan state meet, may be hard pressed to remain undefeated in view of Great Lakes recent successes coupled with outstanding entrants from Illinois, runner-up to Michigan for the 1944 Western conference title, and Ohio State. The Bluejackets' strength centers around Les Eisenhart and Grover Klemmer, former collegiate stars, who accounted for four first places last Saturday in the triangular meet with Ohio State and Michigan State.

Klemmer won the 220 yard and 440 yard races last week. While a student of the University of California, Klemmer tied the world record for the latter distance. In this event he will match speed and stamina with Dick Forrestel of Michigan and Bob Kelley of Illinois, the conference champion. In the furlong sprint, Marc Gonzales of Illinois, who also is a quarter miler, is Klemmer's most serious rival.

Eisenhart, a great half miler while at Ohio State, also is expected to meet Kelley at this distance and if he runs the mile, as he did a week ago, he can push Michigan's twins, Ross and Bob Hume. Eisenhart's time for the mile last week was 4:27.8.

Eight Teams in Indiana Meet

Western Michigan, with Billy Moore entered in the pole vault, is the favorite to take the Michigan track championship in the meet at East Lansing. Seven colleges, including Michigan State, which has held 17 team titles since inauguration of the games in 1916, will compete.

Eight colleges and universities are entered in the Indiana meet at Bloomington. Purdue, which won five titles in a triangular meet last Saturday with Michigan and Miami, O., university, is expected to win the state title with Notre Dame and Indiana, possibly finishing in that order behind the Boilermakers.

DEDICATE LINKS TOMORROW AT NORTHWESTERN

Northwestern university's new golf course will be dedicated tomorrow in a dual match with Michigan's defending Western conference champions. The golf match will highlight the biggest spring weekend of the season for the Wildcats and will find the baseball and tennis teams also engaging in home competition.

The dedicatory ceremonies at the golf course will include an exhibition match by a mixed foursome including Chick Evans, former National Amateur and National Open champion and former Northwestern golfer; Phyllis Otto, Northwestern junior and one of the nation's foremost women golfers; Don Heppes, captain of Northwestern's first championship golf team in 1925, and Lillian Townsend of Chicago, a leading midwestern woman golfer.

TENNIS TOURNEY CONTEMPLATED AT WIMBLEDON

LONDON, May 10 [Reuters]—A tennis tournament at England's famed Wimbledon may be held this summer.

"Until a few days ago I was in France, where I played in some charity matches and I met several French and Belgian players who were keen to make an early visit to Wimbledon," he said.

The visitors will include Dave Colquitt and George Dungey, middleweight and featherweight members of the Chicago intercity team, which lost to New York last month, 9 bouts to 7. Dungey was an alternate and didn't fight, but Colquitt contributed a point to Chicago's total as a result of his second round knockout of Dominic Modaferri. Colquitt is paired with Stanley Sheely, Savoy A. C., in five rounds, and Dungey will meet Ray Payne, Madison A. C., in three.

Melvin Bartholomew, New Orleans lightweight arrived yesterday for a 10 round bout with Johnny Bratton, 1944 city Golden Gloves champion, in Marigold Gardens Monday. Since his last Chicago appearance on April 2 when he lost to Nick Stenson of Cincinnati, Bartholomew has scored victories over Tiger Stewart in New Orleans and Sonny Boy Williams in Houston, Tex. He knocked out Jimmy Martin, former Chicagoland Golden Gloves finalist, in his Chicago debut on March 19.

Gene Spencer, South Chicago 135 pounder, has accepted a 10 round bout with Tony Rios, Mexico City, in San Antonio, Tex., May 29, following his impressive performance in that city against Tony Mar two weeks ago. Spencer, whose defeat at the hands of Mar was his first in five fights this year, collected $690 of a net gate of $4,900.

Robert Satterfield, erstwhile city Golden Gloves 147 pound winner, who was knocked out last week by Mack Parshey, Detroit light heavyweight, yesterday was offered a rematch with Parshey on a program headed by Elmer Ray and Larry Lane in the Coliseum June 1. Another supporting contest sought would pit Odell Riley, Detroit heavyweight, against McKinley English, also of Detroit. Riley knocked out Johnny Flanagan and English stopped Bill Petersen in the Coliseum last week.

INT. HARVESTER PLANS TO BUILD NEW FACTORIES

Post-war expansion plans of International Harvester company may involve expenditures of 100 to 150 million dollars, altho the actual outlay is difficult to estimate, stockholders were informed at their annual meeting yesterday by Fowler McCormick, president.

"As soon as government restrictions are lifted our plans are to proceed as rapidly as possible with construction of a new farm tractor factory on the Mississippi river between Alton and Wood River, Ill., and with the construction of a new farm implement plant at Memphis, Tenn." McCormick said.

May Build on West Coast

Other plans include consideration of a new west coast plant for production of special farm equipment needed in that area, and of a new truck plant there, he said, adding these plants would not necessarily be large. Latin American expansion also is being considered.

Substantial reconversion of facilities will be involved in changing back from output of war modified regular products to pre-war regular products, McCormick asserted.

Sales in the first half of Harvester's 1945 fiscal year which began Nov. 1 rose more than 30½ million dollars above those in the corresponding period a year ago. A decline in war products volume was more than offset by increased civilian product sales.

WPB RELAXES CURBS, BUT NOT ON HARD GOODS

Revokes 73 Civilian Output Orders

Washington, D. C., May 10 (AP)—J. A. Krug, war production board chairman, today outlined the agency's program for "orderly" removal of industrial controls and asked manufacturers not to "jump the gun" on the reconversion time table.

Krug announced that 73 orders prohibiting or limiting the manufacture of civilian products have been revoked, as of today, and said about half the 420 orders on WPB's books will have been removed "within the next few months."

Still No Cars, Refrigerators

Curbs are retained for "hard goods" using large quantities of metal, such as automobiles, furniture, refrigerators, and stoves, at least until July 1.

Krug said industry then will be given unrestricted access to all steel, copper, and aluminum which is not taken up by priority orders for war and war supporting activities. But until that is done the revocation of individual controls means little in terms of building up civilian supplies, because WPB's allocation of metals will continue.

In the meantime manufacturers resuming or increasing civilian goods output will have to depend on idle, surplus, or second hand materials.

May Order Materials Now

Nonpriority orders may be placed at once, however, Krug said, to become valid on the books of steel, aluminum, and copper mills when the July 1 relaxation occurs. Thereafter mills will make deliveries, subject to the rule that they do not interfere with WPB authorized orders.

Krug warned that industry "is expected to continue compliance with all WPB orders and regulations as long as they remain in effect."

"Industry has coöperated magnificently," he said. "I have complete confidence that industry will continue this coöperation and will not try to jump the gun on reconversion."

Small Firms Get Help

An additional action preparatory to partial reconversion, the granting of an AA-4 materials priority—a rating lower than that accorded most essential civilian production, but sufficient to assure favored treatment—to all manufacturers who produce less than $50,000 worth of goods a quarter, was also announced. This will start July 1 and end Dec. 31.

Strict controls over factories' inventory supplies of materials will be maintained, Krug said, until the danger of hoarding or preempting of supplies is past.

The removal of most WPB "rating floors"—rules which prescribe that orders must carry a specified rating or be ignored—to permit the placing of nonpriority orders in cases where production and delivery will not interfere with rated orders, was announced by Krug, who said he would also make public shortly a simplified priority system having only two ratings, "MM" for military goods and "CC" for needed civilian products. This will come into use gradually, he implied.

Approves Exhibit of Models

The agency opened the way, meanwhile, for manufacturers to build up public demand for their new automobiles, refrigerators, washing machines, and other products by permitting public exhibition of postwar models.

Since last summer plants have been permitted to spend $5,000 a month on experimental models, but were strictly forbidden to show them publicly.

Easing of Auto Materials Ban July 1 Likely

Henry P. Nelson, WPB's reconversion coördinator for the automotive industry said yesterday in Chicago he was "fairly confident" that automobile manufacturers would be told by July 1 to order materials for production of cars. He said this did not mean, however, that production of automobiles could begin soon after that date.

He disclosed that WPB would not hold back any automobile producer if he could reconvert before the remainder of the industry and explained that WPB was following this policy thru all segments of industry as a means of combatting unemployment.

Bases View on WPB Order

Nelson, who spoke at the Chicago Association of Commerce war problems school in the Hotel Sherman, said he was basing his observation on WPB Chairman Krug's action yesterday in removing controls over steel, copper, and aluminum effective July 1.

He explained that even when auto manufacturers are permitted to order materials, it will be several months before they can obtain steel, which is ordered three months ahead, that plants must be cleared of war production machinery, and that they must get machine tools and equipment.

Order Aids Veterans

He explained that yesterday's WPB action in establishing an AA-4 preference rating for materials for small manufacturers doing business of less than $50,000 a quarter would aid veterans to enter business and those wishing to establish new enterprises.

"The AA-4 rating for small businesses is a protection for the 'little fellow' starting a new business," Nelson said. "The WPB wants the small business man to get going as soon as he can."

Nelson is on leave with the government from his duties as manager of schedules and production for International Harvester company.

SENATOR SEEKS DISSOLVING OF 5 FEDERAL UNITS

Washington, D. C., May 10 (AP).—Sen. Wagner [D., N. Y.] introduced legislation today to dissolve five government corporations, including the Defense Plant corporation, and transfer their functions to the Reconstruction Finance corporation. Wagner, who is chairman of the banking and currency committee, said the transfer would simplify operations and save money.

Besides DPC, the bill would transfer Metals Reserve company, Rubber Reserve company, Defense Supplies corporation, and Disaster Loan corporation. Wagner said all the agencies, with the exception of DLC, were created principally to procure strategic and critical materials, supplies, and equipment needed for the war. "This has for the most part been accomplished, and therefore some administrative reorganization at this time is desirable," he said.

EKCO PRODUCTS STOCK OFFERED FOR FIRST TIME

An offering of 29,664 shares of Ekco Products company 4½ per cent $100 par cumulative preferred and 240,000 shares of $5 par common will be made today by a group headed by Union Securities corporation. This first public offering of the company's stock will be at $107.50 for the preferred and $24.50 for the common.

The Keating and Marder families, who have controled the company, which produces bakery and household supplies, sold to the underwriters the new stock being offered and none of the proceeds will go to the company. After recapitalization 36,000 shares of preferred and 393,750 shares of common will be outstanding.

U. S. Power Output Rises 3.9 Pct. from Year Ago

Freight Car Loadings Decrease 4 Pct. in Week

Washington, D. C., May 10 (AP)—The Association of American Railroads today reported that 863,399 cars of revenue freight were loaded in the week ended Saturday, a decrease of 35,822 cars, or 4 per cent, from the preceding week.

Vinson Invites Trouble, Says Taft

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., May 10—Sen. Taft [R., O.] charged today that stabilization policies proposed by War Mobilizer Vinson would "throttle American industry and produce widespread unemployment" and proposed that the price control extension bill be amended to remove many government controls over business and industry.

In a senate speech Taft attacked the plans Vinson announced yesterday for the second phase of the war. Vinson called for continued government control over prices and wages, but said that unfair or substandard wages should be readjusted.

Points to "Unfair Prices"

"It is significant that nothing is said about raising unfair prices or modifying in any way the present policy of freezing prices," said Taft.

He also lashed at Vinson's statement that productive efficiency should permit consumer prices to remain steady despite higher costs of material and labor.

"In my opinion," said Taft, "this policy proposed by Mr. Vinson will be destructive to reconversion and employment. Costs have risen at least 30 per cent and it is idiotic to suppose that men will rush into production or expand their pre-war activities if the government is going to control profits."

Taft's speech was regarded by other senators as evidence of a break inside the senate banking committee's subcommittee which has been reported ready to recommend extension of the price control act for another year in substantially its present form. It ended hearings on the price control extension bill three weeks ago. Taft recommended they be reopened to consider his amendments.

Would End Wage Rule

Taft's amendments would become effective next Jan. 1. One would allow the same margin over cost as was enjoyed by an industry in 1938, 1939, and 1940. Another would eliminate wages and salaries from the act. A third amendment would remove the maximum prices fixed on houses, construction of which was begun after July 1, 1945. The last would exempt from price regulations "all luxury and other commodities, the price of which does not substantially affect the cost of living."

Taft said he always has considered the government's price control policy as too strict, even for war time. Now, he said, it is rapidly turning into a "profit control" policy because the office of price administration has been "fanatically" determined to hold retail prices at a fixed level, regardless of the injustice to individual businesses.

Soviet Gains Prove Capital Value

BY THOMAS FURLONG

A lecture to the world on elementary economic principles, flatly contradicting popular notions of the day, was the last testament of Gustav Cassel, internationally famous Swedish economist who died Jan. 14. His views were set forth in an article published after his death in the quarterly review of the Scandinavian Bank of Stockholm, copies of which have reached this country.

To the capitalist world, and the United States and Great Britain in particular, the Swedish economist gave pointed warning to discard those policies that discourage thrift and deter capital investment. This is imperative if economic progress is to be achieved without dictatorship, he said. Ironically, Cassel pointed to Russia to emphasize the value of capital.

Reds Found Capital Indispensable

Altho the world has been greatly impressed by Russia's economic gains, he said, it is not clearly recognized that her progress was made with capital accumulated by holding the consumption of the Russian people at an abnormally low level.

It was not the Russian formula that Cassel recommended to the rest of the world, but he pointed out that Russia, supposedly a noncapitalistic country, found capital indispensable to economic development.

Future economic progress will be precisely rationed by the amount of capital accumulated, he said.

"Everywhere people are demanding rapid progress," he said. "Everywhere people are beginning to devote more attention to scientific research and technical improvements. At the same time interest in raising the standard of living is being extended beyond the confines of the individual country. It is being demanded that backward countries should be provided with modern equipment of real capital so as to enable them to attain a productive power comparable with that of the industrial pioneer countries."

Only One Explanation

Turning his attention to the United States the Swedish economist said there can be do doubt that the progress achieved here "can only be explained by the relatively abundant supply of capital." Conversely, the retarded economic progress of Britain stems from "the very scanty supply of capital which British industry had to content itself with in the pre-war decades."

Asserting that the standard of living of workers is entirely dependent on the supply of capital, he contrasted conditions in different countries:

"The peoples who are burdened with the direst poverty, such as those of India and China, are, according to modern ideas, devoid of the barest necessaries in regard to the supply of capital. The peoples who have reached the greatest prosperity are precisely those who have been most abundantly supplied with capital. Prosperity has in fact risen at those times when the supply of capital was abundant.

"The American worker has been approximately twice as amply provided with means of production as the British workman and has therefore risen to approximately twice as high standards of life."

Keynes Theories Unnamed

Cassel did not refer by name to John Maynard Keynes, the economist who was elevated to the British house of lords after popularizing the theory that oversavings is the root of the economic troubles of the United States. There is no mistaking his target, however, and he observed it is no coincidence that the oversavings theory had its origin in England.

He said that the exponents of that theory have been unduly impressed by British conditions.

"It is significant that in this theory no regard is paid to progress and that progress is not conceived as a normal aspect of the future national economy. People rather have been induced to imagine that technical development has reached its termination and that no appreciable further progress is to be expected," he said.

Curiously, it is Cassel's country that so often has been cited by economists in the United States as an example of a nation where managed economy had proved itself. The refutation of many of the claims made by this group comes now from the man who, until his death, was recognized thruout the world as Sweden's leading economist.

Canada Slashes War Taxes; U. S. Officials Talk Revision

Eliminates Many

OTTAWA, Ont., May 10 (AP)—Reduction of some special war taxes and elimination of others were announced tonight in a statement issued on behalf of Acting Prime Minister Ilsley, outlining the general Canadian policy for the removal of controls and preparation for the conversion from a war to a peace economy.

One of the changes included plans for relaxation of restrictions on travel by Canadians to the United States.

Remove Many Excise Taxes

Other main points in Ilsley's statement were:

Removal of the 25 per cent special excise tax on household electric and gas appliances.

Changes in the special excise tax on passenger automobiles from a graduated scale running from 3 to 80 per cent to a flat 10 per cent.

Ends Ban on Some Output

Rescinding of the 10 per cent war exchange tax for imported manufacturing and producing machinery and equipment and building materials.

Removal of controls prohibiting the manufacture of a number of household articles.

Ilsley warned against the dangers of inflation and said the tax changes would assist the prices board in achieving its objective of having consumer goods reappear on the market at 1941 prices.

Backed by Treasury

Washington, D. C., May 10 (AP)—Immediate revision of business taxes, designed to aid in reconversion from war to peace production, was recommended jointly today by the senate house post-war committee and the treasury department. The program does not call for reduction in tax rates, but includes other provisions easing the burden on many businesses.

These five specific recommendations were made:

1. Increase the excess profits tax specific exemption from $10,000 to $25,000, effective beginning with the tax year 1946.

Would Speed Refunds

2. Provide that the post-war credit of 10 per cent of the excess profits tax be taken currently with respect to tax liabilities of 1944 and subsequent years.

3. Advance to Jan. 1, 1946, the maturity date of outstanding excess profits tax post-war refund bonds.

4. Provide for speedup of refunds resulting from carry backs of net operating losses and of unused excess profits credits.

Stocks Weak; Some Peace Issues Higher

New York, May 10 (AP)—The stock market today closed lower for the fourth successive session as apprehension persisted over reconversion, cutbacks, and a reported move in Washington, D. C., to reduce war agency expenditures by billions.

Tho a few aircrafts successfully contested the trend, as did scattered issues in the peace benefited class, losers were in the majority from the opening. Closing losses ranged from fractions to 2 or more points. Dealings were liveliest on the slide, slowing appreciably when attempts were made at recovery. Transfers were 1,510,000 shares, compared with 1,490,000 yesterday.

Homestake Mining rose 3 points to a new high in the final few minutes and Dome Mines hardened on talk of the war production board removing gold mining restrictions.

BOND PRICES SLIP

New York, May 10 (AP)—Persistent, but never urgent, liquidation of a sizable number of railroad bonds kept the market unsettled today. Declines of major fractions to more than 2 points were plentiful in the carrier division and altho utilities and industrials kept better balance, buying enthusiasm was lacking.

Missouri Pacific bonds were hard hit again and gave up ⅝ to 2⅜ points as the allied International Great Northern first 6s declined 3 to 80. Poland 8s rose 4 points to 35 and the 4½s moved up 2 to 28.

CHICAGO LIST LOWER

Prices sagged again yesterday on the Chicago Stock exchange and turnover rose to 47,000 shares. Active issues included Miller & Hart, up ½; Central Illinois Securities and Aviation corporation, both unchanged, Chicago corporation common, down ½, and United States Steel, down 2⅜.

LAMBS SELL OFF ALTHO SUPPLIES CONTINUE LIGHT

The lamb market again was under pressure yesterday at the stock yards, despite the fact production of lamb and mutton continues to fall.

Packers bought top grades of lambs at $15.65, 25 cents under Wednesday, and $1.70 under the 16 year peak of $17.35 established three weeks ago.

Hog arrivals were largest for a Thursday in nine weeks, at 13,500 head, including direct shipments to packers. Buyers continued to pay OPA ceiling prices, disregarding sorting, quality, and weights.

Trading in steers and heifers was draggy and about steady with the best available at $17.50 in the steer class and $17.40 in heifers.

WINTER WHEAT FORECAST DIPS; RYE INCREASES

Washington, D. C., May 10 (AP)—The department of agriculture today forecast the 1945 winter wheat crop at 835,186,000 bushels on the basis of May 1 conditions, compared with 862,515,000 bushels a month ago, and the 825,396,000 bushel record crop of 1931. Production was 764,073,000 bushels last year. The 10-year average production, 1934-'43 was 585,994,000 bushels.

Rye production was indicated as 28,872,000 bushels, compared with 25,872,000 bushels last year, and 41,434,000 bushels, the 1934-'43 10 year average.

CHICAGO LABOR SHORTAGE HELD NON-EXISTENT

Worker and Plant Chiefs Report

Chicago's labor shortage is largely imaginary, and whatever lack of man power there is will evaporate immediately in contract cutbacks, representatives of labor and management said yesterday. Some blamed the apparent shortage on unrestricted multiplication of army and navy contracts, in which the city's inability to take on more work has been disregarded.

A survey of the labor situation disclosed that:

1. Representative war plants have no labor shortage, but are operating on schedule with an adequate supply of men and women workers to keep their machines busy.

2. Labor leaders say there never has been a shortage, and that government agencies insisted on overloading this region with contracts they never expected to be carried out.

Rely on Word of Others

3. War man power commission officials admitted they have relied solely on reports of manufacturers and procurement agencies in determining what if any man power shortages existed, and have imposed stringent controls on plants and workers alike on the word of others that shortages did exist.

4. Chicago has had the highest per worker production rate, and the lowest absenteeism and turnover rates of any large war production area in the United States, according to WMC reports.

Labor leaders and plant officials alike agreed that the WMC's estimate that 58,000 or more workers are needed in war jobs here is not based on fact.

The estimate, made Wednesday, by Lester Brown, area WMC director, was based on figures compiled during February and March by 700 war plants and submitted to the WMC a month ago. It could not possibly take into effect the end of the war against Germany, WMC officials admitted.

Expects No Shortage

William Barr, president of the Foote Brothers Gear company, said his plant was one of those which reported what the WMC termed a labor shortage, but that the figure anticipated selective service withdrawals and normal turnover. He said the company's plants never had had any trouble filling their pay rolls from week to week as vacancies for all reasons occurred and that he expects no labor shortage.

Victor A. Olander, secretary-treasurer of the Illinois Federation of Labor, and Daniel Carmell, general counsel for the Illinois and Chicago AFL groups, said the plea for 58,000 new workers was "grossly unfair to the hundreds of thousands of faithful men and women who have given Chicago the best war record in the country."

Carmell cited reports compiled by the WMC which showed the Chicago area as of Feb. 1, 1945, had an absenteeism rate of only six man days not worked in every 100 scheduled, compared with a national rate for 28 selected industries of nearly 7 per cent, and that the monthly turnover rate here was about 5 per cent compared with 6.5 per cent nationally.

Warn Millions May Be Idle if Shift Is Tardy

BY PHILIP HAMPSON

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Detroit, Mich., May 10—Unless the government acts at once to permit industry to use that part of its facilities not needed for Japanese war production, millions will be unemployed, a Ford Motor company spokesman said today. He warned that the job situation already is becoming serious because of cutbacks in war production, notably in aircraft operations.

George Romney

Elsewhere it was said that closing of the Willow Run bomber plant will put 100,000 out of jobs Of these, 60,000 will be in the Detroit area. This includes persons employed at plants supplying parts for the Liberator bombers made at Willow Run.

Free Hand Demanded

The government should give the automobile industry a free hand in resuming automobile production after it has taken care of Japanese war needs, the Ford spokesman said. Speedy return to at least partial automobile production would help take up the job slack caused by V-E day cutbacks.

"The government should tell us what materials we cannot have in making automobiles and let us do the worrying," he continued. "When the government during the 1941 defense preparations put certain materials under ban we found substitutes and the 1942 model cars were good automobiles.

"Let's get going. The automobile industry did it before and it can do it again."

Early Action Urged

George Romney, managing director of the automotive council for war production, urged that Washington speed action which will permit the automobile industry to proceed with plans for resumption of production. "Just announcing that the industry has the green light on car production will not start cars coming off the assembly line," he said.

"In terms of speedy reconversion and speedy reëmployment, the government has acted too late on the industry's prereconversion problems. The military and government people in a position to know the military situation last month told the industry that military requirements had prevented earlier action.

SLUMP IN RYE LEADS PRICE OF GRAINS LOWER

Grain futures prices moved lower yesterday on the Chicago Board of Trade with rye in the lead. Rye fell 2¾ cents a bushel at one time, but part of the loss was recovered when shorts started to take profits. Closing trades on rye were at losses of 1⅛ to 2¼ cents. Wheat lost ⅝ to 1⅛, corn was unchanged to ⅛ lower, oats lost ⅝ to 1¼, and barley ended ⅛ lower to ¼ higher.

Brokers' belief that the Commodity Credit corporation regards rye as too high to justify further purchases offset reports the army may take additional supplies for export to Europe.

Mill buying provided support in wheat late and the market rallied after an early break which carried July off 1¾ cents from Wednesday's finish.

Alert Against Wage Drop—Taylor

Washington, D. C., May 10 (AP)—The war labor board today announced it will follow a policy of keeping wage rates at present levels during the shift from war to peace time production. The board will be just as alert to guard against a drop in general pay levels as it has been against increases, it said.

Chairman Taylor told a news conference some changes in basic scales may be approved, but they will not be retroactive, as at present.

Must Approve Conversion Pay

The board must approve the pay schedules of converting plants, but those continuing to produce for war without a turnover of job classifications need not apply for approval of their scales beyond the normal procedures which have been in effect.

Labor's no strike pledge and management's pledge against lockouts will be continued, Taylor said. Van Bittner, CIO member of the board, and James Brownlow, AFL member, supported his stand.

"As long as there is a no strike pledge, there must be a war labor board to decide finally any disputes not settled by the parties," said Taylor. The no strike pledge was given for the duration, "and of course that means at least until victory over Japan," he said.

Pay at War Plant Level

The worker returning to civilian manufacture will be paid at levels comparable to those prevailing in war plants, without consideration of what he might have been paid before the war. Taylor said the board was discussing "take home pay"—the weekly earnings including overtime, etc.

Where the change in operations is so sweeping as to alter key jobs along with others, "the wage schedule should be fixed at the prevailing level of wages in the industry or area for comparable occupations," the board said.

In cases in which only a part of a plant's facilities is converted to civilian production and jobs remain substantially the same, "no change in the rates for such jobs may be made incident to the present program."

NEW 13 MONTH NOTE TO REFUND ISSUE OF U. S. CERTIFICATES

Washington, D. C., May 10 (AP)—The treasury announced today that 4 billion 770 million dollars of certificates of indebtedness maturing June 1 will be refunded into 13 month 0.90 per cent notes to mature July 1, 1946. This procedure will be followed because another certificate to be offered in the 7th war loan drive will be dated June 1, 1945, and will mature June 1, 1946.

The treasury said it had called for redemption on June 1 the $754,904,000 of 1½ per cent bonds of the Home Owners Loan corporation. Holders will be offered the opportunity of exchanging them for the 0.90 per cent notes.

LIQUID CARBONIC

Liquid Carbonic corporation common stock yields about 4½ per cent, assuming maintenance of the 1944 dividend rate of $1.50. How well is the dividend protected?—N. C.

The dividend policy will of course depend on earnings, but the company's strong financial position encourages confidence in its ability to maintain a $1.50 common dividend.

Earnings have exceeded $1.50 a share each year since 1935. In the fiscal year ended last Sept. 30, the profit was $2.22 a share on the 728,100 shares; in 1943, $1.61; 1942, $1.80; 1941, $2.92. On a somewhat smaller number of shares, the average from 1937 thru 1940 was $2.

In the current fiscal year sugar use restrictions may be a limiting factor on sales of carbonic gas to soft drink bottlers. Decline in war production, moreover, may adversely affect the company's sales of compressed gases, including carbon dioxide, oxygen, and acetylene, for war uses. In the last fiscal year, war demands for these gases were so large that Liquid Carbonic was obliged to limit sales for nonwar purposes.

However, the post-war outlook is brightened by the large accumulated demands for equipment manufactured by the company in normal times, including bottling machinery and soda fountains. To meet these demands, the company is planning to enlarge and improve its factory facilities.

Last Sept. 30 its current assets totaled $15,650,000, including $5,883,000 United States and Canadian government bonds. Current liabilities were $1,956,000, with no long term debt. Earned surplus exceeded $6,600,000. Outstanding $4.50 preferred stock amounts to about 29,000 shares.
